Losing Touch:

Losing Touch Jonathan Cole, 2016 Ian Waterman lost all sense of movement below the neck over forty years ago Unable to move he felt disembodied and frightened Slowly he taught himself to dress eat and walk by thinking about each movement with visual supervision Here we see the science behind this rare condition but also Ian's personal journey through his unique response

Losing Touch with Nature Mary Thomas Crane, 2014-11-24 The rise of modern science stirred up a mix of unease and exhilaration that profoundly influenced early modern English literature During the scientific revolution the dominant Aristotelian picture of nature which cohered closely with common sense and ordinary perceptual experience was completely overthrown Although we now take for granted the ideas that the earth revolves around the sun and that seemingly solid matter is composed of tiny particles these concepts seemed equally counterintuitive anxiety provoking and at odds with our ancestors embodied experience of the world In Losing Touch with Nature Mary Thomas Crane examines the complex way that the new science's threat to intuitive Aristotelian notions of the natural world was treated and reflected in the work of Edmund Spenser Christopher Marlowe William Shakespeare and other early modern writers Crane breaks new ground by arguing that sixteenth century ideas about the universe were actually much more sophisticated rational and observation based than many literary critics have assumed The earliest stages of the scientific revolution in England were most powerfully experienced as a divergence of intuitive science from official science causing a schism between embodied human experience of the world and learned explanations of how the world works This fascinating book traces the growing awareness of that epistemological gap through textbooks and natural philosophy treatises to canonical poetry and plays presently registering and exploring the magnitude of the human loss that accompanied the beginnings of modern science

Lost from View Nina Biehal, Fiona Mitchell, Jim Wade, 2003 Thousands of people are reported missing each year yet very little is known about who they are why they disappear and what happens to them Although the predicament of runaways and other missing children has a higher profile the issue of missing adults has been neglected in research and policy Drawing on almost 2000 missing persons cases the report explores why people choose to go missing and how people can become missing in other circumstances the experiences of missing people while they are away and the risks that they may encounter how missing episodes are resolved how further developments in policy and practice may assist missing people and their families This highly topical report demonstrates that the social problems underpinning the missing issue cut across many areas of social policy This book will therefore be essential reading for policy makers practitioners and academics in the fields of criminal justice child and family welfare health and social work

Reclaiming Your Self Brian DesRoches, Brian Desroches, Ph.D., 2000 From an expert in the field comes the first and only complete step by step plan for recovery from codependence the self destructive behavior that results when people are so obsessed with the needs of others that they neglect their own Clinical Handbook of Psychological Disorders, Fourth

Edition David H. Barlow, 2007-11-15 With over 75 000 copies sold this clinical guide and widely adopted text presents authoritative guidelines for treating frequently encountered adult disorders The Handbook is unique in its focus on evidence based practice and its attention to the most pressing question asked by students and practitioners How do I do it Leading clinical researchers provide essential background knowledge on each problem describe the conceptual and empirical bases of their respective approaches and illustrate the nuts and bolts of evidence based assessment and intervention Recovery of the Lost Good Object Eric Brenman, 2012-08-06 Recovery of the Lost Good Object brings together the hugely influential papers and seminars of Eric Brenman revealing his impact on the development of psychoanalysis and allowing a better understanding of his distinctive voice amongst post Kleinian analysts Gathered together for the first time in one volume Eric Brenman's papers give the reader a unique insight into the development of his clinical and theoretical thinking They highlight many issues which are relevant to the present debate about psychoanalytic technique including The Narcissism of the Analyst Hysteria The Recovery of the Good Object Relationship Meaning and Meaningfulness Cruelty and Narrowmindedness The Value of Reconstruction in Adult Psychoanalysis The second half of the book documents three of the clinical seminars and covers the transgenerational transmission of trauma the analysis of borderline pathology and the psychoanalytical approach to severely deprived patients This collection will be welcomed by all psychoanalysts and psychotherapists and other members of the helping professions interested in investigating the valuable contribution that Eric Brenman has made to contemporary psychoanalysis Roar Softly and Carry a Great Lipstick Autumn Stephens, 2011-02-09 The title of this anthology riffs on Teddy Roosevelt's phallogocentric motto Speak softly and carry a big stick Few American women today are interested in cultivating a Teddyesque machismo but in Roar Softly women writers recount witty and poignant tales of modern day survival from finding love and sex as a single mom to overcoming anorexia to adopting a child Not only do their stories offer reassurance that no woman is alone in her struggles but they also suggest better battle strategies more womanly battle strategies if you will for those who shrink from the muscle your way through approach As each essay demonstrates women can overcome the challenges of their lives not only with strength but also with grace Contributors include Anne Lamott Edwidge Danticat Mary Roach Elizabeth Fishel Laura Fraser and Anneli Rufus A Phenomenology of Love and Hate Peter Hadreas, 2016-03-23 Using phenomenology to uncover the implicit logic in personal love sexual love and hatred Peter Hadreas provides new insights into the uniqueness of the beloved and offers fresh explanations for some of the worst outbreaks of violence and hatred in modern times Topics discussed include the value and subjectivity of personal love nudity and the temporality of sexual love the connection between personal sexual love and the incest taboo the development of group focused hatred from individual focused hatred and prejudicial discrimination The work encompasses analysis of philosophers and writers from ancient times through to the present day and examines such episodes as the Oklahoma City Federal Building bombing and the Columbine High School massacre Codependent Forevermore
