Program Evaluation for Social Workers Richard M. Grinnell,Peter Gabor (Sociologist),Yvonne A. Unrau,2016 First published in 1994 this text is designed to be used by graduate level social work students in courses on evaluation and program design Over the course of 20 years and 6 editions the goals of the book have remained the same to prepare students to participate in evaluative activities within their organizations to prepare students to become critical producers and consumers of professional evaluative literature and to prepare students for more advanced evaluation courses and texts Grinnell Gabor and Unrau aim to meet these objectives by presenting a unique approach that is realistic practical applied and user friendly While a majority of textbooks focus on program level evaluation some recent books present case level evaluation methods but rely on inferentially powerful but difficult to implement experimental baseline designs This text assumes that neither of these approaches adequately reflects the realities of the field or the needs of students and beginning practitioners Instead Program Evaluation for Social Workers offers a blend of the two that demonstrates how they can complement one another The integration of case level and program level approaches provides an accessible adaptable and realistic framework for students to more easily grasp and implement in the real world Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1995: Department of Agriculture, Department of Energy, Department of Health and Human Services, Department of the Interior United States. Reforming Social Services in New York City Thomas J. Main, 2025-09-15 Reforming Social Services in New York City examines efforts across six decades to respond to poverty joblessness and homelessness through the establishment and periodic restructuring of the city's Human Resources Administration HRA and related social welfare agencies As Thomas J Main shows through archival research and interviews with key figures the HRA has been the focus of several mayoralty The John Lindsay administration's creation of the HRA in 1966 was a classic liberal effort to fight poverty Rudy Giuliani brought dramatic change by implementing work oriented welfare reform and the Bill de Blasio administration attempted to install a progressive social welfare agenda within the city's social service agencies to reduce inequality. Reforming Social Services in New York City tells the story of these efforts, assessing the strategies employed and the success of their outcomes, concluding that major nonincremental change in urban welfare policy is not only possible but has been effective.

Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Barbara Berkman, 2006-02-09

The Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging is the first reference to combine the fields of health care, aging, and social work in a single authoritative volume. These areas are too often treated as discrete entities, while the reality is that all social workers deal with issues in health and aging on a daily basis, regardless of practice specialization. As the baby boomers age, the impact on practice in health and aging will be dramatic, and social workers need more specialized knowledge about aging, health care, and the resources available to best serve older adults and their families. The volume's 102 original chapters and 13 overviews, written by the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars in the United States and across the world, provide social work practitioners and educators with up-to-date knowledge of evidence-based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and their families, new models for intervention in both community-based practice and institutional care, and knowledge of significant policy and research issues in health and aging. A truly monumental resource, this handbook represents the best research on health and aging available to social workers today.
