The Routledge Handbook of Archaeoethanatology Christopher J. Knüsel, Eline M. J. Schotsmans, 2022-04-28 The Routledge Handbook of Archaeoethanatology spans the gap between archaeology and biological anthropology the field and laboratory and between francophone and anglophone funerary archaeological approaches to the remains of the dead and the understanding of societies past and present Interest in archaeoethanatology has grown considerably in recent years in English language scholarship This timely publication moves away from anecdotal case studies to offer syntheses of archaeoethanatomical approaches with an eye to higher level inferences about funerary behaviour and its meaning in the past Written by francophone scholars who have contributed to the development of the field and anglophone scholars inspired by the approach this volume offers detailed insight into the background and development of archaeoethanatology its theory methods applications and its most recent advances with a lexicon of related vocabulary This volume is a key source for archaeo anthropologists and bioarchaeologists It will benefit researchers lecturers practitioners and students in biological anthropology archaeology taphonomy and forensic science Given the interdisciplinary nature of these disciplines and the emphasis placed on analysis in situ this book will also be of interest to specialists in entomology micro biology and soil science The Rogers Family History Robert Page, 2012-11-22 This is the family tree of the Rogers family of Northam Southampton showing over thirty generations but remembering that at 30 generations there is 1 000 000 000 grandparents making it look like everyone in the UK is interrelated in some small way Views from the Margins Kevin J. Callahan, Sarah Ann Curtis, 2008-01-01 What does it mean to be French What constitutes Frenchness Is it birth language attachment to republicanism adherence to cultural norms In contemporary France these questions resonate in light of the large number of non French and non European immigrants many from former French colonies who have made France home in recent decades Historically French identity has long been understood as the product of a centralized state and culture emanating from Paris that was itself central to European history and civilization Likewise French identity in terms of class gender nationality and religion mainly has been explained as a strong indivisible core against which marginal actors have been defined This collection of essays offers examples drawn from an imperial history of France that show the power of the periphery to shape diverse and dynamic modern French identities at its center Each essay explains French identity as a fluid process rather than a category into which French citizens and immigrants are expected to fit In using a core periphery framework to explore identity creation Views from the Margins breaks new ground in bringing together diverse historical topics from politics religion regionalism consumerism nationalism and gendered aspects of civic and legal engagement The Dynamics of

Regional Innovation Yveline Lecler, Tetsuo Yoshimoto, 2012 All over the world open innovation is emerging and requires much more interactions between different actors with different organizational cultures large firms and SMEs i.e. industry universities and research institutions i.e. academia as well as national and regional authorities for building the legal or incentive framework of innovation i.e. government Certainly flows of knowledge between these three spheres which are also known as the triple helix have always existed but what appears to be new in an open innovation environment is the overlapping of their missions In many areas such multi actor interactions with overlapping roles did not emerge spontaneously as was the case with the United States Based on robust cases studied by researchers and practical experiences of personnel involved in innovation at public or private institutions this book successively discusses the policy framework in Europe and Japan the new role for universities due to intellectual property reform or technology transfer promotion the new challenges for firms in terms of licensing patents corporate venturing including entrepreneurship incubation venture capital or cross industry knowledge sharing All issues addressed in this book are clearly those toward regional innovation policies and practices that are open in nature It contains descriptions and analysis of the various approaches taken by industrial governmental and academic players in various regions of Japan Tohoku Tokyo and Europe France Belgium The mix of theoretical and empirical material collected in this book was first presented at an international symposium in Tokyo The dynamics of regional innovation is an on going issue and we are still standing at the threshold of this field of research It is exactly why such a book is needed now
