How emerging adults broadly referring to those aged from 18 to 29 years old fare in civic engagement as compared with other adults is the focus of the present work The work takes civic engagement to comprise prosociality in civil society sustaining social institutions and challenging institutions Delineating a theoretical framework based on voluntaristic theory the work expects to find differences in civic engagement due to the voluntaristic mechanisms of power realization utilitarian optimization normative conformity and idealistic consistency maintenance in the emerging adult as compared with the other Using survey data from 25 878 Chinese adults in Hong Kong the work illustrates that the emerging adult is higher than is the other in challenging social institutions notably in terms radicalism and occupying protest Moreover the emerging adult is less prosocial in terms in community participation Meanwhile the emerging adult is not consistently different from the other in sustaining social institutions The findings are crucial given the control various background characteristics including age education marriage and employment These findings are therefore useful for illustrating social forces postulated in voluntaristic theory for explaining civic engagement

Global Governance in the Age of the Anthropocene Markus Fraundorfer, 2022-01-04 Why has global governance largely failed to effectively tackle some of the most pressing global environmental challenges of our time What are the obstacles to effective global and planetary problem solving And which solutions and responses have global governance actors come up with to confront these challenges This textbook teases out the tragic entanglements between dominant global governance dynamics and the global environmental challenges of the Anthropocene showing how international and global cooperation mechanisms that evolved over the last two hundred years are deeply implicated in exacerbating many of today's global environmental challenges The book focuses on several global environmental challenges which are intrinsically interconnected threatening to destabilise the entire Earth system with serious consequences for human societies across the world These global environmental challenges include infectious disease outbreaks global food production processes the pollution of freshwater resources energy consumption patterns deforestation and CO2 emissions At the same time the book also presents several alternative governance examples based on more democratic citizen based and holistic approaches to the global climate crisis which point the way towards a new understanding of global governance in the age of the Anthropocene This textbook is for undergraduate and postgraduate students of global governance environmental politics and international relations

Contesting and Constructing International Perspectives in Global Education R. Reynolds, D. Bradbery, J. Brown, K. Carroll, D. Donnelly, K. Ferguson-Patrick, S. Macqueen, 2015-02-27 This volume addresses the need for an international perspective on global education and provides alternate voices to the theme of global education The editors asked international educators in different contexts to indicate how their own experience of global education addresses the broad and contested concepts associated with this notion Following the lead of the internationally acknowledged authors from North America Europe Africa Australia and Asia perspectives were provided on a wide variety of contexts including tertiary education and teacher education various pedagogies for global education including digital pedagogies and curriculum development at school tertiary and community levels Contesting and Constructing International Perspectives in Global Education explores the tensions inherent in discussions of global education from a number of facets including spatial pedagogical temporal social and cultural and provides critical descriptive and values laden interpretations The book is divided into five sections Temporal and Spatial Views of Global Education Telling National Stories of Global Education Empowering Citizens for Global Education Deconstructing Global Education and Transforming Curricula for Global Education It is envisaged as a starting point for a stronger international conception of global education and a way to build a conversation for the future of global education in a neo liberal and less internationally confident time and Self-government Curtis Cook, Juan David Lindau, 2000 A timely study of the Aboriginal rights movements this collection of essays explores the situation in Canada and Mexico where demands by Native peoples for political autonomy and sovereignty are increasing and suggests why there is little corresponding activity in the United States The contributors address practical questions about the viability of multiple governments within one political system and epistemological questions about recognizing and understanding the other Curtis Cook is professor of political science The Colorado College Juan D Lindau is professor of political science The Colorado College Human Rights Literacies Cornelia Roux, Anne Becker, 2018-12-29 This book adds impetus to the nexus between human rights human rights education and material reality The dissonance between these aspects is of growing concern for most human rights educators in various social contexts The first part of the book opens up new discourses and presents new ontologies and epistemologies from scholars in human rights human rights education and human rights literacies to critique and or justify the understandings of human rights complex applications Today s rapidly changing social contexts and new languages attempting to understand ongoing dehumanization and violations put enormous pressure on higher education educators individuals working in social sciences policy makers and scholars engaged in curricula making The second part demonstrates how global interactions between citizens from different countries with diverse understandings of human rights from developed and developing democracies question the link between human rights and it s in ex clusive Western philosophies Continuing inhumane actions around the globe reflect the failure of human rights law and human rights education in schools higher education and society at large The book shows that human rights education is no longer a blueprint for understanding human rights and its universal or contextual values presented for multicomplexial societies The final chapters argue for new ontologies and epistemologies of human rights human rights education and human rights literacies to open up difficult conversations and to give space to dissonant and disruptive discourses The many opportunities for human rights education and literacies lies in these conversations The People's Voice Pasquale De Marco, 2025-07-24 The People s Voice is a book about the power of the people It is about how ordinary people can make a difference in the world It is about how we can come together to create a better future for ourselves and our children This book is divided into ten chapters Each chapter covers a different aspect of the people s power We will explore the history of democracy the different ways that people can participate in government and the challenges that we face in making our voices heard We will also look at the role of the people in the economy the environment and foreign policy We will examine how we can use our power to create a more just and sustainable world The People s Voice is a book for everyone who believes in the power of democracy It is a book for everyone who wants to make a difference in the world We are living in a time of great change The world is becoming increasingly complex and interconnected The challenges we face are growing more daunting But we also have more opportunities than ever before to make our voices heard We have the power to create a better future for ourselves and our children We have the power to
