Literature of Food Science and Human Nutrition

Jennie Brogdon,Wallace C. Olsen,1995 The fifth of a seven volume series The Literature of the Agricultural Sciences this book summarizes the development and trends in the published literature of food science and human nutrition over the last twenty five years Further the book delineates the differences and overlaps in knowledge and research between the fields Bibliotheca Nutritio Et Dieta, 1960 □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ ,1989 Plastic Films in Food Packaging Sina Ebnesajjad,2012-12-31 The value of the groceries purchases in the USA is over 500 billion annually most of which is accounted for by packaged foods Plastic packaging of foods is not only ubiquitous in developed economies but increasingly commonplace in the developing world where plastic packaging is instrumental in decreasing the proportion of the food supply lost to spoilage This new handbook is a combination of new material and updated chapters chosen by Dr Sina Ebnesajjad from recently published books on this subject Plastic Films in Food Packaging offers a practical handbook for engineers scientists and managers working in the food packaging industry providing a tailor made package of science and engineering fundamentals best practice techniques and guidance on new and emerging technologies By covering materials design packaging processes machinery and waste management together in one book the authors enable the reader to take a lifecycle approach to food packaging The Handbook addresses questions related to film grades types of packages for different types of foods packaging technologies machinery and waste management Additionally the book provides a review of new and emerging technologies Two chapters cover the development of barrier films for food packaging and the regulatory and safety aspects of food packaging Essential information and practical guidance for engineers and scientists working at all stages of the food packaging lifecycle from design through manufacture to recycling Includes key published material on plastic films in food packaging updated specifically for this Handbook and new material on the regulatory framework and safety aspects Coverage of materials and applications together in one handbook enables engineers and scientists to make informed design and manufacturing decisions Active Food Packaging M.L. Rooney, 2012-12-06 Food packaging materials have traditionally been chosen to avoid unwanted interactions with the food During the past two decades a wide variety of packaging materials have been devised or developed to interact with the food These packaging materials which are designed to perform some desired role other than to provide an inert barrier to outside influences are termed active packaging The benefits of active packaging are based on both chemical and physical effects Active packaging concepts have often been presented to the food industry with few supporting results of background research This manner of introduction has led to substantial uncertainty by potential users because claims have sometimes been based on extrapolation from what little proven information is available The forms of active packaging have been chosen to respond to various food properties which are often unrelated to one another For instance many packaging requirements for post harvest horticultural produce are quite different from those for most processed foods The object of this book is to introduce and consolidate information upon which active packaging concepts are based Scientists technologists students and regulators will find here the basis of those active packaging materials which are either commercial or proposed The book should assist the inquirer to understand how other concepts might be applied or where they should be rejected
