Modern Architectures From The Marzona Collection:

Modernism and the Professional Architecture Journal Torsten Schmiedeknecht, Andrew Peckham, 2018-06-27 The production of this book stems from two of the editors longstanding research interests the representation of architecture in print media and the complex identity of the second phase of modernism in architecture given the role it played in postwar reconstruction in Europe While the history of postwar reconstruction has been increasingly well covered for most European countries research investigating postwar architectural magazines and journals across Europe their role in the discourse and production of the built environment and particularly their inter relationship and differing conceptions of postwar architecture is relatively undeveloped Modernism and the Professional Architecture Journal sounds out this territory in a new collection of essays concerning the second phase of the reception and assimilation of modernism in architecture as it was represented in professional architecture journals during the period of postwar reconstruction 1945 1968 Professional architecture journals are often seen as conduits of established facts and knowledge The role mainstream publications play however in establishing movements trends or debates tends to be undervalued In the context of the complex undertaking of postwar reconstruction the shortage of resources political uncertainty and the biographical complexities of individual architects the chapters on key European architecture journals collected here reveal how modernist architecture and its discourse was perceived and disseminated in different European countries
