She Has Reddish Hair and Her Name is Sabina Julieta Campos, 1993-01-01 Campos freezes Sabina at the moment of gazing four o'clock in the afternoon May 8 1971 and opens the character to a potential that is as expansive as the everpresent sea As the book progresses Campos envisions a battle among several potential narrators for the character of Sabina a female observer perhaps Campos herself sitting on the balcony another female persona near the balcony taking notes for a novel she might write a third woman distant in time and place sitting at a desk looking at photographs of the sea and a male writer who constitutes an ominous oppressive presence in the novel This masculine presence threatens and fragments the feminine voice rendering it ambiguous and creating a tension that is sustained throughout the novel until the climax

Laura Esquivel's Mexican Fictions Elizabeth Moore Willingham, 2012-05-18 This book now available in paperback is the first in depth review and assessment of Laura Esquivel criticism Outstanding essayists from diverse critical perspectives in Latin American literature and film explore Esquivel's critical reputation contextualize her work in literary movements and consider her four novels as well as the film based on Like Water for Chocolate The book begins with An Introduction to Esquivel Criticism reviewing 20 years of global praise and condemnation Elena Poniatowska in an essay provided in the original Spanish and in translation reflects on her first reading of Like Water for Chocolate From unique critical perspectives Jeffrey Oxford Patrick Duffey and Debra Andrist probe the novel as film and fiction The Rev Dr Stephen Butler Murray explores Esquivel's spiritual focus while cultural geographer Maria Elena Christie uses words and images to compare Mexican kitchen space and Esquivel's first novel Elizabeth Coonrod Martinez and Lydia H Rodriguez affirm divergent readings of The Law of Love and Elizabeth M Willingham discusses the contested national identity in Swift as Desire Jeanne L Gillespie and Ryan F Long approach Malinche A Novel through historical documents and popular and religious culture In the closing essay Alberto Julian Perez contextualizes Esquivel's fiction within Feminist and Hispanic literary movements This book has won the Harvey L Johnson Book Award for 2011 conferred by the South Central

Organization of Latin American Studies at its 44th annual Congress in Miami Florida March 9 2012 Global Crusoe Ann Marie Fallon, 2016-04-22 Global Crusoe travels across the twentieth century globe from a Native American reservation to a Botswanan village to explore the huge variety of contemporary incarnations of Daniel Defoe's intrepid character In her study of the novels poems short stories and films that adapt the Crusoe myth Ann Marie Fallon argues that the twentieth century Crusoe is not a lone struggling survivor but a cosmopolitan figure who serves as a warning against the dangers of individual isolation and colonial oppression Fallon uses feminist and postcolonial theory to reexamine Defoe's original novel and several contemporary texts showing how writers take up the traumatic narratives of Crusoe in response to the intensifying transnational and postcolonial experiences of the second half of the twentieth century Reading texts by authors such as

Nadine Gordimer Bessie Head Derek Walcott Elizabeth Bishop and J M Coetzee within their social historical and political contexts Fallon shows how contemporary revisions of the novel reveal the tensions inherent in the transnational project as people and ideas move across borders with frequency if not necessarily with ease In the novel Robinson Crusoe Crusoe s discovery of Friday s footprint fills him with such anxiety that he feels the print like an animal and burrows into his shelter Likewise modern readers and writers continue to experience a deep anxiety when confronting the narrative issues at the center of Crusoe s story

Contemporary World Fiction Juris Dilevko, Keren Dali, Glenda Garbutt, 2011-03-17 This much needed guide to translated literature offers readers the opportunity to hear from learn about and perhaps better understand our shrinking world from the perspective of insiders from many cultures and traditions In a globalized world knowledge about non North American societies and cultures is a must Contemporary World Fiction A Guide to Literature in Translation provides an overview of the tremendous range and scope of translated world fiction available in English In so doing it will help readers get a sense of the vast world beyond North America that is conveyed by fiction titles from dozens of countries and language traditions Within the guide approximately 1 000 contemporary non English language fiction titles are fully annotated and thousands of others are listed Organization is primarily by language as language often reflects cultural cohesion better than national borders or geographies but also by country and culture In addition to contemporary titles each chapter features a brief overview of earlier translated fiction from the group The guide also provides in depth bibliographic essays for each chapter that will enable librarians and library users to further explore the literature of numerous languages and cultural traditions

Women's Fiction from Latin America Evelyn Picon Garfield, 1988 Evelyn Picon Garfield has chosen selections from the prose works of twelve female authors representing seven Latin American countries to create a collection which speaks to a variety of issues and exhibits a pastiche of richly varied artistic styles Containing short stories a one act play and excerpts from novels the volume touches on such topics as political commitment and persecution regional ethnicity of African and Indian cultures social issues between classes and races misogyny the complexities of the human psyche and female solidarity Garfield includes works from the six authors she interviewed for her Women s Voices from Latin America and has added selections from six other writers including Isabel Allende and Clarice Lispector

Fear of Losing Eurydice Julieta Campos, 1994-05 This lyrical novel by one of Mexico s leading women writers explores both desire and the desire to tell a love story In an idle moment between grading assignments a French teacher sitting in a cafe in a Caribbean seaport town sketches an island on his white napkin Like Proust s petite madeleine the island opens up a host of images Island the sum of all improbabilities intoxicating improbability of fiction Island image of desire All the islands formulated by human beings and all islands appearing on the maps comprise a single imaginary archipelago the archipelago of desire Monsieur N s original plan to use a Jules Verne novel about shipwrecked schoolboys as a translation exercise for his pupils becomes an obsession to collect every reference to islands he can find and to meditate on them in a diary of his imaginary travels his

Islandiary Parallel to this quest is an archetypal love story that he begins writing in his notebook printed in a narrow column with islands of quotations surrounding it Voyaging and the quest for islands becomes a metaphor for the search for paradise for the island as an imagined place where love achieves perfection It also becomes a metaphor for writing Every text is an island

Acts of Narrative Resistance Laura J. Beard, 2009-10-01 This exploration of women's autobiographical writings in the Americas focuses on three specific genres testimonio metafiction and the family saga as the story of a nation What makes Laura J Beard's work distinctive is her pairing of readings of life narratives by women from different countries and traditions Her section on metafiction focuses on works by Helena Parente Cunha of Brazil and Luisa Futoranksy of Argentina the family sagas explored are by Ana María Shua and Nélida Piñón of Argentina and Brazil respectively and the section on testimonio highlights narratives by Lee Maracle and Shirley Sterling from different Indigenous nations in British Columbia In these texts Beard terms genres of resistance women resist the cultural definitions imposed upon them in an effort to speak and name their own experiences The author situates her work in the context of not only other feminist studies of women's autobiographies but also the continuing study of inter American literature that is demanding more comparative and cross cultural approaches Acts of Narrative Resistance addresses prominent issues in the fields of autobiography comparative literature and women's studies and in inter American Latin American and Native American studies
