Rights Of Women In Islam An Authentic Approach:

The Rights of Women in Islam H. Jawad, 1998-06-30 It has been argued that Islam liberated Muslim women by granting them full rights as citizens Yet in reality we see that women have long been subjected to both cultural and political oppression Instances such as forced marriages are sadly common in the Muslim World as are restrictions on education and on their role in the labour force

The Rights of Women in Islam Haifaa A. Jawad, 1998 The Rights of Women in Islam Haifaa A. Polygamy, Policy and Postcolonialism in English Marriage Law Zainab Batul Naqvi, 2023-01-25 Slaves mistresses concubines the English courts have used these terms to describe polygamous wives in the past but are they still seen this way today Using a critical postcolonial feminist lens this book provides a contextualized exploration of English legal responses to polygamy Through the legacies of British imperialism the book shows how attitudes to polygamy are shaped by indifference and hostility towards its participants This goes beyond the law as shown by the stories of women shared throughout the book negotiating their identities and relationships in the UK today Through its analysis the book demonstrates how polygamy and polygamous wives are subjected to imperialist and orientalist discourses which dehumanise them for practising a relationship that has existed for millennia Towards Building a British Islam Haifaa A. Jawad, 2011-12-08 Despite the current negative image of Islam in Europe there has been a steady growth of converts to Islam over the past few decades British converts are a highly diverse group with different social economic and educational backgrounds Recently this group has grown in confidence and become increasingly active in influencing positive Islamic discourse in Britain The book sheds light on the intellectual and spiritual contributions of some of the prominent figures of this group of new Muslims and assesses their efforts in shaping Islam in British society including Martin Lings Gai Eaton Tim Winter and Hamza Yusuf The research investigates the potential benefit new Muslims can bring to bridge the gap between Muslim communities and wider British society thus helping in the process of building mutual trust greater cooperation and positive understanding among all parties in Britain The work will help readers to become aware of the evolution of a British Islam that is more open rooted in British values and spiritual traditions and forms a part of the continually changing British

Blakemore-Henry, Vincent J. Cornell, Omid Safi, 2006-12-30 Despite frequent and extensive publications on Islam very few Americans indeed very few non Muslims truly understand the faith or the more than one billion adherents who live it This set presents the diversity and richness of Islam filling in the blanks and expanding our knowledge and understanding Portraying Muslims in all their humanity and diversity balances the images that have bombarded society and presents the reader with a fuller and more accurate picture of the Islamic faith and what it means to live as a Muslim in Muslim communities and as part of a broader tapestry of pluralism in the nations of the world What does it mean to share Muslim concerns To experience Muslim spirituality What is the difference between Sunni and Shiite sects Why do Muslims pray so frequently What is the reality of Muslim marriage and gender relations What is the meaning of jihad and martyrdom to a practicing Muslim What role do the arts and humanities play in modern Muslim life How are Islamic children raised These questions and others are answered in these volumes which bring together Muslim voices from around the world including men and women scholars and laypersons fundamentalists and progressives and others from various cultural political and Islamic backgrounds Personal experiences and poetry are included to illustrate the many different expressions of Islam Islamic Public Law - Islamic Law in Theory and Practice Ahmed Akgunduz, 2011-11-01 Islamic law contains explications and divisions that imply a classification in terms of public and private law In this book we will explain the outlines of Islamic public law e g First Chapter Islamic constitutional law al siy sah al shar iyyah and administrative law al siy sah al shar iyyah Second Chapter penal law al uq b t Third Chapter financial law zak t ushr ar j and other taxes Fourth Chapter trial law qā and Fifth Chapter international public law al siyār The fields of especially Islamic constitutional law administrative law financial law taẓīr penalties and arrangements concerning military law based on the restricted legislative authority vested by Sharʿah rules and those jurisprudential decrees based on secondary sources like customs and traditions and the public good maslahah all fell under what was variously called public law al siyāsah al sharʿiyyah Sharʿah policy qānūn legal code qānūn mahallī etc Since these laws could not go beyond Sharʿah principles either at least in theory they should not be regarded as a legal system outside of Islamic law But Islamic penal law financial law trial law and international law depend mostly on rules that are based directly on the Qurʾān and the Sunnah and codified in books of fiqh Islamic law called Sharʿah rules Sharʿi sharf or Sharʿah law Such rules formed 85% of the legal system In this book we will focus on some controversial problems in the Muslim world today such as the form of government in Islamic law and the relation between Islam and democracy Islamic law does not stipulate a certain method of state government nonetheless we may say that the principles it decrees and its concept of sovereignty suggest a religious republic As a matter of fact ulāf al Rashīdīn the Rightly Guided Caliphs were both caliphs and religious republican presidents We could say that this book has three main characteristics i We have tried to base our explanations directly on the primary Islamic law sources For example after reading some articles on the caliphate or tīmūr system in articles or books by some Western scholars and even by some Muslim scholars one might conclude that there are different views on these subjects among Muslim scholars This is not true Muslims have agreed on the basic rules on legal subjects but there are some conflicts regarding nuances and interpretations If one reads works by Imām Gazzālī Ibn Taymiyyah al Mawardi and al Farrā one will not find any disagreement on the main rules but there are some different interpretations of some concepts We have tried to discover where they agreed and we have sometimes pointed to where they differed ii We have researched practices of Islamic law especially legal documents in the Ottoman archives For example we explain addi sariqa but also mention some legal articles from the Ottoman legal codes qānūnname and some Sharʿah court decisions like legal decrees ilmi sharʿiyyah It is well known that nobody can understand any legal system without implementing and practicing it That also holds for Islamic law because theory alone does not yield a complete understanding of Sharʿah rules iii We have worked hard to correct some misconceptions and misunderstandings about Islamic law That is why we appeal to the primary sources For example some scholars claim that theanaf jurist Imām Sāraṣ did not accept the idea of punishment for apostasy We have studied his work al Mabsūṭ and found this claim to be unfounded The comparison between tīmūr and fief is another example because the tīmūr system is different from the fief system Some scholars confuse the concept of sovereignty and governance The Islamic state is not a theocratic state in the sense in which Europeans understand the term women converts transmit Islamic values to their children These are some of the questions that Women Embracing Islam seeks to answer In this vanguard study of gender and conversion to Islam leading historians sociologists anthropologists and theologians investigate why non Muslim women in the United States several European countries and South Africa are converting to Islam Drawing on extensive interviews with female converts the authors explore the life experiences that lead Western women to adopt Islam as well as the appeal that various forms of Islam as well as the Nation of Islam have for women The authors find that while no single set of factors can explain why Western women are embracing Islamic faith traditions some common motivations emerge These include an attraction to Islam s high regard for family and community its strict moral and ethical standards and the rationality and spirituality of its theology as well as a disillusionment with Christianity and with the unrestrained sexuality of so much of Western culture
