Handbook of Geophysical Exploration Enders A. Robinson, 1984 Seismic Inversion & Deconvolution: Classical methods Enders A. Robinson, 1984 The objective of seismic exploration is to delineate the subsurface structure of the earth A large variety of computer processing methods are available to transform the observed seismic data into a form that is more useful to the seismic interpreter An important subdivision of these methods comes under the heading Seismic Inversion and Deconvolution Most seismic data are recorded either by geophone that measures particle velocity or else by hydrophone that measures pressure A dual sensor incorporates both a geophone and a hydrophone so simultaneous measurements of both particle velocity and pressure are obtained Unprecedented improvements in inversion and deconvolution are made possible through the use of Dual Sensor Technology The purpose of Seismic Inversion and Deconvolution Part B Dual Sensor Technology is to provide the fundamentals of dual sensor technology Previous work together with new results are brought together into a self contained whole By using dual sensors in the acquisition of seismic data new avenues are opened up that revolutionize all aspects of seismic inversion and deconvolution Dual sensor technology can lead to images of the subsurface of the earth that were previously thought unattainable The implications for the oil industry are far reaching Great new reserves of petroleum are waiting to be discovered through the use of dual sensor technology Today the main application of this work is with ocean bottom cable OBC methods However it is anticipated that dual sensor technology will soon be applied not only to all aspects of seismic oil exploration but also to other disciplines involved with remote sensing Seismic Inversion and Deconvolution Enders A. Seismic Inversion and Deconvolution E. A. Robinson, 1984-06 This book presents the theoretical and applied foundations of seismic inversion and deconvolution in a unified mathematical framework The Kunetz and Gelfand Levitan inversion schemes are presented together with the associated computational method of dynamic deconvolution Nonlinear and time varying models of the reflection seismogram are developed together with the various approximations that reduce them to the time invariant convolution model which forms the basis of classical deconvolution Seismic Inversion & Deconvolution: Dual-sensor technology Enders A. work together with new results are brought together. Deconvolution and Inversion M. Bernabini, 1991-01-15 This book represents the proceedings of a research workshop on Deconvolution and Inversion held in Rome September 1986. The meeting was jointly sponsored by the European Association of Exploration Geophysicists, the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, the National Research Council in Italy and the National Science Foundation in the United States. The stated objective of the workshop was to elucidate interaction between linear and non linear deconvolution techniques and modern seismic inversion methods. The volume also includes papers which were especially invited. Optimal Seismic Deconvolution Jerry M. Mendel, 1983. Optimal Seismic Deconvolution: An Estimation Based Approach presents an approach to the problem of seismic deconvolution. It is meant for two different audiences: practitioners of recursive estimation theory and geophysical signal processors. The book opens with a chapter on elements of minimum variance estimation that are essential for all later developments. Included is a derivation of the Kalman filter and discussions of prediction and smoothing. Separate chapters follow on minimum variance deconvolution, maximum likelihood and maximum a posteriori estimation methods, the philosophy of maximum likelihood, and the philosophy of maximum a posteriori estimation. Practical Wavelet Deconvolution and Seismic Inversion C. R. T. Ramsden, 1987. Seismic Data Analysis, 2000.
