Food Is Love Katherine J. Parkin, 2011-06-03 Modern advertising has changed dramatically since the early twentieth century but when it comes to food Katherine Parkin writes the message has remained consistent Advertisers have historically promoted food in distinctly gendered terms returning repeatedly to themes that associated shopping and cooking with women Foremost among them was that regardless of the actual work involved women should serve food to demonstrate love for their families In identifying shopping and cooking as an expression of love ads helped to both establish and reinforce the belief that kitchen work was women's work even as women's participation in the labor force dramatically increased Alternately flattering her skills as a homemaker and preying on her insecurities advertisers suggested that using their products would give a woman irresistible sexual allure a happy marriage and healthy children Ads also promised that by buying and making the right foods a woman could help her family achieve social status maintain its racial or ethnic identity and assimilate into the American mainstream Advertisers clung tenaciously to this paradigm throughout great upheavals in the patterns of American work diet and gender roles To discover why Food Is Love draws on thousands of ads that appeared in the most popular magazines of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries including the Ladies Home Journal Good Housekeeping Ebony and the Saturday Evening Post The book also cites the records of one of the nation's preeminent advertising firms as well as the motivational research advertisers utilized to reach their customers

Eros and Thanatos. Love across Civilizations Alberto Castelli, 2024-02-06 Eros and Thanatos is about the deadly nature of love It is remarkable that literary critics have paid so little attention to the combination between love and death in literature This book seeks to address this significant scholarly lacuna by exploring key literary texts of the last two hundred years as exemplary of a consistent tendency toward love and death Its emphasis on singular characters and close readings suggests the spectrum of an arbitrary dichotomy never fully resolved The existential discussion triggered by each plot is so intense that the erotic and the merely sexual seem inappropriate Indeed each writer chose to reduce it to the setting and background of a story that takes place elsewhere With this in mind the author intends to reflect love s paradoxical nature If love is triggered by beauty beauty can be immoral and love must die to preserve the illusion of beauty

Sad Love Carrie Jenkins,2022-05-16 As a woman with a husband and other partners philosopher Carrie Jenkins knows that love is complicated Love is most often associated with happiness satisfaction and pleasure But it has a darker side we ignore at our peril Love is often an uncomfortable and difficult feeling The people we love can let us down badly And the ways we love are often quite different to the romantic ideals society foists upon us Since we are inevitably disappointed by love wouldn t we be better off without it No says Carrie Jenkins Instead we need a new philosophy of love one that recognizes that the pain and suffering love causes are a natural even a good part of what makes love worthwhile What Jenkins calls sad love offers no bogus happy ever afters Rather it tries to find a way properly to integrate heartbreak and disappointment into the lived experience of love It s time we liberated love Also available as an audiobook
