Theatrical Shows and Ascetic Lives Blake Leyerle, 2001-07-28 This book provides an original and rewarding context for understanding the prolific fourth century Christian theologian John Chrysostom and the religious and social world in which he lived Blake Leyerle analyzes two highly rhetorical treatises by this early church father attacking the phenomenon of spiritual marriage Spiritual marriage was an ascetic practice with a long history in which a man and a woman lived together in an intimate relationship without sex What begins as an analysis of Chrysostom's attack on spiritual marriage becomes a broad investigation into Chrysostom's life and work the practice of spiritual marriage itself the role of the theater in late antique city life and the early history of Christianity Though thoroughly grounded in the texts themselves and in the cultural history of late antiquity this study breaks new ground with its focus on issues of rhetoric sexuality and power Leyerle argues that Chrysostom used images and tropes drawn from the theater to persuade religious men and women that spiritual marriage was wrong In addition to her analysis of the significance of the rhetorical strategies used by Chrysostom Leyerle gives a thorough discussion of the role of the theater in late antiquity particularly in Antioch one of the gems among late antique cities She also discusses gender in the context of late antique religion shedding new light on early Christian attitudes toward sexuality Throughout Leyerle weaves an ongoing conversation with contemporary theory in film and gender studies that gives her study an important analytic dimension

Varieties of Feminist Liberalism Amy R. Baehr, 2004-04-05 Over the past thirty years western political philosophy has been enriched by a renewed interest in liberalism and by the development of feminism Although liberalism is one of the important historical roots of feminism many contemporary feminist political philosophers reject liberal political theory Indeed that liberalism and feminism are incompatible has been the dominant view among feminist scholars over the past 30 years Varieties of Feminist Liberalism is a groundbreaking collection that examines the relationship between these two rich normative traditions. The essays in this volume present versions of feminism that are explicitly liberal or versions of liberalism that are explicitly feminist. By bringing together some of the most respected and well known scholars in mainstream political philosophy today, Amy R Baehr challenges the reader to reconsider the dominant view that liberalism and feminism are incompatible. This long overdue volume is the first to bring together papers by feminist liberals and to aim explicitly at reconciling feminism and liberalism.

The Ethics of Homelessness: Philosophical Perspectives, 2020-01-20 This new and expanded edition of G John M Abbarno's anthology The Ethics of Homelessness underscores what is ignored in plain sight: people without a home or dwelling are also without privacy and dignity. It is argued that they lack moral standing. The chapters uncover the harsh realities of poverty where economic value overrides competing human values. Naomi Zack argues that homelessness is symbolic of society's materialistic values. It has a tendency to resist sufficient charity and perpetuates conditions of injustice. Uma Narayan questions whether the homeless have protection under the U.S. Constitution. Other authors present an enlarged sphere of homeless to include runaway children, refugees, adoptees, and the disabled. The book demonstrates the value of applied philosophy.

The Empathic God Frank Woggon, 2024 In The Empathic God, Frank Woggon constructs a clinical theology of atonement. Woggon calls for a caring participation in God's ongoing work of salvation through a praxis of spiritual care. The book will help practitioners and students of spiritual care as well as clergy to critically reflect on where spiritual care practice and theology meet.

Values and Education, 2021-10-25 This book brings together eighteen essays on education and matters of evaluative concern to which it gives rise. The essays range from discussions of basic issues on the nature of education and the importance of its two sides: teaching and learning to practical issues that bear on curricular development. Several of the authors focus on liberal education and its place in a liberal state. Some authors take up the topic of moral education while others examine the notion of multicultural education. Broad social issues of educational opportunity and affirmative action are also considered. A number of authors speak to educational reforms and conditions in particular countries including Italy, Canada, and the United States. For anyone with an interest in formal education or a love of life-long learning, the essays in this book offer fresh ideas for reflection.
