Type Form & Function Jason Tselentis, 2011-03-01 Type Form and Function is a useful comprehensive typography resource that both students and professional designers should have in their library. It looks at the influences of modern typography and symbols going back through time and examines certain type treatments and movements in design and logo types. It focuses on how type works and emphasizes typographic fundamentals while touching on logo, logotype design and page layout, print and interactive. This book promises to guide designers through the visual typographic clutter to make their designed messages more meaningful. Historical Method and Confessional Identity in the Era of the Reformation (1378-1615) Irena Backus, 2021-10-11 This volume deals with the basic problem of how theologians of all confessions handled ancient mainly Christian history in the Reformation era. The author argues that far from being a mere tool of religious controversy, history was used throughout the 16th century to express profound religious and theological convictions and that historians and theologians of different confessions sought to define their religious identity by recourse to a particular historical method. By carefully comparing the types of historical documents produced by Calvinist, Lutheran and Roman Catholic circles, she throws a new light on patristic editions and manuals, the Centuries of Magdeburg, the Ecclesiastical Annals of Caesar Baronius and various collections of New Testament Apocrypha. Much of this material is examined here for the first time. The book substantially revises existing preconceptions about Reformation historiography and view of the past.

Misal Español Ingles Latin Antonio José Quintana Velasco, 2020-03-27 Spanish English latin completed Indirizzi Collettivi, 1861 Angelinetum and Other Poems Giovanni Marrasio, 2016-06-13 Giovanni Marrasio was esteemed in the Renaissance as the first to revive the ancient Latin elegy and his Angelinetum or Angelina's Garden and other poems explores that genre in all its variety from love poetry to a description of a court masque to political panegyric to poetic exchanges with famous humanists of the day. P. Vergili Maronis Opera* Virgil, 1883 God and History in the Early Medieval West Robert A. H. Evans, 2025-08-01 While virtually all early medieval historians wrote about God, they did not do so in the same way. Rather than taking their comments about God at face value, then, as has been the case in much work on medieval history, writing they are deserving of closer scrutiny with implications not simply for how we understand the key narrative sources for early medieval history but also the cultures in which they originated. Seeking to fill this historiographical gap, this book explores through the prolific writing of historians in the Carolingian Empire how historians in early medieval societies thought about God and what this meant for themselves and their audiences. It argues that although Carolingian historians wrote about God's agency with tremendous literary subtlety while reflecting complex theological ideas and attempting to intervene into challenging political realities in many respects, they also broke with the example of early Christian historians from Late Antiquity which demonstrates that writing about God was neither a uniform nor inevitable part of early medieval history writing As well as yielding new insights into the nature of these crucial primary sources this analysis helps to provide an overdue examination of the complex relationship between religion and history writing in early medieval societies The book demonstrates that comments about God cannot be reduced to mere political propaganda or even moralistic encouragements for early medieval Christians to lead better lives Instead it argues that these historians sought to communicate a robust theology of divine activity which was relevant and useful for those involved in the often threatening world of Carolingian public life
