

A Pregnancy Poem

Her body contorts, it stretches and marks.
The pain in her back growing as it arcs.
"It's natural", "it's beautiful" is all she is told.
It will all be worth it when you have a baby to hold.

It doesn't seem long and third trimester is here.

She grows more exhausted as the due date draws near.

The house is ready & bags are packed.
Their lives are about to change, that's a fact.

The first contractions begin and she thinks... they're okay.

Manageable with an hours drive to get out of the way.

As things progress it becomes quite intense.

Those labour stories once told were now making sense.

Modern Confessional Writing Jo Gill,2006-03-29 A comprehensive and scholarly account of this popular and influential genre the essays in this collection explore confessional literature from the mid twentieth century to the present day and include the writing of John Berryman Anne Sexton Ted Hughes and Helen Fielding Drawing on a wide range of examples the contributors to this volume evaluate and critique conventional readings of confessionalism Orthodox humanist notions of the literary act of confession and its assumed relationship to truth authority and subjectivity are challenged and in their place a range of new critical perspectives and practices are adopted Modern Confessional Writing develops and tests new theoretically informed views on what confessional writing is how it functions and what it means to both writer and reader When read from these new perspectives modern confessional writing is liberated from the misconception that it provides a kind of easy authorial release and readerly catharsis and is instead read as a discursive self reflexive sophisticated and demanding genre My Mother's Christian Poems Evangelist L.R. Motherhood in Literature and Culture Gill Rye, Victoria Browne, Adalgisa Giorgio, Emily Jeremiah, Abigail Lee Six, 2017-06-26 Motherhood remains a complex and contested issue in feminist research as well as public discussion This interdisciplinary volume explores cultural representations of motherhood in various contemporary European contexts including France Italy Germany Portugal Spain and the UK and it considers how such representations affect the ways in which different individuals and groups negotiate motherhood as both institution and lived experience. It has a particular focus on literature but it also includes essays that examine representations of motherhood in philosophy, art, social policy, and film. The book's driving contention is that through intersecting with other fields and disciplines, literature and the study of literature have an important role to play in nuancing dialogues around motherhood by offering challenging insights and imaginative responses to complex problems and experiences. This is demonstrated throughout the volume, which covers a range of topics including discursive and visual depictions of pregnancy and birth, the impact of new reproductive technologies on changing family configurations, the relationship between mothering and citizenship, the shaping of policy imperatives regarding mothering and disability, and the difficult realities of miscarriage, child death, violence, and infanticide. The collection expands and complicates hegemonic notions of motherhood as the authors map and analyse shifting conceptions of maternal subjectivity and embodiment, explore some of the constraining and/or enabling contexts in which mothering takes place, and ask searching questions about what it means to be a mother in Europe today. It will be of interest not only to those working in gender, women's, and feminist studies but also to scholars in literary and cultural studies and those researching in sociology, criminology, politics, psychology, medical ethics, midwifery, and related fields.

Poems of Charles Alan Long Charles Alan Long, 2017-05-16 This book is a compilation of poems written by inspiration by Professor Emeritus Charles Alan Long that reflect a long career of scholarship with many historical and lyrical expressions hidden by layers of research and teaching. A chronology of sorts, it begins in Dr Long's youth in college over sixty years ago and continued until he was 80 as a teacher, professor, of research, museum director, soldier with success in bio-mathematics, natural history, as a philosopher, critic, and member of a progressive family. Some current practical problems studied from the vantage of evolutionist, ecologist, biblical critic, naturalist, and offended American include the sudden rise of marijuana, political rhetoric, usury beyond decency, and by liberals and conservatives alike, the erosion of personal liberty, especially of speech and universities. But the poems, from laments to loves, to joy to pathos and death, poverty to wealth, nature, art, music, and poetry itself, are presented in almost musical sadness or joy. The history of an intellectual's scholarly travels, whereas some poems are for children, some for society, some attacking evils, some praising good people with merit, even in deference to religions, many nations, and his beloved homeland. The poems are in large part visits into nostalgia and sentiment. Cultures of many peoples in many nations are described, as are many situations in America. There is, of course, an American core, but surely this poet loves good peoples and the history of Greece, France, Scotland, Africa, Russia, and other places. Loves genuine for many women inspired many lovely poems, a lot of romance. But profound in its argument is love for the poor and unhappy people, love for art, nature, philosophy, even sports, science, and math, even religions. It becomes unified by reason, his active caring, and his bursts of singing. Much attention is given to geography, history, science, and nature.
