Animals, Emotions, and the Mind Angelique Richardson, 2013-11-10 What is emotion pondered the young Charles Darwin in his notebooks How were the emotions to be placed in an evolutionary framework And what light might they shed on human animal continuities These were among the questions Darwin explored in his research assisted both by an acute sense of observation and an extraordinary capacity for fellow feeling not only with humans but with all animal life After Darwin Animals Emotions and the Mind explores questions of mind emotion and the moral sense which Darwin opened up through his research on the physical expression of emotions and the human animal relation It also examines the extent to which Darwin's ideas were taken up by Victorian writers and popular culture from George Eliot to the Daily News Bringing together scholars from biology literature history psychology psychiatry and paediatrics the volume provides an invaluable reassessment of Darwin's contribution to a new understanding of the moral sense and emotional life and considers the urgent scientific and ethical implications of his ideas today Sacred Text Juan Pedro Monferrer Sala, Angel Urbán, 2009 This book which gathers seventeen contributions investigates some lexical and textual aspects in the sacred texts like the Bible in its several textual traditions and the Qur'an particularly those elements that serve to provide the textual structure with a lexical semantic framework. These contributions have been focused on several linguistic aspects: etymologies, loanwords, the symbolic or figurative values of the terms used in the text, the syntagmatic potential of the words and the literary reflection of the terms like the basic reading of the text and its subsequent comprehension.

Teaching through Challenges for Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI) Stephanie L. Burrell Storms, Sarah K. Donovan, Theodora P. Williams, 2020-02-19. Colleges and universities cannot ignore the increasingly diverse student population in their classrooms and how a focus on equity, diversity and inclusion across disciplines trains students in the intercultural awareness they will need in competitive job markets. Yet while faculty may be aware of a need to understand EDI goals in relationship to their disciplines and institutions may support EDI in theory, the onus of pedagogical training in EDI often falls on individual faculty. This book was written by faculty and administrators for educators who value the goals of EDI and seek an intellectual community to help them develop their practice. Important to this book is an honest discussion of common challenges faculty may face when they engage in this difficult work and effective strategies for addressing those challenges. The chapters are grouped according to six different themes: respect for divergent learning styles; inclusion and exclusion; technology and social action; affective considerations; reflection for critical consciousness and safe spaces; and resistance.

Beyond Our Control Leila Rae Sommerfeld, 2009-03-01. Counselor Leila Rae Sommerfeld shares her own story and a message of hope in this detailed guide to recovery after sexual assault.

Dostoevskii's Overcoat: Influence, Comparison, and Transposition. Joe Andrew, Robert Reid, 2013-12-23. One of the most famous quotations in the history of Russian literature is Fedor Dostoevskii's alleged assertion that "We have all come out from underneath Gogol's Overcoat." Even if Dostoevskii never said this, there is a great deal of truth in the comment. Gogol certainly was a profound influence on his work, as were many others. Part of this book's project is to locate Dostoevskii in relationship to his predecessors and contemporaries. However, the primary aim is to turn the oft-quoted apocryphal comment on its head to see the profound influence Dostoevskii had on the lives, work, and thought of his contemporaries and successors. This influence extends far beyond Russia and beyond literature. Dostoevskii may be seen as the single greatest influence on the sensibilities of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. To a greater or lesser extent, those concerned with the creative arts in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries have all come out from under Dostoevskii's Overcoat.

Components of emotional meaning Johnny J. R. Fontaine, Klaus R. Scherer, Cristina Soriano, 2013-08-01. Publications on emotion and the affective sciences in general have exploded in the last decade. Numerous research teams and individual scholars from many different disciplines have published research papers or books about many different aspects of emotions and their role in behaviour and society. However, one aspect of emotional research that has been somewhat neglected is the way in which emotional terms translate into other languages. When using terms like anger, sadness, fear, disgust, and joy for so-called basic emotions, as well as terms like shame, guilt, pride, regret, and contempt for more complex emotions it is naturally assumed that the emotion terms used for research in the native language of the researchers and translated into English are completely equivalent in meaning. However, this is not generally the case. In many cases, there is no direct one-to-one relationship between an English term and a term in an alternative language. In fact, there can be significant differences in the way that these seemingly similar emotional terms can be applied across various languages with important implications for how we review and appraise this work. This book presents an extensive cross-cultural and cross-linguistic review of the meaning of emotion words adopting a novel methodological approach. Based on the Component Process Model, the authors developed a new instrument to assess the meaning of emotion terms. This instrument, the GRID questionnaire, consists of a grid of 24 emotion terms spanning the emotion domain and 142 emotion features that operationalize five emotion components: Appraisals, Bodily reactions, Expressions, Action tendencies, and Feelings. For the operationalization of these five emotion components, very different emotion models from the Western and the cultural comparative emotion literature were taken into account. Components of Emotional Meaning includes contributions from psychological, cultural, comparative, and linguistic perspectives demonstrating how this new instrument can be used to empirically study very different research questions on the meaning of emotion terms. The implications of the results for major theoretical debates on emotion are also discussed. For all researchers in the affective sciences, this book is an important new reference work.

Practicality of Grace in Protestant Theology Michael G. Maness, Kevaghnn Mattis, 2021-05-20. These 15 articles were chosen by Testamentum Imperium Founder Kevaghnn Mattis with Michael G. Maness from among 163 articles published in the 2011 online journal. Each author was chosen for their expertise and decades of experience in the practice of pastoral care in their unique fields. How the practicality of grace applies in suicide, sex addiction, sexual assault, shame, hospital or prison chaplaincy, even in eschatology and forgiveness is covered by these veterans in the field. The articles touch a broad scope of affliction from physical to moral dilemmas. And part of the choice was not to find from the 163 those who see eye-to-eye. We desired to share the unique expertise. Each author is a weathered captain who has ferried souls across tumultuous waves of grief, confusion, self-control, and internal torment to a port of healing and peaceful victory. With contributions from Peter Lillback, Glenn R. Kreider, Terry Ann Smith, Timothy J. Demy, Patricia Cuyatti Chavez, Leon Harris, Christopher D. Surber, Keith A. Evans, Alan M. Martin, LaVerne Bell, Tolliver John, DelHousaye Enrique Ramos, Sabrina N. Gilchrist, D. J. Louw.

The Rise of Consciousness and the Development of Emotional Life Michael Lewis, 2013-10-16. Synthesizing decades of influential research and theory, Michael Lewis demonstrates the centrality of consciousness for emotional development. At first, infants' competencies constitute innate reactions to particular physical events in the child's world. These action patterns are not learned but are readily influenced by temperament and social interactions. With the rise of consciousness, these early competencies become reflected feelings giving rise to the self-conscious emotions of empathy, envy, and embarrassment, and later shame, guilt, and pride. Focusing on typically developing children, Lewis also explores Knowing COVID 19 demonstrates how researchers in the humanities shone a light on some of the many hidden problems of COVID 19 in the very depths of the pandemic crisis Drawing on eight COVID 19 research projects the volume shows how humanities researchers alongside colleagues in the clinical and life sciences addressed some of the major critical unknowns about this new infectious disease from the effects of racism to the risks of deploying shame from how to design an effective instructional leaflet to how to communicate effectively to bus passengers Across eight novel case studies the book showcases how humanities research during a pandemic is not only about interpreting the crisis when it has safely passed but how it can play a vital collaborative and instrumental role as events are still unfolding Knowing Feeling: Affect, Script, and Psychotherapy Donald L.
