Norman Hyatt, 2009 Based on the memoir of Stephen Norton Van Blaricom An Uncommon Journey details the origins of Dawson County Montana in the late 1800s The oldest of nine children Van Blaricom left home at the age of thirteen and worked for many of northeastern Montana's earliest ranches After working for the Northern Pacific Railroad he married Maud Griselle one of the first female telegraphers for the Northern Pacific More than a family history An Uncommon Journey tells the personal stories of many of the first settlers of this last West buffalo hunters cattlemen train drivers early tradesmen saloonkeepers scallywags and lawmen This is the story of many of the long forgotten first settlers of old Dawson County and how they met the challenges of a country that was then primitive and remote at its best and deadly at its worst For all of them it was indeed An Uncommon Journey Unsound Empire Catherine L. Evans, 2021-01-01 A study of the internal tensions of British imperial rule told through murder and insanity trials Unsound Empire is a history of criminal responsibility in the nineteenth century British Empire told through detailed accounts of homicide cases across three continents If a defendant in a murder trial was going to hang he or she had to deserve it Establishing the mental element of guilt criminal responsibility transformed state violence into law And yet to the consternation of officials in Britain and beyond experts in new scientific fields posited that insanity was widespread and growing and evolutionary theories suggested that wide swaths of humanity lacked the self control and understanding that common law demanded Could it be fair to punish mentally ill or allegedly uncivilized people Could British civilization survive if killers avoided the noose Illustrated History of Canada Robert Craig Brown, 2012 More than ever The Illustrated History of Canada is a must have reference guide for all Canadians interested in the history and the future of our country pub desc That the People Might Live Jace Weaver, 1997-12-18 Loyalty to the community is the highest value in Native American cultures argues Jace Weaver In That the People Might Live he explores a wide range of Native American literature from 1768 to the present taking this sense of community as both a starting point and a lens Weaver considers some of the best known Native American writers such as Leslie Marmon Silko Gerald Vizenor and Vine Deloria as well as many others who are receiving critical attention here for the first time He contends that the single thing that most defines these authors writings and makes them deserving of study as a literature separate from the national literature of the United States is their commitment to Native community and its survival He terms this commitment communitism a fusion of community and activism The Native American authors are engaged in an ongoing quest for community and write out of a passionate commitment to it They write literally that the People might live Drawing upon the best Native and non Native scholarship including the emerging postcolonial discourse as well as a close reading of the writings themselves Weaver adds his own provocative insights to help readers to a richer understanding of these too often neglected texts A scholar of religion he also sets this literature in the context of Native cultures and religious traditions and explores the tensions between these traditions and Christianity Unsettled Pasts Sarah Carter, 2005 The traditional mythology of the West is dominated by

Goodlands Frances W. Kaye, 2011 Amer European settlement of the Great Plains transformed bountiful Native soil into pasture and cropland distorting the prairie ecosystem that the peoples who originally populated the land had long understood and were able to use wisely Settlers justified this transformation with the unexamined premise of deficiency according to which the vast area of the Great Plains was inadequate in flora and fauna and lacking in the advances of modern civilization Drawing on history literature art and economic theory Frances W Kaye counters the argument of deficiency pointing out that in its original ecological state no region can possibly be incomplete Goodlands examines the settlers misguided theory discussing the ideas that shaped its implementation the forces that resisted it and Indigenous ideologies about what it meant to make good use of the land By suggesting methods for redeveloping the Great Plains that are based on native cultural values Kaye points the way to a balanced and sustainable future for the region in the context of a changing globe Frances W Kaye is professor of English at the University of Nebraska She is the author of Hiding the Audience Arts and Arts Institutions on the Prairies Kaye divides her time between a farmstead outside Lincoln Nebraska and a house in Calgary so that she may always be close to the prairie land that drives her research
