Care or Control of the Self? Norbert Elias, Michel Foucault, and the Subject in the 21st Century Andrea D. Bührmann, Stefanie Ernst, 2020-05-22 The beginning of the 21st century is characterized by fundamental societal changes in addition to changing demographics and the globalization of economic flows the transformation of an industrial Fordistic society to a non industrial service society is significant For more than twenty years these large scale trends and their inherent chances and risks have been the topic of vivid discussions in all the social sciences Keywords are risk society post industrial society knowledge society and information society The implications of these developments are also reflected in the challenge to the traditional hegemonic and rational understanding of subjectivity Against the background of these great social changes several factors indicate that the forms of self regulation or self governance are also being transformed A one sided consideration of the homo economicus and its varieties would underestimate for example certain non rational forms of self perception and self reflection as well as non rational practices of self management and subjectivation The aim of this anthology is to discuss the question to what extent the relationship to oneself its regulation with respect to its governance and the relationship towards others in post modern societies are being transformed The perspective of Norbert Elias process sociology as well as Michel Foucault's post structural theory seem especially promising as they appear to have been the first researchers consistently and convincingly analysing the nature of the individual by reflecting upon its long term historical process of transformation Both have different visions but similar concerns they deal with structures of control that exist within society and within the individual

The Bully Society Jessie Klein, 2012-03-16 Choice's Outstanding Academic Title list for 2013 Through interviews and case studies Klein develops an explanation for bully behavior in America's schools In today's schools kids bullying kids is not an occasional occurrence but rather an everyday reality where children learn early that being sensitive respectful and kind earns them no respect Jessie Klein makes the provocative argument that the rise of school shootings across America and childhood aggression more broadly are the consequences of a society that actually promotes aggressive and competitive behavior The Bully Society is a call to reclaim America's schools from the vicious cycle of aggression that threatens our children and our society at large Heartbreaking interviews illuminate how both boys and girls obtain status by acting masculine displaying aggression at one another's expense as both students and adults police one another to uphold gender stereotypes Klein shows that the aggressive ritual of gender policing in American culture creates emotional damage that perpetuates violence through revenge and that this cycle is the main cause of not only the many school shootings that have shocked America but also related problems in schools manifesting in high rates of suicide depression anxiety eating disorders self-cutting truancy and substance abuse After two decades working in schools as a school social worker and professor Klein proposes ways to transcend these destructive trends transforming school bully societies into compassionate communities

Evil Arabs in American Popular Film Tim Jon Semmerling, 2009-06-23 2006 Runner up Arab American National Museum Book Awards The evil Arab has become a stock character in American popular films playing the villain opposite American good guys who fight for the American way It's not surprising that this stereotype has entered American popular culture given the real world conflicts between the United States and Middle Eastern countries particularly since the oil embargo of the 1970s and continuing through the Iranian hostage crisis the first and second Gulf Wars and the ongoing struggle against al Qaeda But when one compares the evil Arab of popular culture to real Arab people the stereotype falls apart In this thought provoking book Tim Jon Semmerling further dismantles the evil Arab stereotype by showing how American cultural fears which stem from challenges to our national ideologies and myths have driven us to create the evil Arab Other Semmerling bases his argument on close readings of six films The Exorcist Rollover Black Sunday

Three Kings Rules of Engagement and South Park Bigger Longer Uncut as well as CNN's 9/11 documentary America Remembers Looking at their narrative structures and visual tropes he analyzes how the films portray Arabs as threatening to subvert American truths and mythic tales and how the insecurity this engenders causes Americans to project evil character and intentions on Arab peoples landscapes and cultures Semmerling also demonstrates how the evil Arab narrative has even crept into the documentary coverage of 9/11 Overall Semmerling's probing analysis of America's Orientalist fears exposes how the evil Arab of American popular film is actually an illusion that reveals more about Americans than Arabs
