place in settings both exterior and interior that deeply impacted our experiences of his most unforgettable works. From the enclosed spaces of Rope and Rear Window to the wide open expanses of North by Northwest, the physical worlds inhabited by desperate characters are a crucial element in our perception of the Hitchcockian universe. As Christine Madrid French reveals in this original and indispensable book, Hitchcock's relation to the built world was informed by an intense engagement with location and architectural form in an era marked by modernism's advance, fueled by some of the most creative midcentury designers. In film, Hitchcock saw elements of the built world not just as scenic devices but as interactive areas to frame narrative exchanges. In his films, building forms also serve a sentient purpose to capture and convey feelings, sensations, and moments that generate an emotive response from the viewer. Visualizing the contemporary built landscape allowed the director to illuminate Americans' everyday experiences as well as their own uncertain relationship with their environment and with each other. French shares several untold stories, such as the real-life suicide outside the Hotel Empire in Vertigo, which foreshadowed uncannily that film's tragic finale, and takes us to the actual buildings that served as the inspiration for Psycho's infamous Bates Motel. Her analysis of North by Northwest uncovers the Frank Lloyd Wright underpinnings for Robert Boyle's design of the modernist house from the film's celebrated Mount Rushmore sequence and ingeniously establishes the Vandamm House as the prototype of the cinematic trope of the villain's lair. She also shows how the widespread unemployment of the 1930s resulted in a surge of gifted architects transplanting their careers into the film industry. These practitioners created sets that drew from contemporary design schools of thought and referenced real structures, both modern and historic. The Architecture of Suspense is the first book to document how these great architectural minds found expression in Hitchcock's films and how the director used their talents and his own unique vision to create an enduring and evocative cinematic world. Publication of this volume was assisted by a grant from the J. M. Kaplan Fund.

The Spirit of Our Work Cynthia B. Dillard, 2021-11-16 An exploration of how engaging identity and cultural heritage can transform teaching and learning for Black women educators in the name of justice and freedom in the classroom. In The Spirit of Our Work, Dr. Cynthia Dillard centers the spiritual lives of Black women educators and their students, arguing that spirituality has guided Black people throughout the diaspora. She demonstrates how Black women teachers and teacher educators can heal, resist, and remember their identities in ways that are empowering for them and their students. Dillard emphasizes that any discussion of Black teachers' lives and work cannot be limited to truncated identities as enslaved persons in the Americas. The Spirit of Our Work addresses questions that remain largely invisible in what is known about teaching and teacher education. According to Dillard, this invisibility renders the powerful approaches to Black education that are embodied and marshaled by Black women teachers unknown and largely unavailable to inform policy, practice, and theory in education. The Spirit of Our Work highlights how the intersectional identities of Black women teachers matter in teaching and learning and how educational settings might more carefully and conscientiously curate structures of support that pay explicit and necessary attention to spirituality as a crucial consideration      All Things Human Stuart Benton, 2014-08-20 Here is a remarkable vintage tour de force of the Fifties in which Stuart Benton explores the range of human experience from the sublime to the exotically degrading Marriage illicit love the uneasy relationship between children and parents business success and failure a trial for murder a descent into the underworld of society and later ascent to the delights of a swiftly moving jaded society set all these can be found in the fabric of All Things Human John Stuart Kent is a millionaire banker and aesthete living out the Indian Summer of his life as the shape of his future is altered by five extraordinary women Helen his young wife a resentful Galatea whose pathological jealousy cools their relationship Sylvia a fascinating and magnanimous Wagnerian singer with flaming red hair and a fresh attitude toward love Aimee a courtesan par excellence Edda Kent's secretary sweet young and unashamed who fumbles into scandalous catastrophe Ivy a sophisticate of enormous wealth and esoteric accomplishments John Stuart Kent endures a Faust like descent to a modern mechanized Hell experiencing all the humiliations and betrayals of modern society and its strange criminal procedures on his way In the fight for his good name and his liberty Kent must use all of his charm and wit and enlist the help of a few friends or he could be stuck in the abyss of the criminal system forever      Writing for Academic Journals 4e Rowena Murray, 2019-11-16 This comprehensive guide to writing journal articles addresses all the stages and recurring challenges from targeting a journal to dealing with reviewer feedback Drawing on many years of running Writing for Publication workshops Murray explores not only style and structure but also behaviours and emotions As a key component of both research courses and careers this timely text also addresses the struggle to make time for high quality academic writing and how to ensure a writing life balance Examining a variety of approaches relevant to many different academic disciplines this core text demystifies and defines writing practices and makes this form of high stakes academic writing seem manageable Writing for journals has never been more competitive and writers researchers practitioners and students need expert guidance on productive practices and ways of maintaining focus and motivation which Murray provides This latest edition is completely updated and more relevant than ever for clinicians practitioners and students This book was already a classic but the update makes it even more useful From finding time to write doing a short literature review and identifying scam journals Rowena Murray provides an excellent concise and accessible companion for writing academic journal papers which is appropriate for both students and working academics Associate Professor Inger Mewburn Director of Research Training The Australian National University Australia Rowena Murray has approached publishing in a journal with scientific rigour Following this book's recommendations will make it impossible to find a convincing excuse for failure to publish She herself writes with a high level of artisanal skill this book is fast paced stylish and highly readable Her own extensive experience in supporting journal article writers tempers this book with the credibility of a seasoned veteran Best of all there is a wealth of wisdom here in advising on how to publish Murray is also advising on how to live a satisfying life as a writer Associate Professor Susan
