The Black Rose Thomas B. Costain,2019-01-13 THE BLACK ROSE sprang out of Thomas B Costain s fascination for two magnificent figures of the 13th century who lived at opposite ends of the world Bayan of the Hundred Eyes the greatest most colourful general of the Mongol armies and Roger Bacon the most famous of the early scientists To fill in the background with authentic details Mr Costain read or consulted over 500 books as well as numerous documents and diaries He even employed a Chinese scholar and a research worker who could read medieval Latin and French But when he came to weave his tale around the real people and events he found his characters running away with the story and turning history into high adventure and romance The result is a superb love story bridging East and West and filled with the tang of the most sought after spice in the Orient the black rose The American Rose Annual American Rose Society,1922 Georgia from National Awakening to Rose Revolution Jonathan Wheatley,2017-05-15 Jonathan Wheatley examines the tortuous process of regime change in Georgia from the first pro independence protests of 1988 to the aftermath of the so called Rose Revolution in 2004 It is set within a comparative framework that includes other transition countries particularly those in the former Soviet Union The book provides two important theoretical innovations the notion of a regime which is an under theorized concept in the field of transition literature and O Donnell Schmitter and Karl s notion of a dynamic actor driven transition The volume turns to the structural constraints that framed the transition in Georgia and in other republics of the former Soviet Union by looking at the state and society in the USSR at the close of the Soviet period It examines the evolution and nature of the Georgian regime and ultimately addresses the theoretical and empirical problems posed by Georgia s so called Rose Revolution following the falsification of parliamentary elections by the incumbent authorities
