Converging on Cannibals Jared Staller, 2019-07-02 In Converging on Cannibals Jared Staller demonstrates that one of the most terrifying discourses used during the era of transatlantic slaving cannibalism was coproduced by Europeans and Africans When these people from vastly different cultures first came into contact they shared a fear of potential cannibals Some Africans and European slavers allowed these rumors of themselves as man eaters to stand unchallenged Using the visual and verbal idioms of cannibalism people like the Imbangala of Angola rose to power in a brutal world by embodying terror itself Beginning in the Kongo in the 1500s Staller weaves a nuanced narrative of people who chose to live and behave as jaga alleged cannibals and terrorists who lived by raiding and enslaving others culminating in the violent political machinations of Queen Njinga as she took on the mantle of Jaga to establish her power Ultimately Staller tells the story of Africans who confronted worlds unknown as cannibals how they used the concept to order the world around them and how they were themselves brought to order by a world of commercial slaving that was equally cannibalistic in the human lives it consumed

Images on a Mission in Early Modern Kongo and Angola Cécile Fromont, 2022-04-25 Early modern central Africa comes to life in an extraordinary atlas of vivid watercolors and drawings that Italian Capuchin Franciscans veterans of Kongo and Angola missions composed between 1650 and 1750 for the training of future missionaries These practical guides present the intricacies of the natural social and religious environment of seventeenth and eighteenth century west central Africa and outline the primarily visual catechization methods the friars devised for the region Images on a Mission in Early Modern Kongo and Angola brings this overlooked visual corpus to public and scholarly attention This beautifully illustrated book includes full color reproductions of all the images in the atlas in conjunction with rarely seen related material gathered from collections and archives around the world Taking a bold new approach to the study of early modern global interactions art historian Cécile Fromont demonstrates how visual creations such as the Capuchin vignettes though European in form and craftsmanship emerged not from a single perspective but rather from cross cultural interaction Fromont models a fresh way to think about images created across cultures highlighting the formative role that cultural encounter itself played in their conception execution and modes of operation Centering Africa and Africans and with ramifications on four continents Fromont's decolonial history profoundly transforms our understanding of the early modern world It will be of substantial interest to specialists in early modern studies art history and religion

Abolitionism and Imperialism in Britain, Africa, and the Atlantic Derek R. Peterson, 2010-01-05 The abolition of the slave trade is normally understood to be the singular achievement of eighteenth century British liberalism Abolitionism and Imperialism in Britain Africa and the Atlantic expands both the temporal and the geographic framework in which the history of abolitionism is conceived Abolitionism was a theater in which a variety of actors slaves African rulers Caribbean planters working class radicals British evangelicals African political entrepreneurs played a part The Atlantic was an echo chamber in which abolitionist symbols ideas and evidence were generated from a variety of vantage points These essays highlight the range of political and moral projects in which the advocates of abolitionism were engaged and in so doing it joins together geographies that are normally studied in isolation Where empires are often understood to involve the government of one people over another Abolitionism and Imperialism shows that British values were formed debated and remade in the space of empire Africans were not simply objects of British liberals benevolence They played an active role in shaping and extending the values that Britain now regards as part of its national character This book is therefore a contribution to the larger scholarship about the nature of modern empires Contributors Christopher Leslie Brown Seymour Drescher Jonathon Glassman Boyd Hilton Robin Law Phillip D Morgan Derek R Peterson John K Thornton The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland ,1928 Includes articles of worldwide anthropological interest
