Religious Symbolism And Its Universal Character:

God's Wounds Jeff B Pool, 2011-07-28 God's Wounds Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering Volume I Divine Vulnerability and Creation is the first of a three volume study of Christian testimonies to divine suffering. The larger study focuses its inquiry on the testimonies to divine suffering themselves seeking to allow the voices that attest to divine suffering to speak freely. The goal is then to discover and elucidate the internal logic or rationality of this family of testimonies rather than defending these attestations against the dominant claims of classical Christian theism that have historically sought to eliminate such language altogether from Christian discourse about the nature and life of God. In this first volume the author develops an approach to interpreting the contested claims about the suffering of God. Through this approach to the Christian symbol of divine suffering he then investigates the two major presuppositions that the larger family of testimonies to divine suffering normally hold: an understanding of God through the primary metaphor of love; God is love and an understanding of the human as created in the image of God with a life though finite analogous to the divine life, the imago Dei as love. When fully elaborated these presuppositions reveal the conditions of possibility for divine suffering and divine vulnerability with respect to creation.

The Principle of Analogy in Protestant and Catholic Theology Battista Mondin, 2013-06-29 In recent years there has been a remarkable revival of interest in the doctrine of analogy and many important studies on this doctrine have appeared in the form of articles and books. Today many of the greatest living philosophers and theologians consider some sort of analogy to be an indispensable tool for any fruitful research in metaphysics and theology. In this atmosphere we are sure that a study of the history of the principle of analogy in Protestant and Catholic theology is welcome. This is one of the reasons for the present undertaking. A second reason for this study is to seek to divert the ecumenical dialogue from secondary questions and to direct it to an area where it is necessary to agree in order to be one. The title of our work is somewhat misleading; it may lead one to believe that it deals with all Catholic and Protestant theologians of past and present. Actually it does not. It deals only with some of the major figures of Catholic and Protestant theology. It concentrates especially on Aquinas' analogy of intrinsic attribution, on Barth's analogy of faith, and on Tillich's symbolic analogy. It attempts to compare and evaluate these three theological methods from the standpoint of determining their adequacy to interpret the God-creature relation and to justify the use of theological language.
