Right speech comes out of silence and right silence
comes out of speech.

The Case for the Right to Silence Susan M. Easton, 1998 10 Miscarriages of justice Criminal Justice Association for Legal and Social Philosophy (Great Britain). Conference, 1995 Content Michael Zander The Austin Lecture Reform of the Criminal Justice System The Report of the Runciman Royal Commission T R S Allan The Concept of Fair Trial Gerry Maher Dialogue and the Criminal Process Richard H S Tur Lawyers Ethics and Criminal Justice John Jackson The Value of Jury Trial Mark Ockleton Rules of Evidence Susan Easton The Right to Silence and the Pursuit of Truth Celia Wells What Runciman Didn't Say Michael A Heather The Revival Arbitration as a Post modern Solution to Problems in the Criminal Justice System Franz Steiner 1995 Preempting Justice , The Cartel Evan Whitton, 1998 This critique of the Australian legal system argues that the present system often obstructs justice that common law does not seek the truth and that trials are not designed to achieve a just outcome Discusses topics such as the jury system civil litigation the right of silence the adversary system and the doctrine of precedent Includes references and an index The author is a journalist with The Australian He was five times winner of the Walkley Award for National Journalism and author of Can of Worms Amazing Scenes and Trial by Voodoo Custodial Legal Advice and the Right to Silence Michael McConville, Jacqueline Hodgson, 1993 Suspects' Rights in India Prejal Shah, 2021-09-30 This book examines the procedural cultural and institutional framework of custodial interrogation in India It explores theoretical and practical perspectives on custodial interrogation practices in India which have been in urgent need for reform and critiques the systemic failure on the part of the police in India to implement suspects rights uniformly This volume Analyses the Indian framework of custodial interrogation to identify its fundamental flaws and emphasises on the need for having a lawyer present during custodial interrogation Demonstrates significant evidence on state of suspects rights in India through comparative law methodologies with a focus on common law scholarship and jurisprudence more particularly England and Wales and supplemented by vital empirical research through key interviews with related institutional parties Discusses emerging seminal jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights on applications of the right to fair trial at the custodial interrogation stage especially shedding light on modern applications of the right to legal assistance in England and Wales and radical Strasbourg inspired reforms in other European jurisdictions Highlights the right to legal assistance as one of the viable solutions to break the culture of police lawlessness at this critical stage of the criminal process An invigorating study this book is aimed at enriching data and hypothesis for academics policy makers civil society organizations and students working in the area of law and legal studies police and policing citizenship and political science Back from the Dead He Jiahong, 2016-03-31 China's party run courts have one of the highest conviction rates in the world with forced confessions remaining a central feature Despite recent prohibitions on evidence obtained through coercion or torture forced confessions continue to undermine the Chinese judicial system Recounting some harrowing cases of wrongful conviction acclaimed legal scholar and novelist He Jiahong analyzes many problems in China's justice system. In one such case, Teng Xingshan was convicted in 1988 and later executed for murdering his mistress, but almost six years later it was discovered that the supposed victim, Shi Xiaorong, was still alive. In 2005, Teng's children submitted a complaint to the Hunan High People's Court, which then issued a revised judgment. In another case, She Xianglin was convicted of murdering his wife in 1994 and was sentenced to death, but this sentence was later commuted to fifteen years imprisonment. In 2005, She's wife, presumed dead for over eleven years, returned to life. She was released from prison two weeks later, retried, and found not guilty. With riveting examples, the author surveys the organization and procedure of criminal investigation, the lawyering system for criminal defense, the public prosecution system, trial proceedings, as well as criminal punishments and appeals. In doing so, he highlights the frequent causes of wrongful convictions: investigators working from forced confessions to evidence, improperly tight deadlines for solving criminal cases, prejudicial collection of evidence, misinterpretation of scientific evidence, continued use of torture to extract confessions, bowing to public opinion, nominal checks among the police, prosecutors, and the courts, the dysfunction of courtroom trials, unlawfully extended custody with tunnel vision, and reduced sentencing in cases of doubt. The author also provides updated information about recent changes and reforms, as well as the many continuing challenges of the criminal justice system in China.

The Psychology of Interrogations and Confessions Gisli H. Gudjonsson, 2003-05-27. This volume, a sequel to The Psychology of Interrogations, Confessions, and Testimony, which is widely acclaimed by both scientists and practitioners, brings the field completely up to date and focuses in particular on aspects of vulnerability, confabulation, and false confessions. This is an unrivalled integration of scientific knowledge of the psychological processes and research relating to interrogation with the practical investigative and legal issues that bear upon obtaining and using in court evidence from interrogations of suspects. Accessible style which will appeal to academics, students, and practitioners. Authoritative integration of theory, research, practical implications, and vivid case illustration. Coverage of topical issues like confabulation, false memory, and false confessions. Part of the Wiley Series in The Psychology of Crime, Policing, and Law.

Defendant Participation in the Criminal Process Abenaa Owusu- Bempah, 2016-10-04 Requirements for the defendant to actively participate in the English criminal process have been increasing in recent years such that the defendant can now be penalised for their non cooperation This book explores the changes to the defendant s role as a participant in the criminal process and the ramifications of penalising a defendant s non cooperation particularly its effect on the adversarial system The book develops a normative theory which proposes that the criminal process should operate as a mechanism for calling the state to account for its accusations and request for official condemnation and punishment of the accused It goes on to examine the limitations placed on the privilege against self incrimination the curtailment of the right to silence and the defendant s duty to disclose the details of his or her case prior to trial The book shows that by placing participatory requirements on defendants and penalising them for their non cooperation a system of obligatory participation has developed This development is the consequence of pursuing efficient fact finding with little regard for principles of fairness or the rights of the defendant
