Practitioner-Based Research Dawn Freshwater,John Lees,2018-03-26 Practitioner Based Research is concerned in particular with the research which is undertaken by healthcare practitioners and the evidence which they generate as a result of investigating their practice In so doing it recognizes that as well as working in academic life practitioner researchers are often working as practitioners outside the Academy It argues that the work of practitioner researchers has a significant contribution to make to healthcare research and so needs to be disseminated further in order to create balanced research communities within the healthcare professions This book will help academic researchers to broaden the limited

ontological and epistemological perspectives of their research It will also encourage healthcare practitioners who have not been trained academically to develop their research skills and to realize that they are actually researching in their practice on a day to day basis Finally it will provide a degree of transparency about therapeutic processes to help clients and patients to see aspects of professional practice and development which are usually hidden from them

Building Communication Theories Fred L. Casmir, 2013-10-16 Concern with various matters related to humans as they communicate has led to an increase in both research and theorizing during the second half of the 20th century As a matter of fact so many scholars and so many disciplines have become involved in this process that it is virtually impossible to understand and appreciate all that has been accomplished so far This book focuses on one important aspect of human sense making theory building and strives to clarify the thesis that theories do not develop in some sort of social intellectual or cultural vacuum They are necessarily the products of specific times insights and mindsets Theories dealing with the process of communication or communicating are tied to socio cultural value systems and historic factors that influence individuals in ways often inadequately understood by those who use them The process orientation of this book inevitably leads to an emphasis on the perceptions of human beings Thus the focus shifts from the subject or area called communication to the act of communicating Finally this volume offers insight into how the process of human sense making has evolved in those academic fields commonly identified as communication rhetoric speech communication or speech within specific socio cultural settings
