Seeing Through Writing:

Seeing through Texts Francis X. Clooney, SJ, 1996-07-03 Seeing through Texts invites us into the world of south Indian Hinduism through a study of 100 songs of the Tiruv ymoli the great masterpiece of the ninth century Hindu saint Sa k pan These unique songs dedicated to the Hindu god Vi u K a lead us through poetic and imaginative philosophical and moral reflections on the nature of the self and the world ancient myths and temple worship and the mystical moods of longing desire and love in which one seeks loses and finds again the God who loves us first The book is also a study of the interpretation of the Tiruv ymoli in the traditional Hindu rivai ava commentaries of the twelfth fourteenth centuries as well as a comparative theological study which explores the implication of the songs and their commentaries for readers from outside the rivai ava tradition

Writing and Seeing Rui Manuel G. de Carvalho Homem, Maria de Fátima Lambert, 2006 The essays in this volume are informed by a variety of theoretical assumptions and of critical methodologies but they all share an interest in the intersections of word and image in a variety of media This unifying rationale secures the present collection s central position in the current critical context defined as it predominantly is by ways of reading that are based on a relational nexus The intertextual the intermedial the intersemiotic are indeed foregrounded and combined in these essays conceptually as much as in the critical practices favoured by the various contributions Studies of literature in its relation to pictorial genres enjoy a relative prominence in the volume but the range of media and of approaches considered is broad enough to include photography film video television comic strips animated film public art material culture The backgrounds of contributors are likewise diverse culturally academically linguistically The volume combines contributions by prominent scholars and critics with essays by younger scholars from a variety of backgrounds The resulting plurality of perspective is indeed a source of new insights into the relations between writing and seeing and it contributes to making this collection an exciting new contribution to word and image studies

Exploring Creativity Through Writing Alan Maley, Sharoon Sunny, 2025-08-01 The book explores the nature of human creativity and its importance in education with reference to past and ongoing work on creativity theory It aims to direct the attention of teachers to the need for creativity in education by dispelling the mystique surrounding it and the feelings of inadequacy or apprehension it may evoke in educators particularly in the Asia region The book offers an introduction to creativity in writing the rationale for including it in language programmes the benefits it can bestow and the results it can produce as well as dealing with common objections to it It divides creative writing into two major sections poetry and stories followed by a copious set of varied classroom activities For each activity a standard format is adopted to offer teachers maximum support in implementing the procedures including supplementary comments on each activity It is distinct for its accessibility and clarity its abundance of practical and ready to use classroom activities and its unique combination of theoretical underpinnings and practical implementation This book will be useful to students pre service teachers and researchers who are new to the teaching of English Language both in the Asian context and in the wider world It will also be an essential companion to practicing in service teachers and Teacher Trainers to further sharpen their concepts and skills Seeing Through Writing William E. Coles, Seeing Through the Veil Suzanne Conklin Akbari, 2004-01-01 During the later Middle Ages new optical theories were introduced that located the power of sight not in the seeing subject but in the passive object of vision This shift had a powerful impact not only on medieval science but also on theories of knowledge and this changing relationship of vision and knowledge was a crucial element in late medieval religious devotion In Seeing through the Veil Suzanne Conklin Akbari examines several late medieval allegories in the context of contemporary paradigm shifts in scientific and philosophical theories of vision After a survey on the genre of allegory and an overview of medieval optical theories Akbari delves into more detailed studies of several medieval literary works including the Roman de la Rose Dante's Vita Nuova Convivio and Commedia and Chaucer's dream visions and Canterbury Tales The final chapter Division and Darkness centres on the legacy of allegory in the fifteenth century Offering a new interdisciplinary synthetic approach to late medieval intellectual history and to major works within the medieval literary canon Seeing through the Veil will be an essential resource to the study of medieval literature and culture as well as philosophy history of art and history of science Seeing Through Writing William E.
