Lawrence: The Thinker as Poet F. Becket, 2015-12-17 D H Lawrence The Thinker as Poet addresses a particular body of language and thought within Lawrence's oeuvre where the metaphorical the poetic and the philosophical are intricately enmeshed Lawrence emerges as a writer who pulls metaphor away from its merely rhetorical moorings his distinctive style is the hallmark of one who thinks not analytically but poetically about the birth of the self the body unconscious complex kinds of otherness and about metaphor itself as a mode of understanding The Rainbow Volume 1 of 4 (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition) , D. H. Lawrence Alistair Niven, 1978-02-23 Since his death in 1930 D H Lawrence has become not only one of the most controversial English novelists of the twentieth century but also one of the most widely read and quoted writers in the language In this new study of his major fiction Alistair Niven revalues all the novels tracing Lawrence's development through them both as an artist and as a thinker At the centre of the book Dr Niven discusses The Rainbow and Women in Love as the diverse products of a single creative intention nothing less than an exploration of where modern man is going Lawrence's early novels The White Peacock and The Trespasser receive exceptionally close scrutiny There are also full length chapters on Lawrence's well known fiction of sexual self discovery Sons and Lovers and Lady Chatterley's Lover The travel novels The Lost Girl Aaron's Rod The Plumed Serpent and especially the Australian novel Kangaroo which the author believes has been seriously underestimated by previous critics are given prominence as evidence of Lawrence's restless desire to find a superior set of values to those he believed had failed in England Dr Niven's conclusions are derived solely from his close reading of the novels themselves and when relevant from Lawrence's correspondence and short stories This study with its unusually lively and commonsense approach confirms Lawrence as not only a great novelist but a central figure in the development of the modern mind

Look! We Have Come Through! Lara Feigel, 2022-08-18 Her intensity and intimacy are engaging Blake Morrison Guardian A lovely urgent serious book Tessa Hadley Refreshing and unexpected Daisy Hay Financial Times Brilliantly interweaving literary criticism biography and memoir Look We Have Come Through is a captivating exhumation of an author and a compelling manifesto for exposing ourselves to difficult and dangerous views Lara Feigel listens to birds outside her window their circling strident calls and thinks of D H Lawrence It is the spring of 2020 and as the pandemic takes hold she locks down in rural Oxfordshire with her partner her two children and that most explosive of writers Proceeding month by month through the year she sets out to start again with Lawrence to find vital literary companionship to use him as a guide to rural living and even unexpectedly to child rearing to find a way through his writing to excavate the modern world she feels he helped bring into being Tracing the arc of Lawrence's life and delving deep into his writings she confronts his anger his passion his tumultuous vitality In the process she faces some of today's most urgent dilemmas from secular religion to the climate crisis from sex and sexuality to feminism's ideas about motherhood And as she watches the seasons change alongside Lawrence Feigel finds the rhythms of her own life shifting in unexpected ways

Time and the Novel Patricia Drechsel Tobin, 2015-03-08 Formalist criticism of the modern novel has concentrated on its spatial aspects Patricia Tobin focuses instead on the modern novel's temporal structure She notes that the genealogical imperative that dominated the nineteenth century novel in which one event gave birth to another has broken down in the twentieth century novels she studies Further she draws parallels between this collapse of linear narrative and the current challenge to linearity from many other areas of modern thought Beginning with Mann's Buddenbrooks as a family chronicle novel that fully embodies the classical genealogical structure the author extends her analysis to include distortions of the linear perspective in Lawrence's The Rainbow Faulkner's Absalom Absalom Nabokov's Invitation of a Beulah and Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude She finds that in these novels about family relationships the continuity of time family and story has dissolved so that past present and future have lost their distinctions sins against the dynastic family are not only recognized but celebrated and literary and existential meanings are suspended in unlikely juxtapositions irrational metamorphoses and proliferating possibilities Professor Tobin suggests that the disappearance of the genealogical imperative in the contemporary world s sense of reality may account for much of what appears to be anonymous peripheral and excessive in post modern fiction Originally published in 1979 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

English Fiction of the Early Modern Period Douglas Hewitt, 2014-05-22 This is an ambitious and fascinating analysis of early twentieth century English literature from Kipling Conrad Lawrence and Forster through figures like Joyce and Woolf to writers such as Evelyn Waugh There are chapters on the younger writers of the age as well as the more popular minor writers like Buchan and Dornford Yates
