Modern City Revisited:

Modern City Revisited Thomas Deckker, 2005-08-12 The second in a series of titles published to address issues relating to the conservation of the Modern Movement this is a key publication for architects planners and all those with a specific interest in modernism and modern planning

Modern City Revisited Thomas Deckker, 2005-08-12 The supposed rationality of the urban planning of the Modern Movement encompassed a variety of attitudes towards history technology and culture from the vision of Berlin as an American metropolis through the dispute between the urbanists and disurbanists in the Soviet Union to the technocratic and austere vision of Le Corbusier After the Second World War architects attempted to reconcile these utopian visions to the practical problems of constructing or reconstructing urban environments from Piero Bottoni at the Quartiere Triennale 8 in Milan in 1951 to Lucio Costa at Brasilia in 1957 In the 1970s the collapse of Modernism brought about universal condemnation of Modern urbanism urban planning and rationality itself were thrown into doubt However such a wholesale condemnation hides the complex realities underlying these Modern cities The contributors define some of the theoretical foundations of Modern urban planning and reassess the successes and the failures of the built results The book ends with contrasting views of the inheritance of Modern urbanism in the United States and the Netherlands

The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard Abraham Akkerman, 2020-01-09 Ebenezer Howard an Englishman and Jane Jacobs a naturalized Canadian personify the twentieth century's opposing outlooks on cities Howard had envisaged small towns newly built from scratch fashioned on single family homes with small gardens Jacobs embraced existing inner city neighbourhoods emphasizing the verve of the living street From Howard's idea the American Dream of garden suburbs had emerged yet his conceptualization of a modern city received criticism for being uniform and alienated from the rest of the city Similarly at the turn of the new century Jacobs inner city neighbourhoods came to be recognized as the result of commodification vacillating between poverty and newly discovered hubs of urban authenticity Presenting Howard and Jacobs within a psychocultural context The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard addresses our urban crisis in the recognition that city form is a gendered allegorical medium expressing femininity and masculinity within two founding features of the built environment void and volume Both founding contrasts bring tensions but also the opportunities of fusion between pairs of urban polarities human scale against superscale gait against speed and spontaneity against surveillance Jacobs and Howard in their respective attitudes have come to embrace the two ancient archetypes the Garden and the Citadel leaving it to future generations to blend their two contrarian stances

Human Geography Erin H. Fouberg, Alexander B. Murphy, Harm J. de Blij, 2009-01-27 Taking us from our hominid ancestors to the megacities of today Human Geography brings a new emphasis to the political and economic issues of human geography

Mediating Modernism Andrew Higgott, 2007-01-24 Well illustrated Mediating Modernism demonstrates how architectural books and journals have created the architectural culture of the twentieth century and that nowhere is this truer than in Britain

New Urban Configurations R. Cavallo, S. Komossa, N. Marzot, 2014-04-25 Urban areas have been caught up in a turbulent process of transformation over the past 50 years and changes have been rapid with issues such as mobility nature water management energy use and public space featuring prominently. In each Olympic year since 1988 the Faculty of Architecture at Delft University of Technology has held an international conference focusing on the connection between research and design exploring the field of tension between science technology and art. This book presents the proceedings of the latest in this series of conferences New Urban Configurations held in Delft the Netherlands in October 2012 in collaboration with the European Association for Architectural Education EAAE and the International Seminar on Urban Form ISUF. This edition of the conference discussed the role and critical potential of the architectural project in the transformation process of cities and territories that leads to new urban configurations. The publication contains all 140 accepted papers and a selection of the keynote lectures presented at the conference. The papers have been grouped into five main themes innovation in building typology infrastructure and the city complex urban projects green spaces and delta urbanism. Four of these major topics are further divided into several subtopics. This book will be of interest to everyone involved in designing building thinking about as well as managing the urban landscape and territory.

Cities Beyond Borders Nicolas Kenny, Rebecca Madgin, 2016-05-23 Drawing on a body of research covering primarily Europe and the Americas but stretching also to Asia and Africa from the mid eighteenth century to the present this book explores the methodological and heuristic implications of studying cities in relation to one another. Moving fluidly between comparative and transnational methods as well as across regional and national lines the contributors to this volume demonstrate the necessity of this broader view in assessing not just the fundamentals of urban life the way cities are occupied and organised on a daily basis but also the urban mindscape the way cities are imagined and represented. In doing so the volume provides valuable insights into the advantages and limitations of using multiple cities to form historical inquiries.

competitions Many Urbanisms Martin J. Murray, 2022-02-15 Winner 2023 Choice Outstanding Academic Title Now for the first time in history the majority of the world's population lives in cities But urbanization is accelerating in some places and slowing down in others The sprawling megacities of Asia and Africa as well as many other smaller and medium sized cities throughout the Global South are expected to continue growing At the same time older industrial cities in wealthier countries are experiencing protracted socioeconomic decline Nonetheless mainstream urban studies continues to treat a handful of superstar cities in Europe and North America as the exemplars of world urbanism even though current global growth and development represent a dramatic break with past patterns Martin J Murray offers a groundbreaking guide to the multiplicity heterogeneity and complexity of contemporary global urbanism He identifies and traces four distinct pathways that characterize cities today tourist entertainment cities with world class aspirations struggling postindustrial cities megacities experiencing hypergrowth and instant cities or master planned cities built from scratch Murray shows how these different types of cities respond to different pressures and logics rather than progressing through the stages of a predetermined linear path He highlights new spatial patterns of urbanization that have undermined conventional understandings of the city exploring the emergence of polycentric fragmented haphazard and unbounded metropolises Such cities he argues should not be seen as deviations from a norm but rather as alternatives within a constellation of urban possibility Innovative and wide ranging Many Urbanisms offers ways to understand the disparate forms of global cities today on their own terms To be Free and French Lorelle Semley, 2017-07-20 An ambitious new vision of French citizenship from the perspective of Africans and Antilleans living in the colonies and mainland France Lorelle Semley explores the ways in which these colonial subjects used French democratic ideals to demand rights and redefine the meanings of freedom and Frenchness Surrealism and Architecture Thomas Mical, 2005 Twenty one essays examining the relationship of surrealist thought to architectural theory and practice Thick Space Dorothee Brantz, Sasha Disko, Georg Wagner-Kyora, 2014-03-15 Could the concepts of metropolitanism and thick space aid our understanding of historical and contemporary urban change Essays by scholars from both sides of the Atlantic provide interdisciplinary approaches to the complex dynamics of large scale urbanization The book opens with conceptual questions regarding the development of metropolises and metropolitan studies The following sections provide analyses of the social environmental and cultural dimensions of metropolitan spaces from both a theoretical and an empirical perspective such as the role of planning and urban parks the impact of ethnic diversity and segregation the place of cinematic visions or the centrality of infrastructures and architecture Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand, 2014-07-16 A major influence was modernist Le Corbusier and his Athens Charter published in 1943 which called for the total reconstruction of European cities transforming them into compact and verdant vertical cities unfettered by slumlords private interests and traffic congestion As Yugoslavia transitioned toward self management and market socialism the functionalist district of New Belgrade and its modern living were lauded as the model city of socialist man The glow of the utopian ideal would fade by the 1960s when market socialism had raised expectations for living standards and the government was eager for inhabitants to finance their own housing By 1972 a new master plan emerged under Aleksandar ordevic fashioned with the assistance of American experts Espousing current theories about systems and rational process planning and using cutting edge computer technology the new plan left behind the dream for a functionalist Belgrade and instead focused on managing growth trends

Spaces of Congestion and Traffic David Rooney,2018-09-03 This book provides a political history of urban traffic congestion in the twentieth century and explores how and why experts from a range of professional disciplines have attempted to solve what they have called the traffic problem It draws on case studies of historical traffic projects in London to trace the relationship among technologies infrastructures politics and power on the capital s congested streets From the visions of urban planners to the concrete realities of engineers and from the demands of traffic cops and economists to the new world of electronic surveillance the book examines the political tensions embedded in the streets of our world cities It also reveals the hand of capital in our traffic landscape This book challenges conventional wisdom on urban traffic congestion deploying a broad array of historical and material sources to tell a powerful account of how our cities work and why traffic remains such a problem It is a welcome addition to literature on histories and geographies of urban mobility and will appeal to students and researchers in the fields of urban history transport studies historical geography planning history and the history of technology

The Projects Howard A. Husock,2025-09-09 How housing policy failed the people it was designed to help and how to fix it As the US struggles to provide affordable housing millions of Americans live in deteriorating public housing projects enduring the mistakes of past housing policy In The Projects Howard A Husock explains how we got here detailing the tragic rise and fall of public housing and the pitfalls of other subsidy programs He takes us inside a progressive movement led by a group of New York City philanthropists politicians and business magnates who first championed public housing as a solution to urban blight From First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt to the controversial city planner Robert Moses many well known historical figures made a convincing case for affordable housing in America Despite the movement s lofty ideals the creation of the Projects led to the destruction of low income communities across the country From the Hill District in Pittsburgh to Black Bottom in Detroit predominantly Black neighborhoods were judged only by the quality of their housing Husock looks beyond these neighborhoods physical conditions to their uncounted riches from local artists like August Wilson to vital community institutions As he shares residents stories he honors what they crafted through their own plans rather than those of city planners Husock traces the history of public housing to contemporary debates on the government's role in the housing market Through interviews with residents he reveals how public housing transformed the lives of Americans and the physical faces of cities and towns He ultimately critiques repair and reform efforts making policy recommendations that address the core failings of public housing for the people it was once designed to help Mapping out a better path for policy makers he lays a new foundation for upward mobility in America

Peaceful Path Stephen Ward, 2016-03-14 The title of this book is taken from Ebenezer Howard's visionary tract To morrow A Peaceful Path to Real Reform Published in 1898 as a manifesto for social reform via the creation of Garden Cities it proposed a new way of providing cheap and healthy homes workplaces and green spaces in balance in cohesive new communities underpinned by radical ideas about collective land ownership While Howard's vision had international impact in this book planning historian Stephen Ward largely honors the special place that Hertfordshire occupies on the peaceful path beginning with the development of Letchworth and Welwyn Garden Cities
