Power And Emotion In Infant Toddler Day Care Early Childhood Education Inquiries Insights:

Power and Emotion in Infant-Toddler Day Care Robin Lynn Leavitt, 1994-01-01 Robin Lynn Leavitt presents in a provocative ethnography the lived experiences of infants and toddlers in day care centers. This text speaks to researchers and instructors interested in infancy, early childhood socialization, child care, and interpretive research. Leavitt's original application of multiple theoretical perspectives—interpretive interactionist, critical feminist, and postmodern—yields powerful insights into the problematic emotional experiences and relations between infants and their caregivers. The day care center is described as an institution that imposes a temporal and spatial regime on the lives of infants and toddlers. Vivid descriptions illustrate how caregivers create problematic situations for the children as they exercise unyielding power in the rigid management and control of the daily routines and play of children. As Leavitt documents the experiences of our youngest children, she engages in a philosophical exploration of the meanings of emotionally responsive, empowering care in group settings. Her analysis points to the need to care for caregivers and for caregiving to become a self-reflective activity.

Handbook of Research on the Education of Young Children Bernard Spodek, Olivia N. Saracho, 2014-01-27 The Handbook of Research on the Education of Young Children is the essential reference on research on early childhood education throughout the world. This singular resource provides a comprehensive overview of important contemporary issues as well as the information necessary to make informed judgments about these issues. The field has changed significantly since the publication of the second edition, and this third edition of the handbook takes care to address the entirety of vital new developments. A valuable tool for all those who work and study in the field of early child. Reconceptualizing Literacy in the New Age of Multiculturalism and Pluralism Patricia Ruggiano Schmidt, Peter B. Mosenthal, 2001-07-01 This book offers a array of essays with challenging ideas and provoking new analyses of power asymmetries, multiple epistemologies, and vital concerns for the education of a different America: the America of new immigrants, people of color, and other cultures.

languages and values The new American that many want to ignore and is becoming the only America This book also forces us to reflect on the educational challenges we must face especially in teacher education and the preparation of intellectual leaders None of the major agenda items associated with a new era of social justice can be either comprehended or accomplished without a profound understanding of multicultural literacy and of its relationship to ethnic racial cultural and linguistic diversity While in previous decades we used frequently a rhetoric of multiculturalism at a safe distance today we are living multiculturalism and practicing ethnic cultural and racial diversity in our daily lives as we seek a marriage partner a business associate a friend a church Most of all we must live multiculturalism as we go school and see children s faces There is no way to escape the reality of ethnic racial and linguistic diversity as it comes entangled with many other cultural and class differences between and within each group we encounter Suddenly an abrupt awakening for many mainstream educators what was peculiar of some areas in the Southwest has become common scenario in most metropolis and large cities The present volume brings us face to face with issues and challenges we can no longer sweep under the rug This outstanding volume lays down a solid general conceptual foundation that permits us to link our theoretical past with the post modern era It also provides a clear context for the discussion of contrasting notions of monocultural literacy and the relationship of literacy and power The volume goes on to deal with the relationship of literacy and culture actually to specific cultures especially African American At this point the discourse turns to strategies for incorporating minority perspectives into the literacy curriculum and including the home cultures of disenfranchised peoples The last section of the book offers help on the practical issues of teacher education for student populations often ignored and linkages between schools and homes in order to empower the disenfranchised and isolated and Heard Ellen Lynn Hall,Jennifer Kofkin Rudkin,2011-01-13 Using examples from a Reggio inspired school with children from ages 6 weeks to 6 years the authors emphasize the importance of children s rights and our responsibility as adults to hear their voices Seen and Heard summarizes research and theory pertaining to young children s rights in the United States and offers strategies educators can use to ensure the inclusion of children s perspectives in everyday decisions Real life classroom vignettes illustrate how young children perceive the idea of rights through observation and discussion The authors work is based on these essential ideas 1 the one hundred languages children use for exploring discovering constructing representing and conveying their ideas 2 the pedagogy of listening in which children and adults carefully attend to the world and to one another 3 the notion that all children have the right to participate in the communities in which they reside

Partnership with Parents in Early Childhood Settings Liz Hryniewicz,Paulette Luff,2020-10-29 Partnership with Parents in Early Childhood Settings examines how practitioners can work effectively with parents and families acknowledging the complex nature of these relationships Drawing on policy research and practice from kindergartens and early years settings in five European countries it provides insight into how political social and cultural contexts affect the relationships between educators and families and the impact this has on children's early experiences. The book is based upon learning from an Erasmus mobility project between educators from five countries in OMEP, the World Organisation for Early Childhood Education. It presents examples from practice and research from the different countries and highlights some positive and practical ways in which professionals can work with parents as well as potential barriers to parental partnership and how these might be overcome. Each section focuses on a different country and allows for a detailed exploration into how relationships are developed and sustained for the benefit of young children and their families in different places. Throughout the reader is encouraged to reflect on their current understanding of parental partnership and how they can plan for positive parental partnership working in the future. This thought-provoking text will be an indispensable resource for students of early childhood and teachers and practitioners as well as academics and those with an interest in early years social and educational policy. Teachers' and Families' Perspectives in Early Childhood Education and Care Sivan Phillips

Phillipson, Susanne Garvis, 2019-01-30. The second volume in this Early Childhood Education in the 21st Century International Teaching Family and Policy Perspectives miniseries focuses on teacher and family perspectives of early childhood education and care from 19 different countries around the world. The aim of this volume is to articulate the key components of teacher education and family practices that impact young children's education and care. Each country featured in this volume presents its own unique perspective in relation to the cultural and societal constraints around teacher training and/or family practices and the thinking around those practices that are important for early childhood development. Offering a unique insight into how teachers and families work together in different countries, the book is essential reading for early childhood educators, researchers, early childhood organisations, policy makers and those interested to know more about early childhood within an international perspective.
