

RHETORICAL DEVICES

Epithet

An epithet is a word that summarises the most important thing in a person or event.

E.g. There are a lot of racially and sexually charged epithets that have brought a lot of pain and suffering to a lot of minorities.

Hyperbole

Another term of phrase for hyperbole is an exaggeration

E.g. when you are bored and don't want to do a specific task you might say, "This will take forever."

Metanoia

To make the statement more powerful, you correct the phrase you just used with another one to add emphasis

E.g. This is the best burger in town, even in the whole state.

Anacoluthon

Every time there is a sudden break, usually mid-sentence, an anacoluthon is formed.

E.g. I was cleaning my garden with - She screamed.

Anastrophe

Anastrophe is the willing inverse of the natural word order in a sentence.

E.g. Persuade you, I shall.

Epizeuxis

When you repeat the same word, again and again, to add emphasis to an emotion or state of mind.

E.g. This plate is yucky, yucky, yucky.

Litotes

This is used to state something positive with the use of a word or phrase usually reserved for a negative context.

E.g. I'm not unfamiliar with it.

Metaphor

Metaphor is used to compare to things that don't immediately spring to mind to give one of those things an added quality.

E.g. Brevity is the soul of wit.

Anadiplosis

Repeating a word or multiple words that have ended one sentence or grammatical structure at the beginning of your next sentence

E.g. I was driving the car. The car that I bought with my own money.

Apophysis

When a speaker brings something up by denying it

E.g. I'm not saying that this article is not a great work of art.

Antanacsis

When you repeat the same word again and again in a few sentences that follow each other, but the repeated word changes meaning in each new sentence or part of a grammatical structure.

E.g. Your argument is sound... all sound.

Rhetoric And Literature:

Handbook of Literary Rhetoric Heinrich Lausberg, 2023-12-28 Lausberg's Handbook of Literary Rhetoric here made available for the first time in English received high critical acclaim on its first publication in 1963. It is a monumental work of extraordinary erudition, organisation, and comprehensiveness and enjoys unrivalled authority in its formal description of rhetorical techniques. The present edition is a translation of the second edition of 1973, which was reprinted in 1990. The Handbook has for many years been a standard reference work for all engaged in the study of literature and rhetoric. This translation will ensure its accessibility to a new generation of students of rhetoric. Landmark Essays on Rhetoric and Literature Craig Kallendorf, 2017-10-03 The studies of rhetoric and literature have been closely connected on the theoretical level ever since antiquity and many great works of literature were written by men and women who were well versed in rhetoric. It is therefore well worth investigating exactly what these writers knew about rhetoric and how the practice of literary criticism has been enriched through rhetorical knowledge. The essays reprinted here have been arranged chronologically with two essays selected for each of six major periods: Antiquity, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance including Shakespeare, the 17th century, the 18th century, and the 19th and 20th centuries. Some are more theoretically oriented whereas others become exercises in practical criticism. Some cover well-trodden ground whereas others turn to parts of the rhetorical tradition that are often overlooked. Scholars in the field should benefit from having this material collected together and reprinted in one volume, but the essays included here will also be useful to graduate students and advanced undergraduates for course work and general reading. Students of rhetoric seeking to understand how the principles of their field extend into other forms of communication will find this volume of interest, as will students of literature seeking to refine their understanding of the various modes of literary criticism. Writing, Rhetoric, and Literature Shawn Higgins, 2020-01-08 With original and canonical examples, this book examines writing in professional, academic, and literary contexts. It features a variety of exercises and examples designed to help writers effectively connect with their audiences. The activities in this book prompt writers to think critically about literary analysis, specificity, audiences, rhetorical strategy, and more. This is the second edition. Literature, Rhetoric and Values Shelley Hulan, Murray McArthur, Randy Allen Harris, 2012 The essays in this collection combine cutting-edge literary and rhetorical scholarship to investigate the evolving values of the modern world confronting such issues as torture, genocide, environmental apocalypse, and post-traumatic stress syndrome. First delivered as part of the vibrant ideas exchange of an international conference, they are the product of rigorous selection and review undertaken with an emphasis on their complementarity. The authors include established scholars such as groundbreaking genre theorist Carolyn R. Miller, phenomenological rhetorician and cultural critic Michael MacDonald, and eco-critic Andrew McMurtry, alongside an exciting company of emerging voices. Together they essay the ethical and cultural dimensions of works ranging from whisky bottles and microblogs to graphic novels and classified government documents.

as well as more established forms of poetry and fiction An introduction by the editors frames the rhetorical and literary critical backdrop to these studies summarizes their individual contributions and sets them in relation to each other and the guiding themes of the conference

Rhetorics, Poetics, and Cultures James A. Berlin, 2003 Rhetorics Poetics and Cultures is James Berlin's most comprehensive effort to refigure the field of English Studies Here in his last book Berlin both historically situates and recovers for today the tools and insights of rhetoric displaced and marginalized he argues by the allegedly disinterested study of aesthetic texts in the college English department Berlin sees rhetoric as offering a unique perspective on the current disciplinary crisis complementing the challenging perspectives offered by postmodern literary theory and cultural studies Taking into account the political and intellectual issues at stake and the relation of these issues to economic and social transformations Berlin argues for a pedagogy that makes the English studies classroom the center of disciplinary activities the point at which theory practice and democratic politics intersect This new educational approach organized around text interpretation and production not one or the other exclusively as before prepares students for work democratic politics and consumer culture today by providing a revised conception of both reading and writing as acts of textual interpretation it also gives students tools to critique the socially constructed politically charged reality of classroom college and culture This new edition of Rhetorics Poetics and Cultures includes JAC response essays by Linda Brodkey Patricia Harkin Susan Miller John Trimbur and Victor J Vitanza as well as an afterword by Janice M Lauer These essays situate Berlin's work in personal pedagogical and political contexts that highlight the continuing importance of his work for understanding contemporary disciplinary practice

Roman Eloquence William J. Dominik, 2003-09-02 The present volume is part of a general renaissance in the study of rhetoric and bears testimony to a discipline undergoing rapid and exciting change It draws together established and newer scholars in the field to produce a probing and innovative analysis of the role played by rhetoric in Roman culture Utilizing a variety of critical approaches and methodologies these scholars examine not only the role of rhetoric in Roman society but also the relationship between rhetoric and Rome's major literary genres In addition to demonstrating rhetoric's critical significance for Roman culture the studies reveal the important role played by rhetoric in the formation of the various genres of literature

Literary Rhetoric Heinrich F. Plett, 2010 The subject of this book is literary rhetoric which is treated both in a historical outline and a systematic concept implemented in analyses of literary texts of all ages and languages

Literature, Rhetoric and Values Randy Allen Harris, Shelley Hulan, Murray McArthur, 2014-07-24 The essays in this collection combine cutting edge literary and rhetorical scholarship to investigate the evolving values of the modern world confronting such issues as torture genocide environmental apocalypse and post traumatic stress syndrome First delivered as part of the vibrant ideas exchange of an international conference they are the product of rigorous selection and review undertaken with an emphasis on their complementarity The authors include established scholars such as gr rhetoric this book is divided in three principal parts I An historical outline of the relationship of rhetoric and literature II An overview of the realm of rhetoric and its parts and functions above all in the section of elocutio with its classes of figures where a critical comparison of traditional and modern models of the rhetorical figures is followed by the design of a new one III The implementation of this new concept in seven classes of figures and their respective subdivisions 1 phonological 2 morphological 3 syntactic 4 semantic 5 graphemic 6 textological and 7 intertextual figures Each chapter is supplemented by analyses of literary texts conceived as a demonstration of the applicability of the theoretical concepts and structures presented before An extensive bibliography of research literature and detailed indices of names and subjects conclude this treatise

Rhetoric, Literature, and Interpretation Harry Raphael Garvin, 1983 In what sense does the literary critic exist in his own right and in what way does his role go beyond that of the teacher mystic philologist historian philosopher rhetorician and literary artist This issue of the Bucknell Review focuses on the opposition of rhetoric and interpretation presenting essays which explore the problems and possibilities critics confront when they adopt either interpretation or rhetoric as a critical starting point Illustrated Rhetorical Poetics Donald Rice, Peter Schofer, 1983 The current renewed interest in rhetoric particularly as it relates to the art of literary interpretation has returned tropes to their central position in the reading process In this incisive volume Donald Rice and Peter Schofer provide a sound and systematic redefinition of the major tropes and demonstrate how every act of reading is necessarily rooted in those tropological operations The implications of their study are far reaching By identifying the rhetorical steps that must be followed in explicating any literary work Rice and Schofer provide the reader with a clear guide to fiction of all genres and periods Anyone involved in literary interpretation and looking for a model that promises a heightened appreciation and grasp of figurative texts will welcome the resulting volume Elements of Rhetoric and Literary Criticism James Robert Boyd, 1845 Composition - Rhetoric - Literature Martha Hale Shackford, 1922 Rhetoric and the Study of Literature Alfred Marshall Hitchcock, 1913

Rhetoric and Literature P. Joseph Canavan, 1974-01-01 Composition, Rhetoric-Literature: A Four Years' Course for Secondary Schools (1913) Martha Hale Shackford, Margaret Judson, 2008-06-01 This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original Due to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is culturally important we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting preserving and promoting the world's literature in affordable high quality modern editions that are true to the original work

Classical Rhetoric in English Poetry Brian Vickers, 1989 Back in print after 17 years this is a concise history of rhetoric as it relates to structure genre and style with special reference to English literature and literary criticism from Ancient Greece to the end of the 18th century The core of the book is a quite original argument that the figures of rhetoric were not mere mechanical devices were not as many believed a nuisance a quite sterile appendage to rhetoric to which unaccountably teachers pupils and writers all over the world devoted much labor for over 2 000 years Rather Vickers demonstrates rhetoric was a stylized representation of language and human feelings Vickers supplements his argument through analyses of the rhetorical and emotional structure of four Renaissance poems He also defines 16 of the most common figures of rhetoric citing examples from the classics the Bible and major English poets from Chaucer to Pope
