Abrahart, Linda M. See, Dimitri P. Solomatine, 2008-10-24 Hydroinformatics is an emerging subject that is expected to gather speed momentum and critical mass throughout the forthcoming decades of the 21st century This book provides a broad account of numerous advances in that field a rapidly developing discipline covering the application of information and communication technologies modelling and computational intelligence in aquatic environments A systematic survey classified according to the methods used neural networks fuzzy logic and evolutionary optimization in particular is offered together with illustrated practical applications for solving various water related issues

Numerical Modelling of Hydrodynamics for Water Resources Pilar Garcia Navarro, Enrique Playán, 2007-11-01 Overland flow modelling has been an active field of research for some years but developments in numerical methods and computational resources have recently accelerated progress producing models for different geometries and types of flows such as simulations of canal and river networks Flow in canals has traditionally been described using one dimensional depth averaged shallow water models but a variety of simulation techniques now facilitate the management of hydrodynamic systems providing models which incorporate complex geometry and diverse flows Much effort has gone into elaborating canal operational rules based on decision support systems with the dual aim of assuring water delivery and meeting flow control constraints In natural water courses water management problems are associated with the need to meet quality standards Numerical modelling of advection diffusion can be used to manage problems related to the movement of solutes in rivers and aquifers The analysis of solute transport is used to safeguard the quality of surface and ground water and to help prevent eutrophication Solute flow through the soil can be dynamically linked to overland flow for hydrological and agricultural applications Advances in modelling also cast new light on sediment transport in rivers exploring the complex dynamics of river bed erosion and deposition and assist in the analysis of river reservoir systems All these issues are discussed in Numerical Modelling of Hydrodynamics for Water Resources which will be useful to civil engineers applied mathematicians hydrologists and physicists Computational Models of Risks to Infrastructure D. Skanata, D.M. Byrd, 2007-08-08 This publication deals with modeling of infrastructure risk The objective exploring different methodologies and related applications recognized four major topics Complex Models Simulation Models Distributional Models and Deterministic Models Focus is on the following issues the state of the art and practice gaps between the arts and practices ways to bridge the gaps and future research directions In the first chapter papers can be found on Computational Nonlinear Models of Risk Assessment Risk Based Evaluation of Safety and Security Programs in Critical Infrastructure and Risk Assessment of Modes of Terrorist Attack One of the papers in the chapter on Simulation Models is on Computational Models for the Simulation of Evacuations following Infrastructure Failures and Terrorist Incidents Bayesian Belief Nets for Discrete and Continuous Variables and Development of Risk Based Software for Analysis of Power Engineering Accidents are two titles of papers in the third chapter of the book on Distributional Models Finally the fourth chapter on Deterministic Models focuses on Environmental Risk Ranking and
