Reinventing The Research University:

Reinventing the Research University Weber L. (ed), Duderstadt J. J. (ed), 2004 The fourth Glion Colloquium held in June 2003 brought together leaders of major higher education institutions or organizations along with guests from industry to compare perspectives on the future of the research university in America and Europe In part 1 papers by Frank Rhodes Robert Zemsky and James Duderstadt Luc Weber and Pavel Zgaga as well as Howard Newby set the stage In part 2 Roger Downer James Duderstadt and Frans van Vught discuss the changing nature of education and scholarship Part 3 continues with papers by Robert Zemsky Andre Oosterlink Nils Hasselmo Marcel Crochet and Wayne Johnson on the changing interaction between the research university and broader society In part 4 Luc Weber Marye Anne Fox Frank Rhodes and Marcel Crochet discuss the challenges of financing and governing the contemporary research university Reinventing Undergraduate Education Boyer Commission on Educating Undergraduates in the Research University, 1998 The Search for New Governance of Higher Education in Asia K. Mok, 2010-08-16 The present volume sets out in the wider context of globalization to critically examine how selected countries societies in Asia have responded to the growing pressures of globalization for improving university performance in the global market place In order to enhance the global competitiveness of their higher education systems many governments in Asia have started comprehensive reforms and adopted new governance measures to enhance their universities Incorporation and corporatization have been identified as important strategies to restructure and re engineer university governance around the world Contributors in this volume critically examine how the quest for world class university status as a global movement has affected the way their universities are governed Despite the popularity of management reforms and restructuring exercises in line with neoliberalism and managerialism worldwide whether and how these reforms have actually transformed the heart of the public sector is still subject to debate This book offers critical reflections on the governance change taking place in the Asian university systems and examines how far the restructuring of higher education governance through incorporation privatization and corporatization has really transformed the values and practices of those who work in the higher education sector

Bologna in European Research-intensive Universities Jan Elen, An Verburgh, 2008 Psychosocial Pathways Towards Reinventing the South African University Sabrina Liccardo, 2020-11-02 This book proposes a conceptual empirical framework for exploring forms of continuity and change along psychosocial pathways in South African universities It illustrates how the psychosocial pathways are grounded in the symbolic narratives and knowledges of young scientists engineers and architects all interlocutors in the research from which this book is based Alala Mamoratwa Welile Odirile Kaiya Amirah Takalani Nosakhele Naila Ambani Khanyisile Itumeleng Ethwasa and Kgnaya provide collective standpoints in the multiplicities within and between the lived lives and told stories of young Black South African women in Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics STEM fields In doing so this compelling work advances possibilities for demythologising scientific endeavour as a white male achievement and shifting knowledge communities across gendered racialised class and national divides This book presents an innovative narrative methodology utilising the myth of the Minotaur to examine the state of the university at the heart of the hierarchical labyrinth in post apartheid South Africa Throughout the work the author wrestles with and self reflexively highlights her own positionality as a white middle class South African woman to examine how this affects the production of this research in ways which serve to preserve the colonial knowledge system With the rise of the Rhodes Must Fall and Fees Must Fall student movement in South Africa demanding for the fall of institutionalised racial hierarchies the author uses the cover image of narrative formations in the spirit of exploration to think with and through undulating networked forms that could possibly forge new psychosocial pathways towards decolonising and reinventing South African universities This work offers a unique conceptual and methodological resource for students and scholars of psychosocial and narrative theory as well as those who are concerned about the politics of higher education both in South Africa and in other contexts around the world

The Strategies of Australia's Universities Timothy Devinney,Grahame Dowling,2020-05-15 Over the last few decades universities in Australia and overseas have been criticized for not meeting the needs and expectations of the societies in which they operate At the heart of this problem is their strategy This book reviews the organizational level strategies of some of Australia s prominent universities It is based on their public documents that boldly report how they see their role in society and how they intend to navigate the future These strategic statements are written to proclaim relevance showcase achievements attract students and help to gain the support of the communities in which they operate Using a strategy framework taught in their business schools this book suggests that most such statements are deficient Grand aspirations substitute for realistic operations and outcomes The analysis also suggests that many of Australia s universities are poorly governed and have become too complex and bureaucratic A greater focus on their core responsibilities would help alleviate their current funding predicament Organizational Learning Contracts Paul S. Goodman,2011-04-29 This book addresses a new concept the organizational learning contract a shared agreement among the faculty staff and students in an educational institution about what how where and when learning should take place Goodman who has pioneered the concept in his work with new and traditional institutions examines the consequences of strong and weak contracts while bridging theory with practice In the first section Goodman develops the concept of the organizational learning contract builds measures and looks at the consequences of strong versus weak contracts on student and institutional effectiveness indicators The second section which includes the perspectives of two leaders of start up institutions who have created new organizational contracts explores issues of design and change in introducing the concept into new and existing institutions Getting Published in the Humanities Jeffrey Kahan,2014-01-10 In academia the mantra publish or perish is more than a cliché In most humanities fields securing tenure proves impossible without at least one book under your belt Yet despite the obvious importance of academic publishing the process remains an enigma to most young scholars In this helpful guide a seasoned author offers essential advice for novice academic writers seeking publication He explains why not all publications are equal why e books are not as widely respected as printed books in the academic world how to schedule publications prior to tenure how to spot a publishable idea how to approach the right publisher and a host of other useful tips that greatly increase one s chances of publication By outlining a step by step approach to publishing this indispensable manual removes much of the mystery surrounding an essential component of an academic career Inquiry in Education, Volume I Mark W. Aulls,Bruce M. Shore,2023-05-09 Why should inquiry the engine for independent curiosity and interest driven life long learning be a curricular imperative and its presence a criterion for excellent education Is it possible to teach inquiry skills systematically and to engage learners in being inquirers across elementary secondary and post secondary schooling To answer these urgent questions this book pulls together more than four decades of expert opinion quantitative research and qualitative research on inquiry in different disciplines school subjects and levels of education and presents a dozen different pedagogical philosophical and disciplinary traditions within which evidence and rationale are found for building learning and teaching experiences around inquiry based curricula Inquiry in Education Volume I The Conceptual Foundations for Research as a Curricular Imperative is the first book to gather all these sources together to build a cross disciplinary case for inquiry as the central core of sound curriculum design and to offer an organized interpretation of this large body of knowledge from a variety of perspectives and for different educational purposes A companion volume Shore Aulls Delcourt Eds Inquiry in Education Volume II Overcoming Barriers to Successful Implementation focuses on a corollary question If inquiry is such a good thing why is it not universal practice What barriers stand in the way and how can teachers overcome them Inquiry in Education Volume I is intended for scholars faculty and students of education and for practitioners at all levels of schooling who support inquiry oriented reforms in education and who want to learn more about how to use inquiry in their own practice

Challenging the One Best System Katrina E. Bulkley, Julie A. Marsh, Katharine O. Strunk, Douglas N. Harris, Ayesha K. Hashim, 2021-02-04 In Challenging the One Best System a team of leading education scholars offers a rich comparative analysis of the set of urban education governance reforms collectively known as the portfolio management model They investigate the degree to which this model a system of schools operating under different types of governance and with different degrees of autonomy challenges the standard structure of district governance famously characterized by David Tyack as the one best system The authors examine the design and enactment of the portfolio management model in three major cities New Orleans Los Angeles and Denver They identify the five interlocking mechanisms at the core of the model planning and oversight choice autonomy human capital and school supports and show how these are implemented differently in each city Using rich qualitative data from extensive interviews the authors trace the internal tensions and tradeoffs that characterize these systems and highlight the influence of historical and contextual factors as well Most importantly they question whether the portfolio management model represents a fundamental restructuring of education governance or more incremental change and whether it points in the direction of meaningful improvement in school practices Drawing on a rigorous multimethod study Challenging the One Best System represents a significant contribution to our understanding of system level change in education
