Finger Rhymes for Holidays, Seasons, and Celebrations Lily Erlic, 2010-09-01 Poetry is valuable for stimulating the young child's brain growth. Combine poetry with fun movements and you have an effective way to actively involve children in exploring celebrations of all cultures around the world. What fun your children will have as they pretend to play musical instruments, steer a ship, look through a telescope, plant a tree, be a groundhog, fly on a broomstick, spin a dreidel, or march in a band. You can add any of the suggested small props: ribbons, small bells, maracas, miniature flags, and party hats to the rhymes to help build large motor skills and increase the fun factor even more. A CD with the various rhymes being sung is included that provides either appropriate background music for use for singing the rhymes and/or performing the movements.

Wise at Heart Richard Steckel, Michele Steckel, Brody Hartman, 2011-03 Gathers statements from children around the world and twenty noteworthy adults including Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Walter Cronkite, and Frances Moore Lappe on behavior, peace, and interpersonal relationships and nature and the environment. The Young and Field Literary Readers

Ella Flagg Young, Walter Taylor Field, 1914 Reading and Writing Pathways through Children's and Young Adult Literature Alicia Curtin, 2022-07-29 This thought-provoking book will provide masters, students, teachers, and researchers with a toolkit and theoretical framework for teaching literacy through children's literature. It features innovative ideas for developing student and teacher experiences with literature and popular culture texts in the classroom, providing practical examples and teaching aids throughout. Taking a collaborative approach, Curtin explores how teachers and learners can engage with literature and its authors for the development of literacy in classroom practice. Connecting reader and writer identities and worlds through interviews with and suggested classroom activities from authors themselves, this text combines author, teacher, and learner perspectives in the development of creative pedagogies that extend understandings of literacy beyond reading, writing, and text. Exploring fairy tales, comic books, and graphic novels, children living in literature, i.e., texts which portray children, their lives, and experiences, popular culture, young adult fiction, and non-fiction, and digital texts such as blogs, etc., this text develops a sociocultural understanding of literacy as a lived and contextually dependent practice where meaning is derived through relationships between people, settings, and culture. Different contexts for literacy are explored, including reading and writing strategically to learn about literacy and literature widely for personal purposes and deeply to transform understanding. Short 2011 This text will be an invaluable resource for teachers, researchers, or anyone interested in reading and writing stories. The author interviews will also be of particular interest to older learners themselves as a way to develop their understanding of their own reading and writing practices. Pedagogies can be adapted to any age group ranging from the early years to young adult. A Mom After God's Own Heart Elizabeth George, 2005-07-01 Mom, You Guide Their Hearts.
