No Time for Tears Judy Heath, Bernie Siegel, 2015-05-01 Facing the loss of a loved one in a death avoidant culture can be excruciating. Griefers may be expected to put on a brave face to move on quickly and to seek medication if they are still grief stricken after an acceptable amount of time. Psycho therapist Judy Heath draws on extensive experience as a grief specialist in private practice to help those struggling with the anguish of loss. Addressing the myths and misinformation about mourning that still abound today, Heath gently coaches readers to understand that coping with loss is a natural process that our society tends to avoid and hurry people through, often leading to unresolved, lasting grief. No Time for Tears offers practical advice for both short and long term recovery, including how to manage rarely discussed physical and emotional changes, feelings of going crazy and inability to focus, feeling out of sync with the world, exhausted and chilled and crushingly lonely. This updated second edition includes new information about medication and discusses various types of loss, including that of a parent, child, spouse, friend or pet. Helpful not only to griefers but also to those who care about, counsel or employ them. No Time for Tears is an essential resource for grief management and recovery. From Child to Elder Alan

Pope, 2006 From Child to Elder explores the personal growth that can arise when a middle aged adult loses his or her last living parent. Based on an empirical phenomenological study, this book details the complex ways in which the adult orphan's ongoing relationship to the deceased parents, combined with the unique meanings of the loss, leads to a deepening of individual autonomy and spiritual awakening. Confrontation with mortality and fundamental aloneness promotes, among other things, an increased sense of existential responsibility toward self and others as the adult orphan psychologically assumes its new role as an elder. These and many other themes are structured into an integrated whole and amplified through developmental, existential and Jungian perspectives. The result is a compelling portrait of the processes by which the death of one's parents can accelerate psychospiritual development. How to Grieve What We've Lost Russ Harris, Alexandra
