Shark Man Riley Elliott, 2014-11-07 The adventures of a shark scientist and his mission to change our perception of New Zealand's most feared and misunderstood predator Riley Elliott is a surfer spear fisherman and shark scientist from the Waikato currently writing a PhD at Auckland University He's also on a mission to share his fascination with sharks raise the profile of their dwindling numbers and question the legitimacy of shark finning in our waters Riley's passion for sharks started while he was working at the Oceans Research Great White Shark Station in South Africa where he learned to free dive with sharks beyond the cage Upon his return to New Zealand Riley began research for his PhD and in the process uncovered some alarming trends Riley Elliott is making it his mission to educate New Zealanders about the over exploitation of sharks in our waters particularly the controversial practice of shark finning and how it affects the ocean ecosystem In the process he's becoming New Zealand's most popular expert on shark species and a go to commentator about our increasing encounters with this deadly ocean predator Shark Man is Riley's story from his time learning to scuba dive and spearfish his early fascination with sharks while surfing life at Raglan his first encounters with great whites in South Africa and learning to safely free dive to his study of New Zealand sharks species and the making of the TVNZ television documentary series Shark Man The book also has information about New Zealand's prevalent shark species where they live how they hunt and their interaction with humans with fascinating new insights and little known facts

Transmediations Niklas Salmose, Lars Elleström, 2019-11-22 This collection offers a multi faceted exploration of transmediations the processes of transfer and transformation that occur when communicative acts in one medium are mediated again through another While previous research has explored these processes from a broader perspective Salmose and Elleström argue that a better understanding is needed of the extent to which the outcomes of communicative acts are modified when transferred across multimodal media in order to foster a better understanding of communication more generally Using this imperative as a point of departure the book details a variety of transmediations viewed through four different lenses The first part of the volume looks at narrative transmediations building on existing work done by Marie Laure Ryan on transmedia storytelling The second section focuses on the spatial dynamics involved in media transformation as well as the role of the human body as a perceptive agent and a medium in its own right The third part investigates new radical boundaries and media types in transmediality and hence shows its versatility as a method of analyzing complex and contemporary communicative discourses The fourth and final part explores the challenges involved in transmediating scientific data into the narrative format in the context of environmental issues Taken together these sections highlight a range of case studies of transmediations and in turn the complexity and variety of the process informed by the methodologies of the different disciplines to which they belong This innovative volume will be of particular interest to students and scholars in multimodality communication intermediality semiotics and adaptation studies
