South Africa in World History Iris Berger, 2009-03-27 This volume begins in the early centuries of the Common Era with the various groups of people who had settled in southern Africa Stone Age foragers farmers with iron technology and pastoralists all interacted to create a complex society before Europeans arrived In the seventeenth century Dutch settlers developed a colonial society based on the menial labor of indigenous inhabitants of the Cape and slaves imported from the East Indies and other parts of Africa British conquest in the early nineteenth century brought an end to slavery as well as new forms of colonial domination tension between the British and the original Dutch settlers armed struggle between expanding European communities and Africans including the highly militarized Zulu kingdom and intensive missionary activity that transformed many African societies The discovery of diamonds and gold in the late nineteenth century brought industrialization based on migrant labor new clashes between British and Africaaners the final conquest of African societies and new European migrants During the twentieth century despite further economic development African communities were increasingly impoverished New forms of racial domination lead to the implementation of apartheid in 1948 and heightened political organizing among both African and Africaaner nationalists The intensification of resistance in the 1970s and 80s coupled with drastic changes in the international balance of power brought an end to the apartheid state in 1994 and an intensified struggle to overcome apartheid s economic and political legacy by building a new nonracial society The book emphasizes social and cultural history focusing on people s interactions and identities according to race class gender religion and ethnicity It also addresses changes in literature both oral and written music and the arts and draws on the extensive biographical and autobiographical literature to provide a personal focus for the discussion of major themes While this emphasis reflects dominant trends in historical scholarship for the past two decades it also includes recent material on environmental history and relationships between African Americans and South Africans Where relevant it highlights comparisons between South African and U S history
