Lothagam The Dawn Of Humanity In Eastern Africa:

Lothagam Meave G. Leakey, John M. Harris, 2003-01-23 Located at the southwest corner of Lake Turkana in northern Kenya Lothagam represents one of the most important intervals in African prehistory Early human remains are restricted in distribution to Africa and the acquisition of an upright bipedal striding gait the hallmark of humanity appears to be at least circumstantially linked to the reduction of equatorial forests and the spread of grasslands on that continent The diverse Lothagam fauna documents the end Miocene transition from forested to more open habitats that were exploited by grazing horses and antelopes hippos giant pigs and true elephants It also includes spectacularly complete fossil carnivore skeletons and some of the oldest human remains Enlisting a team of highly qualified specialists this book provides the geologic context and dating framework for the Lothagam fossiliferous sequences describes the immense diversity of vertebrate fossils recovered from the Late Miocene and Early Pliocene sediments and synthesizes the results to interpret the changing paleoenvironments that prevailed at this site The book will interest anthropologists paleontologists geologists and anyone interested in human origins Hominin Environments in the East African Pliocene René Bobe, Zeresenay Alemseged, Anna K. Behrensmeyer, 2007-09-08 This volume presents the work of researchers at many sites spanning the East African Pliocene The authors take a broad approach that seeks to compare paleoenvironmental and paleoecological patterns across localities and among various taxonomic groups This volume aims to synthesize large amounts of faunal data and to present the evolution of East African vertebrates in the context of environmental and climatic changes during the Pliocene African Paleoecology and Human Evolution Sally C. Reynolds, René Bobe, 2022-06-09 Humans evolved in the dynamic landscapes of Africa under conditions of pronounced climatic geological and environmental change during the past 7 million years This book brings together detailed records of the paleontological and archaeological sites in Africa that provide the basic evidence for understanding the environments in which we evolved Chapters cover specific sites with comprehensive accounts of their geology paleontology paleobotany and their ecological significance for our evolution Other chapters provide important regional syntheses of past ecological conditions This book is unique in merging a broad geographic scope all of Africa and deep time framework the past 7 million years in discussing the geological context and paleontological records of our evolution and that of organisms that evolved alongside our ancestors It will offer important insights to anyone interested in human evolution including researchers and graduate students in paleontology archaeology anthropology and geology Ardipithecus kadabba Yohannes Haile-Selassie, Giday WoldeGabriel, 2023-12-22 The second volume in a series dedicated to fossil discoveries made in the Afar region of Ethiopia this work contains the definitive description of the geological context and paleoenvironment of the early hominid Ardipithecus kadabba This research by an international team describes Middle Awash late Miocene faunal assemblages recovered from sediments firmly dated to between 5.2 and 5.8 million years ago Compared to other assemblages of similar age the Middle Awash record is unparalleled in taxonomic diversity composed of 2

760 specimens representing at least sixty five mammalian genera This comprehensive evaluation of the vertebrates from the end of the Miocene in Africa provides detailed morphological and taxonomic descriptions of dozens of taxa including species new to science It also incorporates results from analyses of paleoenvironment paleobiogeography biochronology and faunal turnover around the Pliocene Miocene boundary opening a new window on the evolution of mammals African fauna and its environments The second volume in a series dedicated to fossil discoveries made in the Afar region of Ethiopia this work contains the definitive description of the geological context and paleoenvironment of the early hominid Ardipithecus kadabba This research Cenozoic Mammals of Africa Lars Werdelin, William Joseph Sanders, 2010-07-20 This impressively comprehensive volume is a long awaited and worthy successor to the now outdated 1978 classic Evolution of African Mammals A must have reference work for everyone interested in mammalian evolution David Pilbeam Harvard University and the Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology The Sediments of Time Meave G. Lee-Thorp, Kaye E. Reed, Peter Ungar, 2013-05-15 An introduction to the multidisciplinary field of hominin paleoecology for advanced undergraduate students and beginning graduate students Early Hominin Paleoecology offers an up to date review of the relevant literature exploring new research and synthesizing old and new ideas Recent advances in the field and the laboratory are not only improving our understanding of human evolution but are also transforming it. Given the increasing specialization of the individual fields of study in hominin paleontology, communicating research results and data is difficult, especially to a broad audience of graduate students, advanced undergraduates, and the interested public. Early Hominin Paleoecology provides a good working knowledge of the subject while also presenting a solid grounding in the sundry ways this knowledge has been constructed. The book is divided into three sections: climate and environment with a particular focus on the latter; adaptation and behavior; and modern analogs and models. It features contributors from various fields of study, including archaeology, primatology, paleoclimatology, sedimentology, and geochemistry. Early Hominin Paleoecology is an accessible entrance into this fascinating and ever-evolving field and will be essential to any student interested in pursuing research in human paleoecology. The Evolution and History of Human Populations in South Asia Michael D.

Petraglia, Bridget Allchin, 2007-05-22 This is the first volume of its kind on prehistoric cultures of South Asia. The book brings together archaeologists, biological anthropologists, geneticists, and linguists in order to provide a comprehensive account of the history and evolution of human populations residing in the subcontinent. New theories and methodologies presented provide new interpretations about the cultural history and evolution of populations in South Asia. The First Human Ann Gibbons, 2007-04-10 In this dynamic account, award-winning science writer Ann Gibbons chronicles an extraordinary quest to answer the most primal of questions: When and where was the dawn of humankind? Following four intensely competitive international teams of scientists in a heated race to find the missing link—the fossil of the earliest human ancestor—Gibbons ventures to Africa where she encounters a fascinating array of fossil hunters: Tim White, the irreverent Californian who discovered the partial skeleton of a primate that lived 4.4 million years ago in Ethiopia; French paleontologist Michel Brunet, who uncovers a skull in Chad that could date the beginnings of humankind to seven million years ago; and two other groups, one led by zoologist Meave Leakey, the other by British geologist Martin Pickford and his French paleontologist partner Brigitte Senut, who enter the race with landmark discoveries of their own. Through scrupulous research and vivid first-person reporting, The First Human reveals the perils and the promises of fossil hunting on a grand competitive scale. Rodents of Sub-Saharan Africa Ara Monadjem, Peter J. Taylor, Christiane Denys, Fenton P.D. Cotterill, 2015-02-17 This comprehensive handbook covers all the rodents occurring in Southern Central East and West Africa south of the Sahara. Genus and species accounts include diagnostic descriptions, systematics, and taxonomy; biogeographical environment; fossil species photographs of skull and mandible; illustrations of molar dentition; photographs of live animals; distribution maps; and tables of standard museum measurements.
