Two Hundred and Fifty Years of the Wadsworth Family in America Horace Andrew Wadsworth,1883 South Yorkshire Mining Villages Melvyn Jones,2017-07-30 Over a period of more than 150 years between the late eighteenth century and the 1930s the South Yorkshire rural landscape was transformed by coal mining and the movement of coal But it was not just the development of collieries canals and railways that caused this transformation The population of the coalfield grew at a phenomenal rate and the new mining population many of them migrants from other parts of the country had to be housed near to the collieries where they worked Small residential colonies were built near the new collieries existing rural villages expanded new satellite villages were established and completely new mining communities were created the later ones carefully planned and laid out in the form of geometrically designed estates This copiously illustrated book explores the history of the physical and social development of these very varied mining communities drawing on a wide variety of sources It is the first book to cover this subject and includes topics such as the settlement that was specifically built for blackleg miners the development in one village of a large Welsh speaking colony how Earl Fitzwilliam housed his colliers and their families and the views of well known writers like Fred Kitchen Roger Dataller and George Orwell on the colliery villages The book will be of great interest not only to readers living in South Yorkshire but also to the descendants of South Yorkshire miners now living in other parts of the country and elsewhere Language and a Sense of Place Chris

Montgomery,Emma Moore,2017-05-25 Place has always been central to studies of language variation and change Since the eighteenth century dialectologists have been mapping language features according to boundaries both physical and institutional In the twentieth century variationist sociolinguists developed techniques to correlate language use with speakers orientations to place More recently perceptual dialectologists are examining the cognitive and ideological processes involved in language place correlations and working on ways to understand how speakers mentally process space Bringing together research from across the field of language variation this volume explores the extent of twenty first century approaches to place It features work from both established and influential scholars and up and coming researchers and brings language variation research up to date The volume focuses on four key areas of research processes of language variation and change across time and space methods and datasets for regional analysis perceptions of the local in language research and ideological representations of place South Yorkshire Joseph Hunter,1831 The Victoria History of
