Albertazzi, 2013-03-09 impossible triangle after apprehension of the perceptively given mode of being of that object, the visual system assumes that all three sides touch on all three sides, whereas this happens on only one side. In fact, the sides touch only optically because they are separate in depth. In Meinong's words, Penrose's triangle has been inserted in an objective or in what we would today call a cognitive schema. Re-examination of the Graz school's theory, as said, sheds light on several problems concerning the theory of perception, and as Luccio points out in his contribution to this book, it helps to eliminate a number of oversimplistic commonplaces such as the identification of the cognitivist notion of top-down with Wertheimer's von oben unten and of bottom-up with his von unten nach oben. In fact, neither Hochberg's and Gregory's concept-driven perception nor Gibson's data-driven perception coincide with the original conception of the Gestalt. The Shapes of Sleep Evan Luard, 1962 The Shapes of Sleep John Boynton Priestley, 1988 Ben Sterndale, a freelance journalist who is currently not working, is offered a commission by a friend. The boss of the advertising agency where the friend works has lost or had stolen a sheet of paper. This paper was covered in figures but no one knew what they meant. Sterndale establishes who visited the boss's office and immediately realises that one of those is reported in the evening paper as a casualty in a road accident. He accepts the commission and heads off to the hospital where, by posing as an insurance man, he obtains some useful clues. The victim subsequently dies and Sterndale finds that there are several people looking into the man's affairs, none of whom is known to the others. His enquiries lead him to Germany where he eventually tracks down the author of the paper and discovers the meaning of those figures. A Lexical Concordance to the Poetical Works of Percy Bysshe Shelley, 1892

Sleep and its spaces in Middle English literature

Megan G. Leitch,2021-07-06 Middle English literature is intimately concerned with sleep and the spaces in which it takes place In the medieval English imagination sleep is an embodied and culturally determined act It is both performed and interpreted by characters and contemporaries subject to a particular habitus and understood through particular hermeneutic lenses While illuminating the intersecting medical and moral discourses by which it is shaped sleep also sheds light on subjects in favour of which it has hitherto been overlooked what sleep can enable dreams and dream poetry or what it can stand in for or supersede desire and sex This book argues that sleep mediates thematic concerns and questions in ways that have ethical affective and oneiric implications At the same time it offers important contributions to understanding different Middle English genres romance dream vision drama and fabliau Shapes that Haunt the Dusk William Dean Howells, Henry Mills Alden, 1907 Feng Shui: Seeing Is Believing Jampa Ludrup, 2013-01-15 Explains the fundamentals of feng shui with instructions diagrams and photographs revealing how simple changes to the home can improve romance health and prosperity Beyond the Visual Ken Wilder, Aaron McPeake , 2025-08-21 Beyond the Visual broadens the discussion of multisensory ways of beholding contemporary art with a particular emphasis on modes that transcend a dependency upon sight A central premise is that a shift in the aesthetic engagement afforded by hybrid forms of contemporary art has the potential to open up new sensory and cognitive engagements for blind and partially blind people This is a subject that has rarely been addressed within the literature on contemporary arts or disability studies Bringing together leading international scholars and artists in the emerging field of blindness arts including blind and partially blind artists curators advocates for inclusive practices and models of audio description cognitive psychologists and theorists of installation performance and sound art the book offers a detailed consideration of exemplars of such multisensory engagement pre eminently in works by blind or partially blind artists In so doing the book not only shifts the discussion on access and inclusivity reconceiving access as integral to the creative process but argues that this has the potential to enrich the experience of art for all beholders moving beyond an often unexamined reliance on vision Journal of Hygiene and Herald of Health , 1895 Manford's Magazine , 1895 *J.
