circumstances New Directions and Trends in Parenting Research Nicolette Vanessa Roman, Yosi Yaffe, Dorit Alt, 2024-08-28 For many decades parenting has been at the center of interest for practitioners and researchers interested in child social and psychological development The body of research on children's socialization has primarily focused on traditional parenting styles and their related practices in the spirit of Baumrind's and others' conceptualization of parental control and power assertion e.g. authoritative, authoritarian and permissive This research has revealed many domains of children's and adolescents' adjustment and wellbeing that are affected by and affecting parenting quality but intriguing new parental approaches and types have recently emerged in research literature such as digital parenting, transcendent parenting, parental alienation, overparenting, helicopter parenting, tiger parenting and several others about which more is yet to be learned Likewise in recent years our understanding of the role played by factors such as culture, ethnicity, environmental and familial background in the relationship between parenting styles and children's psychological wellbeing and mental health has greatly improved However the question of whether or not there is a global uniform optimal parenting remains controversial as more studies are required to better understand the varying impacts of parenting on the child's wellbeing within different demographic and familial contexts This is especially true for families with special needs children i.e. children and adolescents with developmental and psychological disabilities where research on parenting styles in particular is understudied Additionally in the present digital era there is growing interest in relatively new behavioral outcomes in children and adolescents such as sedentary behaviors including eating and nutrition habits, online behaviors and digital activity vs physical activity These and other important contemporary aspects in children's functioning and behaviors contribute to developmental mental health and further establishing our knowledge regarding the parental role in these contexts is essential

Congress. House. Select Committee on Children, Youth, and Families, 1986 Help For Parents! Maximized Parenting, 112 Solutions to the Parenting Problems of Today Francis Edo Olotu, Catherine Olubukunola Olotu, 2014-02-24 Effective parenting is about raising well-adjusted children who are assets to society Maximized Parenting is a book which promotes effective parenting through equipping parents with the knowledge that fosters proper foundation for parenting According to Partnership for 21st Century Skills 2006 and American Management Association's AMA 2010 Survey many employers believe that higher education is failing in its role to adequately develop needed skills in students Parents with the help of this book can bridge the knowledge gap between what higher education provides and what the employment industry requires The book is for parents who consider parenting as one of their most important responsibilities in life One of the greatest assets a child could have is dutiful parents from whom he/she learns the act of parenting. Parents without this privilege are large in number and to them parenting is a dark continent which they find difficult to navigate. This book is written to inform, inspire and impart knowledge about parenting in the 21st century. The book would enable parents interact with their children in a way that would motivate them to be outstanding persons in life. In this information age you cannot limit your child to how you were brought up or what you know because he/she was born in another era. The gamut of issues covered in this book will equip you to bring up your child to be successful in life. Issues treated in this book will help you know healthy parenting methods that are best for your child. The book contains a very broad mix of issues a parent would encounter at every stage of a child's life. It is written from the perspective that a parent's job is for life and as such parents need help to sustain their long-term commitment to their children. Issues covered include character building, instilling moral values into children, basic life skills at every stage of life, sexuality education and handling children with special needs. While the information in this book is specifically for parents, the information would be useful to fathers, groups, men's groups, women's groups, grandparents, extended family members and childcare providers that have opportunities to relate to children. Research now and again has shown that a family is more important to a child's school success than how much money the family makes or how much education the parents have. No parent who has read this book should ever ask, "How can I make my child a success in life?" The social commentator Michael Novak wrote on the importance of family: "One unforgettable law has been learned through all the disasters and injustices of the last thousand years: if things go well with the family, life is worth living; when the family falters, life falls apart." The goal of Maximized Parenting is to fill the knowledge gap in you that will make you a better parent as well as an inspiration to other parents of the 21st century. Choose to be an intentional parent who will put in the needed time, energy and efforts to raise successful children. Know that expensive toys and vacations are a poor substitute for the valuable time you need to spend with your children. Refuse to outsource your parenting duties to caregivers and boarding schools and you will be a stakeholder in the next generations through your children who will pass on your legacies. Remember when a parent dies, one thing that cannot be buried with him/her is his/her impact on the lives of his/her children; those things become a living memorial in his/her children.

The Price of Love Colin Murray

Parkes, 2014-08-01 In the course of a long career, Colin Murray Parkes, one of the most important and influential psychiatrists working in the field of bereavement and loss, has produced a body of work which can be considered truly ground-breaking. His early studies involved working alongside John Bowlby in the development of attachment theory and led to his pioneering work on the Harvard Bereavement Project in the USA and at the new St Christopher's Hospice in Britain. Parkes focussed on two psychological processes: grief, which is the painful search for a lost person or object of attachment, and transition, which is the process of changing the assumptive world in ways that ensure that nothing worthwhile need be completely lost. Out of the struggle to resolve the conflict between holding on and letting go of the old assumptions, there gradually emerges a new and more mature model of the world These ideas throw light on a wide range of life change events and have proved useful to people faced with bereavement physical disabilities dying disasters and even terrorist attacks In recent years he has supported humanitarian efforts in countries including Rwanda India and Japan Parkes career has spanned several decades and touched countless lives In The Price of Love Parkes presents papers which span the full extent of his career covering and linking together our understanding of the five major areas of his work Love and grief Crisis trauma and transition Death and dying Disasters War and terrorism breaking the cycle The papers included here have been carefully selected and annotated to show how Parkes thinking has developed during a career as researcher practitioner and educator In each section of the book psychological and social causes are paired with consequences and interventions both preventive and therapeutic and explored from Western and cross cultural perspectives all with Parkes customary clarity and compassion This unique collection of papers will prove invaluable to psychologists psychiatrists palliative care staff counsellors and students as well as those studying international conflict and working with the bereaved

Evolving Family Models in Spain A New National Framework for Improved Support and Protection for Families OECD,2022-02-03 Spanish society values families and family life highly but the way that families look and live has been changing drastically over the past decades From being one of the countries with the highest fertility rates in Europe Spain now has the lowest rate in the region and the legalisation of divorce and social acceptance of co habitation has led to a decline in the traditional nuclear family model
