Geoffrey Walton,... Geoffrey Walton, 1955 The Metaphysical Poets David Reid, 2014-06-11 The Metaphysical Poets provides an introduction to the work of six strikingly various and original poets Donne Herbert Crashaw Vaughan Marvell and Traherne By closely examining how the poems work the book aims to help readers at all stages of proficiency and knowledge to enjoy and critically appreciate the ways in which fantastic and elaborate styles may express private intensities The emphasis is on the differences covered by the term Metaphysical and on the rich and strange diversity of the poets inner lives The book examines the expressive forms of interiority the characteristic inward turn of Metaphysical wit and compares the wit of its six poets with the non introspective wit of poets such as Cowley the Cavaliers and the Augustans The discussion of each poet is preceded by a Life in which the biographical facts personal cultural and political are treated with a view to illuminating the concerns of the poems The Just and the Lively Michael Werth Gelber, 2002 Recognition is often considered a means to de escalate conflicts and promote peaceful social interactions This volume explores the forms that social recognition and its withholding may take in asymmetric armed conflicts examining the risks and opportunities that arise when local state and transnational actors recognise misrecognise or deny recognition of armed non state actors By studying key asymmetric conflicts through the prism of recognition it offers an innovative perspective on the interactions between armed non state actors and state actors In what contexts does granting recognition to armed non state actors foster conflict transformation What happens when governments withhold recognition or label armed non state actors in ways they perceive as misrecognition The authors examine the ambivalence of recognition processes in violent conflicts and their sometimes unintended consequences The volume shows that while non recognition prevents conflict transformation the recognition of armed non state actors may produce counterproductive precedents and new modes of exclusion in intra state and transnational politics The Edges of Augustanism John Hoyles, 2012-12-06 It has recently been argued that the 18th century can no longer be seen as gripped in the strait jacket of Augustanism and

Neoclassicism Such labels are seen as doing less than justice to the rich variety of individual talents and intellectual trends which collectively constitute 18th century culture While welcoming the interment of the long standing myth of the peace of the Augustans there seems little point in placing an interdict on labels which willy nilly have stuck In economic social and ecclesiastical terms there is an age between 1689 and 1789 whose homogeneity is reflected in its cultural products There is a mainstream which the strength and variety of counter currents and cross currents corroborate rather than disintegrate It is the purpose of this study to reveal some aspects of this mainstream by examining certain cross currents which overlap its edges Hence the choice of Thomas Ken 1637 1711 John Byrom 1692 1763 and William Law 1686 1761

Royalists and Royalism in 17th-Century Literature Philip Major, 2019-09-23 Author of plays love lyrics essays and among other works The Civil War the Davideis and the Pindarique Odes Abraham Cowley made a deep impression on seventeenth century letters attested by his extravagant funeral and his burial next to Chaucer and Spenser in Westminster Abbey Ejected from Cambridge for his politics he found refuge in royalist Oxford before seeing long service as secretary to Queen Henrietta Maria and as a Crown agent on the continent In the mid 1650s he returned to England was imprisoned and made an accommodation with the Cromwellian regime This volume of essays provides the modern critical attention Cowley's life and writings merit

The Waning of the Renaissance 1640-1740 John Hoyles, 2012-12-06 It is not always easy to maintain a proper balance between the delineation of cultural development within a given literary field and the claims of practical criticism And yet if the history of ideas is to be more than a pastime for the student of literature it must be rooted in the precise art of discrimination The following chapters attempt to describe and evaluate a particular cultural development by relating the background of ideas to the literary achievement of three writers It will be sufficient here to outline the nature of the problem and the method and approach employed The concept of cultural development implies a recognition of the connections between ideology and aesthetics There are at least two ways of exploring such connections The one pioneered by Basil Willey seeks to situate the critical moments of our cultural development in the background of ideas without which the contribution of a particular author cannot be justly evaluated The danger of such an approach is that the task of discrimination comes to depend over heavily on extra literary criteria ,
