Monument In A Summer Hat:

Monument in a Summer Hat James Armstrong, 1999 Poetry In James Armstrong's pellucid poetry the drifting of autumn leaves shares space with the baroque architecture of nineteenth century England A woman peruses a book of pharmaceuticals in a coffee shop looking for hints of happiness And a naked woman wearing hip boots stares out of the 1940s in a photograph hung in a Michigan bar Twilight is always moving the shadows of our urban lives out toward the country our inherited past where a deer or a heron waits like an angel glimpsed through the fog Armstrong's poems elucidate the mystery and beauty of borders temporal and historical as well as geographical while his pastoral sensibility floods our senses with images of the natural world seemingly stopping time edifying us and helping us for a few moments anyway to transcend our enervated contemporary lives Reading this book is like diving into a deep lake It cleanses the soul O. Henry

Memorial Award Prize Stories Blanche Colton Williams, Harry Hansen, Herschel Brickell, 1920 Pioneer Cemeteries

Annette Stott, 2008-11-01 As pioneers attempted to settle and civilize the Wild West cemeteries became important cultural centers Filled with carved wooden headboards inscribed local stones and Italian marble statues cemeteries functioned as symbols of stability and progress toward a European inspired vision of Manifest Destiny As repositories of art and history these pioneer cemeteries tell the story of communities and visual culture emerging together within the developing landscape of the Old West Annette Stott traces this story through Rocky Mountain towns on the western frontier from the unkempt boot hills of the early mining camps and cattle settlements to the more refined fair mounts She shows how people from Asia Europe and the Americas contributed to the visual character of the mountain cemeteries and how the sepulchral garden functioned as an open air gallery of public sculpture at once a site for relaxation learning and social ritual Here widespread participation in a variety of ceremonies brought mountain communities together with a frequency almost unimaginable today Illustrated with eighty three striking photographs this book shows how the pioneer cemetery emerged as a site of public sculpture and cultural transmission in which each carved or molded monument played dual and sometimes conflicting public and private roles recording the community's history and values while memorializing individuals and events O. Henry

Memorial Award Prize Stories , 1920 The Family Guide to Colorado's National Parks and Monuments Carolyn Sutton, 2006

From the desert canyons to the mountains and western prairie Colorado's federally designated parklands offer the adventures of a lifetime With important details at your fingertips this comprehensive guide spotlights key attractions for parents and kids alike O. Henry Memorial Award Prize Stories of 1919 Various, 2019-12-02 The O Henry Memorial Award Prize Stories of 1919 is a distinguished anthology that showcases the year's finest short fiction reflecting the vibrancy and diversity of early 20th century American literature With contributions from notable authors like Willa Cather and Edwin Arlington Robinson the collection presents a tapestry of themes ranging from the everyday struggles of ordinary individuals to profound observations about society The literary style is marked by intricate plot twists and expertly crafted narratives reminiscent of O Henry's own hallmark wit and ingenuity thus providing a commentary on human nature and societal norms of the time. Compiled in honor of William Sydney Porter O Henry, this collection speaks to the author's pursuit of capturing the essence of American life through compelling storytelling. O Henry's enduring legacy as a master of the short story is evident in the careful selection of works that resonate with his stylistic influences while also embracing the evolving literary landscape that includes themes of modernism and realism prevalent during this period. Readers are encouraged to immerse themselves in this anthology not only for its rich literary value but also for the opportunity to explore the historical context of post World War I America. This collection stands as a testament to the enduring power of storytelling, making it an essential read for anyone interested in the evolution of the short story form.

Wright Brothers National Memorial Douglas Stover, Darrell Collins, 2019-12-02 Wilbur and Orville Wright made the world's first successful controlled heavier than air powered flight on December 17, 1903, after four years of glider experiments and scientific study. At what is now the Wright Brothers National Memorial, the brothers discovered and developed the fundamental principles of mechanical flight, setting in motion a series of events that allowed the first generation of flight to travel from Kitty Hawk to the moon in the lifetime of a human being. Located in Kill Devil Hills, North Carolina, and administered by the National Park Service, the Wright Brothers National Memorial features a full-scale reproduction of the 1903 flying machine, an engine block from the original 1903 flyer, and a precise reproduction of the wind tunnel that the Wrights used to conduct their early experiments. Today, the park's mission is to commemorate the Wrights' success and to interpret the continuing worldwide significance of their dream, vision, and achievement.

Summer (1917) by Edith Wharton Edith Wharton, 2018-10-21 Summer is a novel by Edith Wharton published in 1917 by Charles Scribner's Sons. The story is one of only two novels by Wharton to be set in New England, who was best known for her portrayals of upper-class New York society. The novel details the sexual awakening of its protagonist, Charity Royall, and shares many plot similarities with Wharton's better-known novel Ethan Frome. Only moderately well received when originally published, Summer has had a resurgence in critical popularity since the 1960s.

The Frightened Land Jennifer Benningfield, 2006-11-07 An investigation into the spatial politics of separation and division in South Africa, principally during the apartheid years, and the effects of these physical and conceptual barriers on the land. In contrast to the weight of literature focusing on post-apartheid South Africa, the focus of this book includes the spatial, political, and cultural landscape, practices of the apartheid government, and also refers to contemporary work done in Australia, England, and the US. It probes the uncertainty and ambiguity of identities and cultures in post-apartheid society in order to gain a deep understanding of the history that individuals and society now confront. Drawing on a wealth of research materials, including literature, maps, newspapers, monuments, architectural drawings, government legislation, tourist brochures, political writing, and oral histories, this book is well illustrated throughout and is a unique commentary on the spatial politics of a time of enormous change.
