The Preparation of the Novel Roland Barthes,2010-11-23 Completed just weeks before his death these lectures mark a critical juncture in the career of Roland Barthes declaring the intention deeply felt to compose a novel through an entirely untested method of writing Unfolding over the course of two years Barthes engaged in a unique pedagogical experiment he would combine teaching and writing to simulate the creation of a novel exploring every step of the collaborative process along the way Barthes s lectures move from the inception of an idea and the need to write something to the actual decision making planning and material act of producing a book He meets the difficulty of transitioning from short concise expressions exemplified by his favorite literary form haiku to longer uninterrupted flows of narrative and he encounters a number of trials and setbacks Barthes takes solace in a diverse group of writers including Dante whose own opus was similarly inspired by the death of a loved one He also turns to classical philosophy and Taoism and the works of Chateaubriand Flaubert Kafka and Proust This volume includes eight elliptical plans for Barthes's unwritten novel which he titled Vita Nova and notes that shed light on the critic's view of photography Along with Columbia University Press's The Neutral Lecture Course at the College de France 1977-1978 and a third forthcoming collection of Barthes lectures this volume completes a profound exploration into the labor and love of writing
