Twentieth Century Korean Art provides a comprehensive engaging survey that places emphasis on art historical narratives It draws on primary sources and historical artefacts as well as on new interpretations of issues such as the identity of Korean art and the cultural ramifications of Japanese colonialism Covering over one hundred year from the late 19th century through to the 1990s the essays in this book examine how both external influences and wills to change within Korean society itself generated an artistic vitality against a shifting political social and cultural backdrop and how this necessarily involved East Asia at large and the West

The Quest for Plausible Christian Discourse in a World of Pluralities

Younhee Kim, 2008 This book critically examines David Tracy's well known methodology of fundamental theology namely his revisionist model as developed in his Blessed Rage for Order 1975 together with his methodological shifts through the 1980s 1990s and early 2000s It explores how successful he has been in constructing a methodology for the public theological discourse that he deems so necessary More particularly this book asks how serviceable this methodology is for articulating Christian discourse in an intelligible and public way in the contemporary context of religious plurality Facing Images

Kristopher W. Kersey, 2024-08-06 If we want to decolonize the history of art argues Kristopher Kersey we must rethink our approach to the historical record This means dispensing with Eurocentric binaries divisions between Western and non Western modern and premodern and making a commitment to artworks that challenge the perspectives we build upon them In Facing Images the question takes elegant and intriguing form If the aesthetic hallmarks of modernity can be found in twelfth century art what does it really mean to be modern Kersey's answer to this question models a new historiography Facing Images begins by tracing the turbulent discourse surrounding the emergence of Japanese art history as a modern field In lieu of examining canonical works from the twelfth century Kersey foregrounds the elusive and the enigmatic in artworks little known and understudied outside Japan the manuscripts he selects defy traditional art historical narratives by exhibiting decidedly modern techniques including montage self reference reuse noise dissonance and chronological disarray Kersey weaves these medieval case studies together with insights from a wide range of interdisciplinary scholarship using a methodology that will prove important for historians Facing Images produces a history of non Western art in which diverse and anachronic works are brought responsibly and equitably into dialogue with the present without being subsumed under Eurocentric formalisms or false universals A timely intervention in the history of medieval Japanese art art historiography and the history of global modernism Facing Images redefines the relationship of the premodern non West to modern art It will be of particular interest to scholars of medieval Japanese art and of modernism what marketing dictates Housing Market Renewal and Social Class Chris Allen, 2008-04-24 Housing market renewal is one of the most controversial urban policy programmes of recent years Housing Market Renewal and Social Class critically examines the rationale for housing market renewal to develop high value housing markets in place of the so called failing markets of low cost housing Whose interests are served by such a programme and who loses out Drawing on empirical evidence from Liverpool the author argues that housing market renewal plays to the interests of the middle classes in viewing the market for houses as a field of social and economic opportunities a stark contrast to a working class who are more concerned with the practicalities of dwelling Against this background of these differing attitudes to the housing market Housing Market Renewal and Social Class explores the difficult question of whether institutions are now using the housing market renewal programme to make profits at the expense of ordinary working class people Reflecting on how this situation has come about the book critically examines the purpose of current housing market renewal policies and suggests directions for interested social scientists wishing to understand the implications of the programme Housing Market Renewal and Social Class provides a unique phenomenological understanding of the relationship between social class and the market for houses and will be compelling reading for anybody concerned with the situation of working class people living in UK cities
