The Christian Faith Michael Horton, 2011-01-04. Theology, the study of God, is a concern for every believer, not just theologians or those in ministry. It's the goal of good theology to humble us before the triune God of majesty as we come to understand him better. This is a book of and about good theology. Award-winning author, theologian, and professor Michael Horton wrote The Christian Faith as a book of systematic theology and doctrine that can be preached, experienced, and lived as well as understood, clarified, and articulated. It's written for a growing cast of pilgrims in ministry and laity who are interested in learning about Christ as a way of living as a Christian. Who understand that knowing doctrine and walking in practical Christianity are not competing interests. The Christian Faith is divided into six parts, five of which each focus on an aspect of God, while the first part sets up an understanding and appreciation for the task of theology itself, addressing topics like: The source of theology, where the idea of theology comes from, and what its limits are. The origin of the canon, how the modern Bible came about, and why we can trust it. The character of theology, is the nature of theology practical, theoretical, or can it be both? In a manner equally as welcoming to professors, pastors, students, and armchair theologians, Horton has organized this volume in a readable fashion that includes a variety of learning features: A brief synopsis of biblical passages that inform certain doctrines. Surveys of past and current theologies with contemporary emphasis on exegetical, philosophical, practical, and theological questions. Substantial interaction with various Christian movements within the Protestant, Catholic, and Orthodoxy traditions, as well as the hermeneutical issues raised by postmodernity. Charts, sidebars, questions for discussion, and an extensive bibliography divided into different entry levels and topics. At the heart of this book is a deep love for and curiosity about God. Its basic argument is that a personal relationship with God goes hand in hand with the pursuit of theology. It isn't possible to know God without studying him.

Youth Ministry Can Change Theological Education -- If We Let It Kenda Creasy Dean, Christy Lang Hearlson, 2016-03-29. Since 1993, forty-nine theological seminaries have created opportunities for high school students to participate in on-campus High School Theology Programs (HSTPs) that invite them to engage in serious biblical and theological study. Many of the young people who take part in these programs go on to become pastoral or lay leaders in their churches. What has made these programs so successful, especially given the well-documented crisis of faith among young people today? In this book, thirteen contributors, many of whom have created or led one of these innovative theology programs, investigate answers to this question. They examine the pedagogical practices the HSTPs have in common and explore how they are contributing to the leadership of the church. They then show how the lessons gleaned from these successful programs can help churches, denominations and seminaries reimagine both theological education and youth ministry.

Uniform Trade List Annual, 1989 The Friend, 1929 Straw for the Bricks Gary O'Neill, Liz Shercliff, 2018-11-30. Straw for the Bricks explores theological reflection as a tool for ministerial training and development. The book offers a new resource for theological conversation at the beginning of the 21st century; it breaks new ground in exploring how a model of conversation can be used to lay a foundation for learning which provides a new architecture for both academic curriculum and personal formation. The book offers a practical guide to good practice supported by the lived experience of educators from All Saints Centre for Mission and Ministry working across several disciplines. No other such detailed practical guide is currently in print. The book will thus become an important resource for those within theological education institutions: adult theological educators; those with responsibility for continuing ministerial development, mentoring and discipleship; and any lay person who seeks to live a life of faith in conversation with culture and the Judeo-Christian tradition.
