Dixon, Meredith Reid Sarkees, 2015-10-22 This title describes how civil war is defined and categorized and presents data and descriptions for nearly 300 civil wars waged from 1816 to the present Analyzing trends over time and regions this work is the definitive source for understanding the phenomenon of civil war The Middle East Military Balance, 2000-2001, 2001

A Grand Strategy for America Robert J. Art, 2013-02-15 The United States today is the most powerful nation in the world perhaps even stronger than Rome was during its heyday It is likely to remain the world's preeminent power for at least several decades to come What behavior is appropriate for such a powerful state To answer this question Robert J Art concentrates on grand strategy the deployment of military power in both peace and war to support foreign policy goals He first defines America's contemporary national interests and the specific threats they face then identifies seven grand strategies that the United States might contemplate examining each in relation to America's interests The seven are dominion forcibly trying to remake the world in America's own image global collective security attempting to keep the peace everywhere regional collective security confining peacekeeping efforts to Europe cooperative security seeking to reduce the occurrence of war by limiting other states offensive capabilities isolationism withdrawing from all military involvement beyond U S borders containment holding the line against aggressor states and selective engagement choosing to prevent or to become involved only in those conflicts that pose a threat to the country's long term interests Art makes a strong case for selective engagement as the most desirable strategy for contemporary America It is the one that seeks to forestall dangers not simply react to them that is politically viable at home and abroad and that protects all U S interests both essential and desirable Art concludes that selective engagement is not a strategy for all times but it is the best grand strategy for these times Military Strategies of the New European Allies Håkan Edström, Jacob Westberg, 2022-12-30 This book analyses how and to what extent ex communist states have adjusted their defence strategies since joining the EU and NATO and how differences and similarities between their strategies can be explained Between 1999 and 2013 four phases of enlargement took place when the European Union EU and NATO allowed 11 new former communist states to enter both organisations These states share some common attributes and experiences related to strategic culture and common experiences during the Cold War era that can potentially explain similarities in behaviour and preferences among them However the strategic adjustments among these states are far from uniform In an effort to explain these differences the book introduces three intervening variables 1 differences in relative power and position in the international system 2 national geographical characteristics and 3 historical experiences related to formative periods of state building processes as well as wars and armed conflicts Empirically the book strives to present and analyse the defence strategies of each of the new allies by conducting a structured focused comparison of official strategic documents from the twenty first century for each of the 11 cases Theoretically and methodologically it introduces an analytical framework enabling us to explain both similarities and differences in the formulation of the strategies of the 11 states and to shed light on their external and internal efforts to promote their strategic interest by operationalising the dependent variable defence strategy The analytical framework combines elements of structural realism with classical realism and constructivist research on unit level characteristics related to relative power and perceptions of strategic exposure This book will be of much interest to students of strategic studies European Union policy NATO and International Relations in general Power Politics and the Indonesian Military Damien Kingsbury,2005-08-18 Based on extensive original research this book examines the role of the military in Indonesian politics Looking at the role of the military historically its involvement in politics and also considers how its role might develop

To Balance or Not to Balance Eric A. Miller,2017-03-02 With the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991 fifteen newly independent states emerged from the imperial wreckage some more ready than others to grasp their new found independence This book tackles the seminal question related to these broader developments why did some states choose to align with Russia despite Moscow s overwhelming power advantage and recurrent neo imperial ambitions Eric A Miller develops and tests a theoretical framework that extends traditional realist alignment theories to include domestic level political and economic variables critical to the study of the Commonwealth of Independent States CIS Specifically Miller argues that internal political threats to CIS leaders and the extent of a country s economic dependence on Russia were the most influential factors in determining alignments The volume is designed to meet the need for a thorough theoretical and scholarly assessment of the international and domestic politics of CIS countries The Future of NATO Expansion Zoltan Barany,2003-07-21 In 1999 three East Central European states Poland Hungary and the Czech Republic gained membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Professor Barany argues that once it began the Alliance should continue the enlargement process Nevertheless he maintains that only states that satisfy NATO s membership criteria should be allowed to join Through an extensive analysis of four countries Bulgaria Romania Slovakia and Slovenia who at the time of the book s original publication in 2003 were NATO aspirants Barany demonstrates that they were in several important respects unprepared for membership and that there was no pressing reason for NATO s haste Barany argues that while NATO should be clear that its doors remain open to qualified candidates the Alliance should hold off further expansion until prospective members will become assets rather than liabilities Securitizing Balance of Power Theory Ilai Z. Saltzman,2012

Securitizing Balance of Power Theory A Polymorphic Reconceptualization by Ilai Z Saltzman presents a cutting edge attempt to re conceptualize one of the fundamental concepts of International Relations theory balance of power theory by examining insights from historical analysis of interwar and post Cold War cases The Gulf Military Balance Anthony H.

Cordesman,Bryan Gold,2014-03-12 The United States faces major challenges in dealing with Iran the threat of terrorism and the tide of political instability in the Arabian Peninsula The presence of some of the world s largest reserves of oil and natural gas vital shipping lanes and Shia populations throughout the region have made the peninsula the focal point of US and Iranian strategic competition Moreover large youth populations high unemployment rates and political systems with highly centralized power bases have posed other economic political and security challenges that the Gulf states must address and that the United States must take into consideration when forming strategy and policy Military Strategy of Great Powers

Håkan Edström, Jacob Westberg, 2021-09-20 This book explores the military strategies of the five system determining great powers during the twenty first century The book s point of departure is that analyses of countries defence strategies should acknowledge that states come in various shapes and sizes and that their strategic choices are affected by their perceptions of their position in the international system and by power asymmetries between more and less resourceful states This creates a diversity in strategies that is often overlooked in theoretically oriented analyses The book examines how five major powers the United States China the United Kingdom France and Russia have adjusted their strategies to improve or maintain their relative position and to manage power asymmetries during the twenty first century It also develops and applies an analytical framework for exploring and categorising the strategies pursued by the five major powers which combines elements of structural realism with research on power transition theory and status competition The concluding chapter addresses questions related to stability and change in the present international system This book will be of interest to students of strategic studies foreign policy and International Relations China's Incomplete Military Transformation Michael S.

militarism The link between men and the military argues Maya Eichler must be produced and reproduced in order to fill the ranks engage in combat and mobilize the population behind war In the context of Russia's post communist transition and the Chechen wars men's militarization has been challenged and reinforced Eichler uncovers the challenges by exploring widespread draft evasion and desertion anti draft and anti war activism led by soldiers mothers and the general lack of popular support for the Chechen wars However the book also identifies channels through which militarized gender identities have been reproduced Eichler's empirical and theoretical study of masculinities in international relations applies for the first time the concept of militarized masculinity developed by feminist IR scholars to the case of Russia

The Military Balance in the Middle East Anthony H. Cordesman, 2004-09-30 Noted Middle East military expert Anthony H Cordesman details the complex trends that come into play in determining the military balance in a region that has become so critical to world peace This ready resource provides a wealth of information on military expenditures and major arms systems as well as qualitative trends by country and by zone However as Cordesman stresses because the greater Middle East is more a matter of rhetoric than military reality mere data summarizing trends in 23 different countries is no substitute for a substantive explanation Using tables graphs and charts this study explores every aspect of the regional military balance with attention to sub regional balances internal civil conflicts and low level border tensions The Middle East is certainly one of the most militarized areas in the world and changes in technology access to weapons of mass destruction and political instability contribute to a situation that has long been in constant flux Some of the regional flashpoints covered in this study include the Maghreb North Africa the Arab Israeli conflict dominated by Israel versus Syria and the Gulf divided into those states that view Iran as the primary threat and those who lived in fear of Iraq Internal conflicts such as those in Mauritania Algeria Libya Egypt Sudan Bahrain Saudi Arabia Iraq and Yemen increasingly dominate regional tensions In addition border conflicts within the region and with

Poneman,2022-11-01 Making the case that we can use nuclear power to combat climate change even as we reduce the risks of nuclear terror Humanity faces two existential threats nuclear annihilation and catastrophic climate change Both have human origins and both are linked to the use of nuclear energy Inherent in the use of atomic fission is the risk that the technology and materials can be diverted to terrorists or hostile nations and used to make nuclear weapons The key question is whether we can use nuclear energy to reduce the threat of climate change without increasing the risk that nuclear weapons will be used In Double Jeopardy Daniel Poneman argues that the world needs an all of the above energy policy one that advances the goal of decarbonizing the environment through all available means including nuclear power Poneman makes a compelling case that we can enhance the ability of nuclear power to combat climate change even as we reduce the risks of nuclear terror Doing so will require well crafted laws and policies implemented with an ethos of constant vigilance and embedded in a culture that weaves safety and security goals into the fabric of our nuclear programs This will enable government and industry to work together to maximize energy and climate benefits while minimizing safety and security risks
