Management of Cardiovascular Disease in Women Hanna Z. Mieszczanska, Gladys P. Velarde, 2014-03-24 Cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of death in women in the US with more women dying from heart disease than men Women may have different presentation from men and often need a different approach to diagnosis and treatment There are also unique topics of management of heart disease in women including issues during pregnancy lactation and menopause Many different health care providers as well as cardiologists are involved in treating these patients A manual reviewing diagnosis and treatment of cardiac disease in women would help providers without specific cardiology training to deliver care with greater efficiency A practical and comprehensive guide geared towards these providers would be a highly practical and valuable resource that would be utilized in everyday practice in offices that include urban clinics general medicine offices obstetrics and gynecology offices as well as in the surgical subspecialties This book will be a highly practical resource that can be directly applied to the issues that arise in everyday practice There is no available book on the market that focuses on a broader approach to cardiac disease in women or focuses on non cardiology providers and their trainees who have the need to know more about treatment of cardiovascular disease in women Food Safety 1995 Carol E. Steinhart, M. Ellin

Doyle, Food Research Institute, Barbara A. Cochrane, 1995-06-06 Covering recent developments in food safety and foodborne illnesses this work organizes information to provide easy access to general and specific topics It offers comprehensive summaries of advances in food science compiled from over 620 sources worldwide The main focus is on health and safety with extensive reviews of microbiological and medical subjects How Tobacco Smoke Causes Disease United States. Public Health Service. Office of the Surgeon General, 2010 This report considers the biological and behavioral mechanisms that may underlie the pathogenicity of tobacco smoke Many Surgeon General s reports have considered research findings on mechanisms in assessing the biological plausibility of associations observed in epidemiologic studies Mechanisms of disease are important because they may provide plausibility which is one of the guideline criteria for assessing evidence on causation This report specifically reviews the evidence on the potential mechanisms by which smoking causes diseases and considers whether a mechanism is likely to be operative in the production of human disease by tobacco smoke This evidence is relevant to understanding how smoking causes disease to identifying those who may be particularly susceptible and to assessing the potential risks of tobacco products
