Perspectives On Raging Bull:

Perspectives on Raging Bull Steven G. Kellman, 1994 Winner of the 1980 Academy Award for Best Picture Raging Bull earned mostly scathing denunciations from many of its earliest reviewers. Now considered the most celebrated film of the decade, Martin Scorsese's portrait of Jake LaMotta continues to elicit strong critical and popular reactions. This collection of writings on the film includes an introductory essay surveying the reception of the film and the changing critical response, a scene by scene scan of the film, a sampling of the most important reviews and articles, and essays focusing on such major themes as gender and sexuality, language and boxing as metaphor. Gangster Priest Robert Casillo, 2006-01-01 Widely acclaimed as America's greatest living film director, Martin Scorsese is also some argue the pre eminent Italian American artist. Although he has treated various subjects in over three decades, his most sustained filmmaking and the core of his achievement consists of five films on Italian American subjects: Who's That Knocking at My Door, Mean Streets, Raging Bull, GoodFellas, and Casino, as well as the documentary Italianamerican. In Gangster Priest, Robert Casillo examines these films in the context of the society, religion, culture, and history of Southern Italy from which the majority of Italian Americans, including Scorsese, derive. Casillo argues that these films cannot be fully appreciated either thematically or formally without understanding the various facets of Italian American ethnicity as well as the nature of Italian American cinema and the difficulties facing assimilating third generation artists. Forming a unified whole, Scorsese's Italian American films offer what Casillo views as a prolonged meditation on the immigrant experience, the relationship between Italian America and Southern Italy, the conflicts between the ethnic generations, and the formation and development of Italian American ethnicity and thus identity on American soil through the generations. Raised as a Catholic and deeply imbued with Catholic values, Scorsese also deals with certain forms of Southern Italian vernacular religion which have left their imprint not only on Scorsese himself but also on the spiritually tormented characters of his Italian American films. Casillo also shows how Scorsese interrogates the Southern Italian code of masculine honour in his exploration of the Italian American underworld or Mafia, and through his implicitly Catholic optic, discloses its thoroughgoing and longstanding opposition to Christianity. Bringing a wealth of scholarship and insight into Scorsese's work, Casillo's study will captivate readers interested in the director's magisterial artistry, the rich social history of Southern Italy, Italian American ethnicity, and the sociology and history of the Mafia in both Sicily and the United States. Hollywood Italians Peter E. Bondanella, 2004-01-01 This book is a celebration of nearly a century of images of Italians in American motion pictures and their contribution to popular culture. Hollywood Italians covers the careers of dozens of stars, including Rudolph Valentino, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Al Pacino, Robert De Niro, John Travolta, Sylvester Stallone, Marisa Tomei, James Gandolfini, and many others. In addition, the book reviews the work of such Italian American directors as Francis Ford Coppola and Martin Scorsese. In all, Hollywood Italians discusses scores of films with a concentration on the most important, including their literary and European cinematic roots. The book is capped by a comprehensive examination of The Godfather and its two sequels as well as the international television phenomenon The Sopranos fundamental dramatic conflicts uniting both documentary and fictional films with compelling social concerns The boxing film portrays more than the rise and fall of a champion it exposes the body to reveal the spirit Not simply a brute the screen boxer dramatizes conflicts and aspirations central to an American audience's experience This book features chapters on the conventions of the boxing film the history of the genre and its relationship to famous ring champions and self-contained treatments of thirty-two individual films including a chapter devoted to Raging Bull Redemption Steven G. Scott, 2019-04-01 Directors Martin Scorsese Woody Allen and Spike Lee emerged as filmmakers toward the end of the 1960s when the breakdown of the studio system paved the way for new production partnerships and gave more creative authority to directors actors and writers In what has come to be called the Indie movement these directors were able to explore ethno racial themes with more frankness than previously allowed From the perspectives of their own minority communities Scorsese Allen and Lee dramatized and critiqued the challenges this restless ethno racial underclass posed to the White Republic imagined by the Founding Fathers The three directors whose work is at the heart of this book explore the question of how identity formation is a process of negotiation particularly among America's ethno racial minorities They emphasize the stresses related to the double burden in the assimilative process of patterning oneself after the majoritarian culture while acknowledging in complex ways the culture of the community of origin Annie Hall tells Alvie Singer you're a real Jew Buggin' Out instructs his homeboy friend Stay Black Mookie What implications do these phrases carry Will Alvie have a chance to modify his identity Should he Will Mookie honor his friend's admonition Is black also susceptible to a cultural makeover Is identity a personal choice This book highlights how various films by these three directors explore the ways in which cultural capital musical artistic intellectual athletic etc is used to erase ethno racial taint skin tones supposed biological traits offensive cultural habits The formula ordains that assimilation and interculturalization will be asymmetrical favoring those groups or individuals who bring with them the most cultural capital Place, Setting, Perspective Eleanor Andrews, 2014-09-26 Place Setting Perspective examines the films of the Italian filmmaker Nanni Moretti from a fresh viewpoint employing the increasingly significant research area of space within a filmic text The book is conceived with the awareness that space cannot be studied only in aesthetic or narrative terms social political and cultural aspects of narrated spaces are equally important if a thorough appraisal is to be achieved of an oeuvre such as Moretti's which is profoundly associated with socio political commentary and analysis After an exploration of various existing frameworks of narrative space in film the book offers a particular definition of the term based on the notions of Place Setting and Perspective Place relates to the physical aspect of narrative space and specifically involves cityscapes landscapes interiors and exteriors in the real world Setting concerns genre characteristics of narrative space notably its differentiated use in melodrama detective stories fantasy narratives and gender based scenarios Perspective encompasses the point of view taken optically by the camera which supports the standpoint of Moretti s personal philosophy expressed through the aesthetic aspects which he employs to create narrative space The study is based on a close textual analysis of Moretti s eleven major feature films to date using the formal film language of mise en sc ne cinematography editing and sound The aim is to show how Moretti selects organizes constructs assembles and manipulates the many elements of narrative space into an entire work of art to enable meanings and pleasures for the spectator
