Facing Images Kristopher W. Kersey, 2024-08-06 If we want to decolonize the history of art argues Kristopher Kersey we must rethink our approach to the historical record This means dispensing with Eurocentric binaries divisions between Western and non Western modern and premodern and making a commitment to artworks that challenge the perspectives we build upon them In Facing Images the question takes elegant and intriguing form If the aesthetic hallmarks of modernity can be found in twelfth century art what does it really mean to be modern Kersey's answer to this question models a new historiography Facing Images begins by tracing the turbulent discourse surrounding the emergence of Japanese art history as a modern field In lieu of examining canonical works from the twelfth century Kersey foregrounds the elusive and the enigmatic in artworks little known and understudied outside Japan the manuscripts he selects defy traditional art historical narratives by exhibiting decidedly modern techniques including montage self reference reuse noise dissonance and chronological disarray Kersey weaves these medieval case studies together with insights from a wide range of interdisciplinary scholarship using a methodology that will prove important for historians Facing Images produces a history of non Western art in which diverse and anachronic works are brought responsibly and equitably into dialogue with the present without being subsumed under Eurocentric formalisms or false universals A timely intervention in the history of medieval Japanese art art historiography and the history of global modernism Facing Images redefines the relationship of the premodern non West to modern art It will be of particular interest to scholars of medieval Japanese art and of modernism

White Tongue, Brown Skin Maya Boutaghou, 2024-11-15 Examines the effect of prescribed multilingualism as expressed by women writers in colonial contexts What does it mean to be an heir as a woman writer to colonial and postcolonial cultures in which European language has become so thoroughly ingrained Examining women writers from India Toru Dutt Egypt Mayy Ziyadah Algeria Assia Djebar and Mauritius Ananda Devi White Tongue Brown Skin sheds light on the essential double nature of the colonial experience Maya Boutaghou's latest book her first in English treats colonialism as analogous to a disease manifesting itself in symptoms of multilingualism and cultural pluralism Boutaghou shows how violently imposed multilingualism engenders in the mind of the colonized subject a state of permanent self translation between two or more languages with unequal political and emotional power They must endure a plural perception of the self defined by the restless movement of self translation which becomes reflected in a literary dynamic frequently overlooked or misunderstood by previous scholarship Although the object is philosophical this book is also deeply rooted in history Understanding postcolonialism from below as Boutaghou demonstrates starts with an approach based on close readings in specific historical contexts of Thupten Jinpa's thirty-two volume Library of Tibetan Classics series inaugurated to coincide with the Dalai Lama's conferral of the initiation rite of Kalacakra in Toronto in April 2004. The Kalacakra or wheel of time tantra likely entered Indian Mahayana Buddhism around the tenth century. In expounding the root tantra, the Indian master Pundarika, one of the legendary Kalki kings of the land of Shambhala, wrote his influential Stainless Light Ornament of Stainless Light. This is an authoritative Tibetan exposition of this important text composed in the fifteenth century by Khedrup Norsang Gyatso, tutor to the Second Dalai Lama. One of the central projects of Kalacakra literature is a detailed correlation between the human body and the external universe. In working out this complex correspondence, the Kalacakra texts present an amazingly detailed theory of cosmology and astronomy, especially about the movements of the various celestial bodies. The Kalacakra tantra is also a highly complex system of Buddhist theory and practice that employs vital bodily energies, deep meditative mental states, and a penetrative focus on subtle points within the body's key energy conduits known as channels. Ornament of Stainless Light addresses all these topics, elaborating on the external universe, the inner world of the individual, the Kalacakra initiation rites, and the tantric stages of generation and completion, all in a highly readable English translation.
