The Modern Novel Tamar Yacobi, 1985      Hypermasculinities in the Contemporary Novel Josef Benson, 2014-07-16

Issues of race gender women's rights masculinity and sexuality continue to be debated on the national scene These subjects have also been in the forefront of American literature particularly in the last fifty years One significant trend in contemporary fiction has been the failure of the heroic masculine protagonist In Hypermasculinities in the Contemporary Novel Cormac McCarthy Toni Morrison and James Baldwin Josef Benson examines key literary works of the twentieth century notably Blood Meridian 1985 All the Pretty Horses 1992 Song of Solomon 1977 and Another Country 1960 Benson argues that exaggerated masculinities originated on the American frontier and have transformed into a definition of ideal masculinity embraced by many southern rural American men Defined by violence racism sexism and homophobia these men concocted or perpetuated myths about African Americans to justify their mistreatment and mass murder of black men after Reconstruction As Benson illustrates the protagonists in these texts fail to perpetuate hypermasculinities and as a result a sense of ironic heroism emerges from the narratives Offering a unique and bold argument that connects the masculinities of cowboys and frontier figures with black males Hypermasculinities in the Contemporary Novel suggests alternative possibilities for American men going forward Scholars and students of American literature and culture African American literature and culture and queer and gender theory will find this book illuminating and persuasive with the rise of public education from the late eighteenth century on brought a dramatic rise in literacy in many parts of the world. Established links between a nation's levels of literacy and its economy led to the promotion of reading for political ends. But equally reading has been associated with subversive ideas leading to censorship through multiple channels denying access to education, controlling publishing, destroying libraries and even the burning of authors and their works. Indeed the works of Voltaire were so often burned that an enterprising Parisian publisher produced a fire proof edition decorated with a phoenix. But as Jack demonstrates reading is a collaborative act between an author and a reader and one which can never be wholly controlled. Telling the story of reading from the ancient world to digital reading and restrictions today. Belinda Jack explores why it is such an important aspect of our society. The Making and Mirroring of Masculine Subjectivities Susan Mooney, 2022-08-09 This book shows how diverse critical modern world narratives in prose fiction and film emphasize masculine subjectivities through affects and ethics. Highlighting diverse affects and mental states in subjective voices and modes, modern narratives reveal men as feeling intersubjective beings and not as detached masters of master narratives. Modern novels and films suggest that masculine subjectivities originate paradoxically from a combination of copying and negation, surplus and lack, sameness and alterity among fathers and sons, siblings and others. In this comparative study of more than 30 diverse world narratives, Mooney deftly uses psychoanalytic thought, narrative theories of first and third person narrators and Levinasian and feminist ethics of care, creativity, honor and proximity. We gain a nuanced picture of diverse postpaternal, postgentlemen emerging out of older character structures of the knight and gentleman.

Findley, 2010-09-21 Book Description Publication Date August 30 2011 Turkey Islam Nationalism and Modernity reveals the historical dynamics propelling two centuries of Ottoman and Turkish history As mounting threats to imperial survival necessitated dynamic responses ethnolinguistic and religious identities inspired alternative strategies for engaging with modernity A radical secularizing current of change competed with a conservative Islamically committed current Crises sharpened the differentiation of the two streams forcing choices between them The radical current began with the formation of reformist governmental elites and expanded with the advent of print capitalism symbolized by the privately owned Ottoman language newspapers The radicals engineered the 1908 Young Turk revolution ruled empire and republic until 1950 made secularism a lasting belief system and still retain powerful positions. The conservative current gained impetus from three history-making Islamic renewal movements: those of Mevlana Halid Said Nursi and Fethullah Gulen. Powerful under the empire, Islamic conservatives did not regain control of government until the 1980s. By then they too had their own influential media. Findley's reassessment of political, economic, social, and cultural history reveals the dialectical interaction between radical and conservative currents of change which alternately clashed and converged to shape late Ottoman and republican Turkish history.
