Dying Modern Diana Fuss, 2013-04-12 In Dying Modern one of our foremost literary critics inspires new ways to read write and talk about poetry Diana Fuss does so by identifying three distinct but largely unrecognized voices within the well studied genre of the elegy the dying voice the reviving voice and the surviving voice Through her deft readings of modern poetry Fuss unveils the dramatic within the elegiac the dying diva who relishes a great deathbed scene the speaking corpse who fancies a good haunting and the departing lover who delights in a dramatic exit Focusing primarily on American and British poetry written during the past two centuries Fuss maintains that poetry can still offer genuine ethical compensation even for the deep wounds and shocking banalities of modern death As dying loss and grief become ever more thoroughly obscured from public view the dead start chattering away in verse Through bold original interpretations of little known works as well as canonical poems by writers such as Emily Dickinson Randall Jarrell Elizabeth Bishop Richard Wright and Sylvia Plath Fuss explores modern poetry's fascination with pre and postmortem speech pondering the literary desire to make death speak in the face of its cultural silencing New Perspectives on Witchcraft, Magic, and Demonology: Witchcraft in the modern world Brian Paul Levack, 2001

Affective Genealogies Elizabeth Jane Bellamy, 1997-01-01 Affective Genealogies is an incisive contribution to the current reassessment of postmodern culture and theory Elizabeth J Bellamy examines how the Holocaust and Jews have been represented in a wide range of French poststructuralist works Central to Bellamy's study is her questioning of whether the non essentializing discourse of postmodernism can ever enable a genuine working through to an understanding of the horror of the Holocaust She concludes that much recent French thought encrypts but does not fully confront the trauma of the Holocaust Bellamy begins by surveying contemporary writings on Judaism the Holocaust and the crisis of memory She then closely examines recent French debates about Martin Heidegger's relationship to the Nazis focusing on Jacques Derrida's controversial defense of Heidegger's works Another chapter examines the works of Philippe Lacoue Labarthe and Jean Luc Nancy noting the ambiguous ways in which they portray the roles played by Jews in modern intellectual history The last chapter examines the representation of Judaism in Jean Francois Lyotard's writings Bellamy's book contributes to the recent revaluation of French postmodernism and to current studies on the representation of Jews and the Holocaust in Western literature and thought As Sander Gilman has noted the writers and works that were generated in France from Sartre to Lyotard have had a seminal role in shaping the international philosophical discourse about Jewish identity Affective Genealogies is an essential guide to that controversial and influential philosophical movement Elizabeth J Bellamy is an associate professor of English at the University of New Hampshire She is the author of Translations of Power Narcissism and the Unconscious in Epic History

Arctic Hysteria and Other Strange Northern Emotions Elise Nykänen, 2024-11-08 Arctic Hysteria and Other Strange Northern Emotions Case Studies in Finnish Literature opens a new perspective on the thriving area of research on the imagined North by studying emotions in the light of case studies in Finnish literature The volume addresses the cultural history of Arctic hysteria and maps other strange emotions depicted and evoked in literature of the Finnish North The volume comprises seven case studies which range from the works of internationally renowned authors such as Rosa Liksom Emmi Itäranta and Tove Jansson to the affectively controversial and provocative writings of Timo K. Mukka Marko Tapio and Pentti Linkola. Drawing from the study of the imagined North and theories and tools in the study of literature and emotions, the analyses show how such moods as melancholia, ecstasy, or a peculiar sense of November are generated in texts and how literary emotions entangle with the Northern environment they depict. By focusing on the imagined North in Finnish modernism and contemporary literature, the authors offer original views on experiences of late modernity merging with the changing Northern environment in the age of the Anthropocene.

Staging and Stage Décor: Early Modern Spanish Theater Bárbara Mujica, 2022-06-05 This is the first book on staging and stage décor to focus specifically on early modern Spanish theater from the 16th to the early 20th centuries. The introduction provides an overview of Spanish theater design from the 16th century with particular attention to the corral theater and Lope de Vega. The scope of the book is vast. Some of the articles deal with early modern stagings while others deal with contemporary productions. The collection contains articles by an international array of specialists on topics such as scenography and costuming, lighting and performance space. It also broaches little studied areas such as the use of alternative performance spaces, most notably prisons. The book provides in-depth analyses of particular archetypes: the melancholiac, the queen, the astrologer, and how they were and are staged. The focus on performance and performance space, costuming, set design, lighting, and audience seating make this a truly unique volume. This book is designed for students of Spanish literature and theater researchers interested in theater history and early modern Spain, as well as theater professionals.

Remembering Masculinity in Early Modern Florence Allison Mary Levy, 2006-01-01 This book nuances our understanding of commemorative portraiture in early modern Florence. The author argues that male and female portraiture, complexly generated within a discourse of male anxiety and pre-mortuary mourning, could pictorially console the subject against his own potentially unmourned death. Merging early modern visual culture and critical theories of the body, this book raises new questions about Renaissance portraiture and reconfigures our understanding of masculinity and mourning.

suggests that the recent critical attention to the gendered classed and raced elements of the embodied early modern subject has been hampered by its failure to acknowledge the role time and temporality play within the scope of these admittedly crucial concerns Wood examines the ways that depictions of time expressed in early modern medical texts reveal themselves in contemporary literary works demonstrating that the early modern recognition of the self as a palpably volatile entity viewed within the tenets of contemporary medical treatises facilitated the realistic portrayal of literary characters and served as a structuring principle for narrative experimentation The study centers on four canonical early modern texts notorious among scholars for their structural that is narrative or temporal difficulties Wood displays the cogency of such analysis by working across a range of generic boundaries from the prose romance of Philip Sidney's Arcadia to the staged plays of William Shakespeare's Othello and The Winter's Tale to John Milton's stubborn reliance upon humoral theory in shaping his brief epic or closet drama Samson Agonistes As well as adding a new dimension to the study of authors and texts that remain central to early modern English literary culture the author proposes a new method for analyzing the conjunction of character emotion and narrative structure that will serve as a model for future scholarship in the areas of historicist formalist and critical temporal studies
