Violence Reduction in Schools-- how to Make a Difference Chris Gittins,2006-01-01 Most schools are safe places for children but that does not mean that members of a school community live and learn together in harmony at all time Violence towards children can take place in a variety of forms including physical and verbal abuse and bullying This is a practical handbook for schools to use when training staff in techniques for reducing violence In particular it addresses two issues how to establish and maintain a learning environment where violence is not tolerated and how to respond to violence when it occurs so that this environment is protected Each chapter covers a critical area for school policy describes the issues and proposes activities designed to be combined into a training programme to meet the specific needs of a group of staff This includes teachers and the growing number of support staff in European schools School leaders administrators and educationalists should find this guide a useful addition to the resources for reducing violence in schools available in their own country

School Violence Prevention: Examining the Impact of Social Emotional Learning Programs Jamie Taylor, 2020 Existing literature demonstrates that violence particularly youth violence can be prevented and as a result many prevention programs are employed in school settings Among the approaches to school violence prevention are zero tolerance policies These harsh policy measures increasingly prove unsuccessful in reducing school violence show negative impacts on school climate and are disproportionately applied to underrepresented minorities This growing evidence led many schools to explore other avenues of violence prevention through restorative practices and incorporating social emotional learning SEL into the curriculum However present literature specific to SEL programs tend to focus only on impacts on academic achievement and learning The present study will add to this growing literature on the impact of SEL programs by examining school violence and examining the extent to which schools use restorative practices as an alternative to exclusionary discipline practices This study uses school level data from the 2015 16 school year obtained from the US Department of Education National Center for Education Statistics School Survey on Crime and Safety Using a negative binomial regression this study examines the impact of several school violence prevention programs on the total number of violent and criminal incidents occurring at school Ordered logistic regression is then used to examine the sensitivity of the results to the measurement of the dependent variable Results from the study did not show significant reductions in school violence when social emotional learning programs were present however several takeaways are presented on exploring alternative strategies to reducing violence improving the school environment or meeting state or federal guidelines There is no one size fits all approach to reducing school violence especially since each school environment is different One key conclusion from this paper is that restorative practices and social emotional learning are under utilized and offer opportunities for decision makers to explore

Reducing School Shootings William H. Jeynes, 2021-02-01 This book calls for a multidimensional and comprehensive approach to reduce the number of school shootings rather than the simplistic unidimensional strategy that is commonly advocated Based on meta analyses examining which variables are most often related to positive changes in violent student behavior it also integrates other research and historical trends in order to formulate recommendations regarding how to reduce school shootings The topic of school shootings is one of the most vital issues in society today because 1 schools should be the safest places on Earth for children 2 if students do not feel safe they are not going to learn very well in school and 3 it is of such great concern to parents and society at large as evinced by the degree of news coverage that school shooting incidents receive Sadly despite the gravity of the problem many people tend to either respond in an emotional way or propose simplistic solutions Gun control legislation alone will not solve the problem instead it calls for a multi disciplinary and multifaceted approach involving parents teachers schools and healthcare This book investigates the status quo goals and solutions pursuing a fact based approach This book is of special interest to the academic community national leaders and other policymakers It is also suitable for courses on education psychology sociology criminal justice and other areas of law It will also appeal to the general audience A ^ANew Model of School Discipline David R.
