Primitive Heritage: An Anthropological Anthology, 1953 Anthropological and historical sciences.
Aesthetics and the sciences of art Jacques Havet, 2019-06-04 No detailed description available for Anthropological and historical sciences Aesthetics and the sciences of art Dictionary of Concepts in Cultural Anthropology Robert H. Winthrop, 1991-11-18 The field of cultural anthropology describes and interprets the thought and behavior of contemporary and near contemporary societies Inherently pluralistic it offers a framework in which the distinctive perspectives of each cultural world can be appreciated Robert Winthrop s dictionary describes the major concepts that have shaped the discipline both historically and theoretically It sets modern anthropology in its proper context within the broader intellectual tradition Eighty entries review the key concepts culture race nature symbolism adaptation the primitive etc that have established the fundamental problems and issues guided research and served as the focus for debate in key areas of the discipline The entries which range from 2 000 to 6 000 words in length are both thorough in treatment and contemporary in relevance Some entries are primarily of historical significance while others describe recent developments Each entry contains an annotated bibliography and a guide to additional reading on the subject While this is not primarily a technical lexicon many terms have been glossed and explained Designed to be useful to students of anthropology this dictionary will assist those in other disciplines to find their way through the anthropological labyrinth The Psychoanalytic Study of Society, V. 11 L. Bryce Boyer, Simon A. Grolnick, 2019-05-23 Volume 11 includes chapters on the analysis of dybbuk possession and exorcism in Judaism Y Bilu crisis and continuity in the personality of an Apache shaman L B Boyer et al culture shock and the inability to mourn H Stein charismatically led groups L Balter the psychoanalytic and social aspects of telephoning R Almansi and an ethnographic study of hermaphroditism G Herdt R Stoller Anthropologists and the Rediscovery of America, 1886-1965 John S. Gilkeson, 2010-09-20 This book examines the intersection of cultural anthropology and American cultural nationalism from 1886 when Franz Boas left Germany for the United States until 1965 when the National Endowment for the Humanities was established Five chapters trace the development within academic anthropology of the concepts of culture social class national character value and civilization and their dissemination to non anthropologists As Americans came to think of culture anthropologically as a complex whole far broader and more inclusive than Matthew Arnold s the best which has been thought and said so too did they come to see American communities as stratified into social classes distinguished by their subcultures to attribute the making of the American character to socialization rather than birth to locate the distinctiveness of American culture in its unconscious canons of choice and to view American culture and civilization in a global perspective The New Republic Herbert David Croly, 1923 The Palgrave Handbook of Contemporary Heritage Research E. Waterton, S. Watson, 2015-01-28 This book explores heritage from a wide range of perspectives and disciplines and in doing so provides a distinctive and deeply relevant survey of the field as it is currently researched understood and practiced around the world History and Social Intelligence Harry Elmer Barnes, 1926 History of Anthropological Thought Vijay S. Upadhyay, Gaya Pandey, 1993 The Psychoanalytic Study of Society, V. 12 L. Bryce Boyer, Simon A. Foreword states this book dared to put three words together in the title Black Feminist Anthropology that have not always kept company with each other and in the minds of many both in and outside of the academy they should remain separate Standing the test of time it is still a bold reimagining of anthropology and all social sciences as inclusive and decolonized while establishing a new Black feminist anthropology canon that decades later is too often taken for granted as normative Black Feminist Anthropology is filled with a message of theoretical possibilities that anyone who enters its pages will find healing life saving and an affirmation that Black women anthropologists have contributed much to the theory politics praxis and poetics of anthropology gender and women s studies masculinity studies queer studies the social sciences generally and any other discipline that seeks transformation from the inside out It is both an archive and a legacy for the next generation

The Making of the Modern Mind John Herman Randall,1926 Claude Lévi-Strauss and the Making of Structural Anthropology Marcel Hénaff,1998 As anthropology continues to transform itself this book affords a broad and balanced account of the remarkable accomplishments of one of the great intellectual innovators of the 20th century It presents an authoritative and accessible analysis of Claude Levi Strauss s research in anthropological theory and practice as well as his contributions to debates surrounding linguistics epistemology ethics and aesthetics Beauty in Context Wilfried van Damme,2021-11-01 This is the first study to survey the field of the anthropology of aesthetics which during the last few decades has emerged on the cross roads between anthropology and non Western art scholarship While critically examining the available literature thereby addressing such basic issues as the existence of aesthetic universals the author elaborates on a central thesis which concerns the relationship between aesthetic preference and sociocultural ideals Drawing on empirical data from several African cultures he demonstrates that varying notions of beauty are inspired by varying sociocultural ideals thus shedding light on the phenomenon of cultural relativism in aesthetic preference Emphasizing unity within diversity the systematic anthropological approach offered in this volume invites the reader to reconsider aesthetic preference from an empirical cross cultural and contextual perspective Medicine, Rationality and Experience Byron J. Good,1994 Biomedicine is often thought to provide a scientific account of the human body and of illness In this view non Western and folk medical systems are regarded as systems of belief and subtly discounted This is an impoverished perspective for understanding illness and healing across cultures one that neglects many facets of Western medical practice and obscures its kinship with healing in other traditions Drawing on his research in several American and Middle Eastern medical settings in this 1993 book Professor Good develops a critical anthropological account of medical knowledge and practice He shows how physicians and healers enter and inhabit distinctive worlds of meaning and experience He explores how stories or illness narratives are joined with bodily experience in shaping and responding to human suffering and argues that moral and aesthetic considerations are present in routine medical practice as in other forms of healing Art, Anthropology, and Contested Heritage Arnd Schneider,2019-11-14 This book presents innovative ethnographic perspectives on the intersections between art anthropology and contested cultural heritage drawing on research from the interdisciplinary TRACES project funded by the EU's Horizon 2020 program. The case studies in this volume critically assess how and in which arrangements artistic aesthetic methods and creative everyday practices contribute to strengthening communities both culturally and economically. They also explore the extent to which these methods emphasize minority voices and ultimately set in motion a process of reflexive Europeanisation from below which unfolds within Europe and beyond its borders. At the heart of the book is the development of a new way of transmitting contentious cultural heritage which responds to the present situation in Europe of unstable political conditions and a sense of Europe in crisis. With chapters looking at difficult art exhibitions on colonialism, death masks, Holocaust memorials and skull collections, the contributors articulate a response to the crisis in current economic and political conditions in Europe and advances brand new theoretical groundwork on the configuration of a renewed European identity.

Basics of Social Anthropology Dr. A.A. Gadwal, 2024-01-26

The word Anthropology has been derived from the root words Anthro (man) and logos (science) i.e. science of man. Anthropology is the science or scientific study of man. Anthropology is the science of the man and his work behavior. The Anthropological study of human behavior is not concerned with particular men, men of specific place, span or race, but it is the study of behavior of man in groups, ages, races, culture and institutions. Kluckhohn, the famous American Anthropologist, has pointed out that all social sciences do the study of particular aspect of man, but Anthropology is the only science that does the total study of the man, or it is the science of man without portfolio. Mr. Kant, the German idealist, wrote the book entitled Anthropology, claiming that the origin of man lies in animals. The study of Anthropology is neither limited by time nor by space; it is the study of man in present and past, also his sub-human and pre-human origins. It is the study of man at all parts of the earth, savage and civilized, primitive and urban, past and present.

Anthropology of Dying Mira Menzfeld, 2017-10-10

Mira Menzfeld explores dying persons' experiences of their own dying processes. She reveals cultural specificities of pre-exit dying in contemporary Germany, paying special attention to how concepts of dying well are perceived and realized by dying persons. Her methodological focus centers on classical ethnographic approaches: close participant observation as well as informal and semi-structured conversations. For a better understanding of the specificities of dying in contemporary Germany, the author provides a refined definition catalogue of adequate terms to describe dying from an anthropological perspective.
